FBI Questions Bill Walton In Hearst Case

STAR'S FRIEND KNEW PATTY'S HIDING PLACE?

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bill Walton, rookie star center for the Portland Trail Blazers of the National Basketball Association, has been questioned by the FBI in connection with the Patricia Hearst case, his attorney said today.

Attorney Charles Garry said that Walton drove from his Portland home to San Francisco on Wednesday for a 20-minute session with FBI agents in Garry's office.

"Bill was cooperative, but he couldn't tell them anything because he doesn't know anything," Garry said. "He and the Scotts are friends, but he hasn't seen them for several weeks and he knows nothing about the SLA or Patricia Hearst."

The Scotts are former college athletic director Jack Scott and his wife, who had been living with Walton near Portland, Ore. Published reports allege that Scott had been in contact with Miss Hearst and may have been with her in northeastern Pennsylvania.

A Pennsylvania grand jury is investigating reports that the fugitive newspaper heiress was hidden in a farmhouse in the Pocono foothills last fall along with other members of the Symbionese Liberation Army.

Garry said no mention was made during Walton's FBI interview of any grand jury investigation, but Walton was asked if Scott ever discussed anything with him regarding Miss Hearst. Walton answered that he hadn't, Garry said.

Then the FBI asked if he knew where Scott was, and he said no, Garry said.

"That was the extent of it, the whole thing took about 20 minutes," Garry said.

A federal grand jury in Harrisburg, Pa., heard testimony Thursday from a Philadelphia college student and freelance sports writer who visited Portland earlier this winter to interview Walton for a story.

The grand jury recessed without returning an indictment and was expected to reconvene in about a month.

The student, 20-year-old Jay Weiner, refused to discuss his testimony, but sent a message to Miss Hearst through reporters:

"To Tania, Teko, Yolanda and all my sisters and brothers underground or in prison, I hope you are safe and alert. To my comrade Jack and my dearest sister Micki, I am with you. Please try to understand the terrible pressure my family, friends and I have been under these past two weeks."

Miss Hearst, daughter Randolph A. Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, assumed the name Tania after joining the Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA), the group which kidnaped her on Feb. 4, 1974. Teko and Yolanda are believed to be the assumed names of William and Emily Harris, SLA members reported to be accompanying Miss Hearst.

The other persons named by Weiner in his statement are apparently Jack Scott, former athletic director at Oberlin, Ohio, College where Weiner was enrolled from 1972 to 1974, and Micki McGee, described by Walton's attorney as Scott's wife.

Friends of Walton said the couple lived with Walton, but the attorney said Walton had not seen either of them for about a month.

The Long Island newspaper Newsday said in today's editions that Walton's home has been under surveillance and that the 6-foot-11 basketball superstar's father has been subpoenaed to appear before a grand jury in San Francisco.

The newspaper said sources indicated that Scott, a 33-year-old athletic establishment critic, may have been in touch with Miss Hearst and may now be

TAX HIKE'S FUTURE UNCERTAIN

State Senate Gets Controversial Bill After It Squeaks Through House

By MARY SCHEIER
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to take a bigger tax bite from paychecks in Michigan is on its way to an unclear future in the state Senate after winning narrow House passage.

The bill, increasing the personal income tax seven-tenths of one per cent — from 3.9 per cent to 4.6 per cent — was passed, 59-42, Thursday. The vote was three above the minimum required for passage. It would go into effect May 1 when the increase would be evident in payroll withholding.

For the family of four earning $15,000 annually, the increase means $63 more in tax, or $414 instead of $351. The same family earning $10,000 would pay $184, up from $156.

For the family of two earning $10,000, the tax would jump from $273 to $322 and for the same couple earning $15,000, from $468 to $552.

Gov. William Milliken proposed the increase to replace from $210 million to $220 million the state expects to lose annually due to a repeal of sales taxes on food and prescription drugs. The measure survived 2½ hours of House debate and several earlier attempts to make the increase higher and build in breaks for various taxpayers.

It was the first major bill approved by the House in the 1975-76 session. Observers also noted it got through the Democrat-controlled lower chamber essentially as proposed by the Republican governor.

Although the rate would jump .7 per cent, the actual dollar amount an individual gives to the state would increase 18 per cent.

Milliken wants the bill passed by April 1 so the Department of the Treasury will have ample time to print forms for employers. Each month's delay after May 1 will require raising the tax an additional one-tenth of one per cent to generate the same amount of revenue, Milliken warned.

Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, said he'd give the bill "highest priority" but doesn't know yet if there are enough votes in the Senate for passage.

And, he said the measure will not be acted on until the week after next at the earliest, but that would still allow enough time to meet the April 1 deadlin Fitzgerald also said he will not rush the bill through the Senate Taxation Committee.

"It's only fair to give the committee time to examine it and other alternatives," he said.

"I'm looking for a way to lower the seven-tenths. If I can't find it, I'm prepared to support

FATAL FIRE SCENE

Church Begins Fund To Aid Fire Survivors

HILLSDALE, Mich. (AP) — The congregation of a Baptist Church outside this southern Michigan community has started a fund for the mother and sister of six children who perished in a house fire on Thursday.

The Rev. Milton B. Walton, pastor at the Bankers Baptist Church, said the congregation voted Thursday night to open a special fund and provide certain necessities for Della Fletcher and her only surviving child, 9-year-old Colleen Brown.

The Rev. Walton said Mrs. Fletcher and her seven children had lived in the area for a short time, just about a mile from the church, which has a 250-member congregation. He added the family was not a member of the congregation, and said the church will accept outside contributions to the fund.

The six children — Debbie Patton, 15, Troy Patton, 14, Vickie Brown, 11, Sheila Brown, 8, Ralph Brown Jr., 7, and Timothy Brown, 6, perished in their upstairs bedroom when the fire broke out at about 2 a.m. The children were from Mrs. Fletcher's two previous marriages. The whereabouts of her current husband were not known.

County sheriff's deputies said they believed Colleen survived because she recently had an appendectomy and had been told not to climb stairs, so was sleep in the downstairs portion of the house, which had been converted from a sugar-making facility.

"It was pitiful," said a fireman. "The kids were found right where they slept."

Russell Holcomb of Jonesville, one of the owners of the property, said Mrs. Fletcher, in her mid 30s, was "a kindly woman who seemed to adore her children." Although officials speculated a furnace explosion may have caused the fire, Holcomb said the family routinely turned off an oil furnace when they retired to save fuel. He said he was unaware of any other problems which might have caused the blaze.

Cause of the fire is under investigation.

Deputies said the fire tragedy was the worst to hit the county in 20 years.

Also escaping the flames was Joe Ackworth, a friend of the family.

MAURICE BISHOP

BH Man Facing Building Law Violation Charge

Investigators for the Berrien Consumer Protection unit (CPU) Thursday arrested Maurice Bishop of Benton Harbor on a charge of failure to have a contractor's license while doing over $50,000 worth of remodeling work under a Model Cities-financed program.

Bishop, 42, of 805 Colfax avenue, was booked at the county jail on a charge of violating the residential builder law. He pleaded innocent when arraigned before District Judge Ronald Taylor, and was released on $1,000 personal recognizance bond.

Bishop was arrested yesterday afternoon at his business, All-Time pest control, 757 East Main street, Benton Harbor, on a warrant authorized by Berrien Prosecutor John A. Smietanka.

Andrew Novikoff, CPU chief, said Bishop was allegedly paid $50,385 from Neighborhood Development Program (a Model Cities-financed project) funds for remodeling 15 Benton township homes between April and August, 1973.

Novikoff said that bills for 11 of the homes came to $3,500 each, while the other four ranged down to $2,460.

He said $3,500 is the maximum allowed by the NDP program for remodeling of each house.

Novikoff said that Bishop on April 4, 1973, filed an assumed name certificate (for a business operating under a name different from that of the person who files) with the Berrien clerk's office for a company called All Time Construction Co.

But Novikoff said records of the Michigan Department of Licensing and Regulation, in Lansing, indicate neither Bishop nor All Time Construction Co. were approved or licensed to make the repairs called for in the agreement with the various homeowners and NDP.

Novikoff said the CPU initiated its investigation in early January, 1975, after receiving a call from a homeowner who said, according to the CPU, "work performed by a contractor on his home was shoddy, incomplete and overpriced." Novikoff said the call originated from a resident of Benton township.

Bishop is a well known civil rights militant in the Twin Cities area, and has been active in the housing market as owner of rental property and a member of the United Landlords of Berrien county.

Violation of the residential builders act is a high misdemeanor and carries a maximum penalty of one year imprisonment and a $1,000 fine.

Big Budget Cut Asked In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — City departments have been asked by Mayor Coleman Young to cut their budgets from 10 to 25 per cent, with the heaviest cuts spelling possible layoffs for up to one third of the employes in a given department.

A budget deficit of $91 million is predicted for the city this year.

Last Of Watergate Figures Sentenced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frederick C. LaRue, the first person to plead guilty in the Watergate coverup and the last to be sentenced, received a six-month jail term today from U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica.

The soft-spoken Mississippi oil heir had pleaded guilty to conspiring to obstruct justice more than 20 months ago.

LaRue, a former close aide to John N. Mitchell at the 1972 Nixon re-election committee, had admitted accepting more than $300,000 in Watergate hush money and helping plan the coverup.

In imposing sentence, Sirica acknowledged LaRue's extensive testimony during the Watergate coverup trial, which ended with four convictions on New Year's Day.

But, said Sirica, "I must also keep in mind the sentences I imposed on other defendants in this case, especially those who also pleaded guilty."

Only Courts Can Decide Smut

By STEVE BANYON

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Whether an anti-smut ordinance for Berrien Springs meets the guidelines set by the U.S. Supreme court will only be determined in the courts, according to John A. Smietanka, Berrien county prosecutor.

Smietanka, along with two assistants from his office, were the guest speakers of the Berrien county Council of Churches during a monthly meeting program in the United Methodist church here last night. The council is considering taking a formal position regarding and obscene material.

Smietanka told an audience of some 100 persons that "the final arbitrator for this (obscenity laws) is the court."

Currently, a state obscenity law "is in a state of flux," because a case is still pending in the Michigan Supreme court, the prosecutor said.

Thus state statute cannot be enforced until the state supreme court makes a ruling on the case which has been in court since June, 1973, Smietanka added.

Another state law which prohibited obscene material was ruled unconstitutional because it was too broad, according to John Bruha of the prosecutor's office.

He noted that a "padlock law" which closed six Detroit area theaters for showing X-rated movies has been appealed to the state supreme court after lower courts upheld the nuisance abatement law.

If Berrien Springs decides to pursue prosecution of its ordinance, "it's going to be expensive," Smietanka said.

The village council adopted an anti-smut ordinance in January aimed primarily at movies being shown in the Berry theater.

Village Atty. Donald Dick said that the ordinance was drafted under the current federal court rulings and is patterned after an ordinance in Ypsilanti.

Village officials said that the content of the films have been "toned down" considerably since adoption of the ordinance. No citation has been issued under the ordinance so far.

Smietanka said that if any law regulating pronographic material is to be enforced "a basic problem is picking out the right film....It must be patently

Were it left to me to decide whether we should have government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter. — Thomas Jefferson.

UP Statehood Is A Hardy Perennial

Back in 1835 and '36 small bands of Michigan and Ohio militia faced one another across a disputed boundary line near Toledo.

The Wolverines claimed the Northwest Ordinance of 1787 placed the line 6½ miles south from what the Buckeyes had incorporated into their state constitution. Ohio had entered the Union as the 17th state on February 19, 1803.

Toledo in those days was not great thing, but the settlement did control the estuary formed by the Maumee river's entry into Lake Erie.

Had the Michiganders prevailed, our state would have gained an excellent natural port.

Though a few shots were exchanged, the only casualty was reported to be one mule. A deputy sheriff was knifed in the arm while trying to subdue a tavern argument fomented from an overdose of spirits stimulating the debate over territorial integrity.

Before anyone could be hurt in this comic opera confrontation, Congress politicized the dispute by confirming the strip to Ohio and giving Michigan nine counties from the northern reaches of the Wisconsin territory. Michigan came into the Union as the 26th state on January 29, 1837.

Wisconsin joined up as the 30th state 11 years later.

The settlement failed to assuage the fufied feathers of the Wolverines and the Badgers.

The former claimed, through a legislative resolution, its consolation prize to be a sterile wilderness. The latter expectedly charged robbery.

For several years the Lansing declaraton of sterility appeared to be well founded until the discovery of rich copper and iron ore veins in the UP's westerly section. Lumbering emerged in subsequent decades as the extractive resource to replace the dwindling easily processed mineral deposits.

Taking the end of World War I as a handy reference point, the UP's economy has been in a tenuous condition.

The high cost of working low grade ore depositss has held back a resurgence in mining. Tree farming has yet to catch on as a redevelopment for timbering. Agriculture is spotty. The Mackinac Bridge opened to traffic in 1957 has not stimulated a predicted industrialization. Tourism is substantial cash crop but a highly seasonal endeavor.

All told, 300,000 people live in something of a vacuum.

Many prefer it that way. It is a scenic, unhurried way of life free from the complications besetting the metropolitanized atmosphere prevailing south from Lansing.

Others see through a different telescope. For better than a century a strong opinion has held sway that Lansing could care less about the UP; and off and on there has been agitation to separate from Michigan as an independent state.

Latest in this line of disciples is Ted Albert, an Ironwood lawyer and former prosecutor in Gogebic county.

His solution to elevate the UP's stepchild statuts is to incorporate as the 51st state.

To swing the deal financially, Albert would rope off the major towns such as Ironwood, Marquette, Escanaba and Sault Ste. Marie for legalized gambling; baby Vegas that might lure in the Canadian dollar forbidden by Dominion law from being ventured legally on a slip of the cards, a roll of the dice or a pull of the slots.

A tonnage tax on known mineral reserves would be another revenus fund to finance the state of Huron or whatever name might be adopted.

Federal aid, of course, enters in his calculation.

Quixotic as may be Barrister Albert's proposal, it does pull into focus again the overall problem of areas removed from the main stream.

What Lansing should do or even can do for a country cousin is questionable.

For starters, however, the state capital could take a look around if only notice that there is more to Michigan than Detroit.

Quite a few people in Southwest Michigan which is more prosperous than Detroit could show Albert the UP is not the only sector taken for granted.

Making The Change To The Metric System

What does the United States have in common with Brunei, Burma, Liberia and Yemen? They are the only countries in the world not committed to the metric system. Last May, the House voted down the Metric Conversion Act of 1973, making it the second Congress in succession which refused to pass definitive metric legislation.

Yet the 93rd Congress did authorize $10 million for metric education (under amendments to the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965), recognizing that "increased use of ...the metric system in the United States is inevitable, and such a metric system will become the dominant system of weights and measures in the United States." Apart from a few diehards who think it would be un-American to measure a home run in meters, not many people seem opposed to simplifying U.S. weights and measures and bringing them into line with the rest of the world's. The problem is how to do this with the least disruption.

To study the question, the American National Metric Council, a private non-profit organization formed in 1973 under the sponsorship of the American National Standards Institute, is holding meetings in Washington for three days beginning Monday, March 17. Businessmen and educators will attend to discuss "Managing the Change to Metric," and to hear from foreign representatives some of the lessons other countries have learned in making the changeover. Australia has had a particularly encouraging experience: by taking a "quick-plunge" approach, with strong emphasis on public education and involvement, metric conversion in that country is running two years ahead of schedule and is expected to be virtually finished by the end of 1978.

Federal inaction notwithstanding, the change is already underway in America. When a shopper picks up a can of peas, the contents are likely to be given in both ounces and grams. Film, medicine, and even cigarettes are sold in metric measure, and many auto mechanics keep metric tool kits. In a decade, every schoolchild may shout that a meter is 1,650,763.73 wavelengths in vacuum of the orange-red line of the spectrum of krypton-86. And their harried teacher may sigh, "Give them 25.4 millimeters and they'll take 1.6 kilometers."

VOTING 'NO' ON ROAD BOND ISSUE

Editor,

Eau Claire Readers:

I'm voting "no" on the Eau Claire Road Bond Issue, April 8, 1975.

Recently some work was done on Eau Claire roads — nicely done. It would be great if all the roads were the same. But here is the catch. Knowing the amount of money that was to be used, why was Beaver road paved while chuckholes in other roads like Hoyt Hill were left deep and wide — we started our winter, same as all summer and fall — with not one thought about the chuckholes. Is gravel that expensive?

I have seen one truck on Beaver road in the past seven years. I've seen about three cars, other than my own. As my work takes me in that area daily, I wonder why the road rated such treatment?

The only way this country will get out of debt is to make do, make over, or go without. This goes for villages as well as homes.

Our taxes have tripled since we bought here.

I say come down to earth and quit borrowing with these high interest rates — use the existing monies wisely instead of acting like a bunch of little children with a few nickles and a sweet tooth.

The East Main St. bridge in Benton Harbor over Ox creek was scheduled to open to traffic late today or early tomorrow for the first time since August 29 of last year. Benton Harbor public works employes today were spreading gravel at the approaches to the recently-completed culvert-type, concrete bridge.

Over 140 instrumental musicians comprising the junior and senior high school bands are getting in tune for the 21st annual Benton Harbor band concert slated to be held Thursday, March 30, in the high school auditorium. The program will differ from those held in past years in that it is being sponsored by both musical organizations, city school band director Bernhardt Kuschel said today.

Visions of by-gone days were recalled yesterday morning when a horse owned by Clyde Seel, farmer living east of Benton Harbor, became frightened by a street car and ran away.

Seel had driven to Benton Harbor yesterday morning to get some lumber and had removed the box from his light wagon. He forgot it was Friday the 13th. Starting on E. Main street near the Big Four railroad tracks, the horse galloped down Wall street, with Seel sitting upon a perilous perch in front, vainly trying to check the animal. Down Wall street with the pounding hoofs striking fire from the pavement, the animal ran. Suddenly the reach of the wagon broke, and the hind part of the vehicle skidded across the street and crashed through a plate glass window of a small building owned by Fitzpatrick and McElroy. Seel, now clinging desperately to an improvised chariot, steered the animal into McDonald court, when horse, wagon and man, ended in a heap after plunging over an embankment. Seel escaped with a bruised leg and is still considering whether Friday the 13th is lucky or unlucky. The horse was not injured. With the exception of broken thills the wagon too, escaped damage.

Supt. Barlow received two children into the Children's home in St. Joseph to-day. The new Children's home hospital will be built this spring and work will commence in a few days.

The new Farwell overall plant started yesterday and one more factory whistle will be heard morning, noon and night in Benton Harbor. Many hands are employed. The Detroit Free Press contained the following dispatch this morning: "Benton Harbor, March 13.— The Farwell overall factory opened here today with fifty girls at the machines, and with a call for 200 more before the first of next month. The kitchen help of Benton Harbor families are leaving and tonight the housevives are holding a meeting to determine how best to meet the trouble, which the $9,500 donated six weeks ago by the husbands has brought about."

The Un-Southern Southern Hopeful

PLAINS, Ga. — There seems something unacceptable about associating this small town with the presidency of the Republic. It's southern. Men here still talk of "niggers," trace their ancestry to slave holders, and are the evolutionary products of the mentality that created the Civil War — with it perversions like nearby Andersonville, one of the most heinous POW camps in history.

As if he didn't have political handicaps enough, presidential aspirant Jimmy Carter — "a good ole Plains boy" — has to also contend with the burden of his birth. He fired no balls at the Yankees, he whipped no blacks into line, yet to many he represents those who did and such an image nationally is usually fatal. Though half of all American presidents prior to the Civil War were Southern, there has been, since the fighting, only one, Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

Even if Carter spoke with a brogue instead of a drawl, his 1976 chances would be, at this stage, as narrow as a backwoods Georgia road. Legions of Americans do not know Jimmy Carter from Joshua, and some of those who do say he's inexperienced. A one-term governor of Georgia, otherwise a peanut farmer, his principal national notoriety is that he was one of the first Southern moderates to emerge from the 1960s civil rights agony. His credentials are nice, observes a Democratic operator in Atlanta, "but, damn, we got moderates running out our ears here now. He ain't going to win the White House on that."

There are those who say Carter, age 50, is not going to win the White House on anything. Not in 1976. And maybe he knows it. Though his campaign has been fast — 250 days out of Georgia this year — he insists on keeping his operation base in Atlanta, hardly the best launching pad to Pennsylvania Avenue. Some observers feel his present course is preliminary or exploratory. The thinking is he's really running for vice president, or cabinet officer. Forbidden by law from holding a second term in Georgia, but unwilling to easily give up his influence, he may be after the presidency eventually, but by increment.

Whatever his design, Carter believes he has something to say to people outside Georgia. And for that matter he says it well. The polar opposite of the traditional Southern politico, he is quiet, thoughtful and imaginative. Yet, though he speaks softly, he believes in a form of democratic leadership best described as "big stick." Jerry Ford, he says, is a "timid president." He would be something else: "The country needs changes that can't be brought about slowly. Step by step often only compounds problems. We need bold sweep leadership."

Carter illustrates his thesis with a Georgia Statehouse experience. Before he took office, he says, Georgia had the same kind of "horrible mess" bureaucracy as the federal government. "We had 300 state departments, many of them overlapping and self defeating." By the time he retired as governor in January, only 22 agencies remained. "We're streamlined now, we can get things done, we have a better idea of where we're going. I think this is exactly what the federal system needs."

Welfare is one example on the national level, Carter says. The country has 2.5 million bureaucrats administering the wants of 14 million needy, or almost one to six. Carter says the help should continue, but not the bureaucracy. There are 100 separate federal programs for the poor, he says, a condition which satisfies no one, least of all the poor. His solution: reorganization. His method: strong leadership.

Public Service Idea Has Merit

WASHINGTON — John Ehrlichman, not previously famous for his interest in reconciliation and rehabilitation, recently attracted attention to both the potential and the problems of so-called "alternative service."

The concept of requiring a period of community service, without personal profit, in place of the traditional prison penalty for a criminal judgment has been slowly but steadily gaining acceptance in this country. It has yet, however, been only sparsely tested.

Ehrlichman is the most prominent defendant to try the gambit. He sought to avoid going to jail for his Watergate crimes by offering to provide instead legal advice to eight Pueblo Indian tribes. Federal judge John Sirica, however, ignored the offer and sentenced Ehrlichman to 2½ to 8 years in prison anyway.

Ehrlichman's unsuccessful strategy was a perfect example of how easily "alternative service" can be abused. He might have been able to hide behind it to avoid being disbarred, the legal profession's customary punishment for all convicted felons. For, once disbarred, he cannot practice law for pay on behalf of poor Indians or anyone else.

In addition, Ehrlichman's sudden committment to doing good works is highly suspect. While he was the powerful head of the President's domestic programs he never displayed the slightest sympathy for, nor interest in, the problems of Indians or any other minority.

The purpose of "alternative service" is legitimate dedication to helping the less fortunate as penance for a prior wrong and as a form of rehabilitation. It is not supposed to be a cute excuse for avoiding one's debt to society.

In Ehrlichman's case, even the Indians felt the deal sounded hypocritical and they formally refused his offer to live among them on a New Mexico reservation.

The biggest experiment so far with "alternative service" is President's Ford's amnesty program, which grants draft evaders clemency on the condition they do two years of public service work. The results, however, have not been encouraging.

Roughly 100,000 convicted Vietnam war evaders and deserters are eligible, but as of March 1 only about 10,000 had applied. Many young men trying to comply with the requirement have complained they cannot find the proper public service jobs, because in a time of high unemployment even those low-paying positions are filled and in great demand. There have also been reports that some young men are making no effort to comply, but the program is still too new to confirm such reports.

A judge recently ordered the executives of several milk-producing companies in the Southwest, convicted of price-fixing, to provide free milk for the poor and volunteer their time to community projects for six months, as an alternative to sending them to prison.

So far, "alternative service" is usually debated only in connection with white-collar crimes such as fraud and other financial corruption, because no physical violence has been involved and the wrongdoers are not considered menances to others. A murderer, burglar or rapist may well have a better chance at rehabilitation by working to help others than by going to prison, but not many citizens are willing to risk a repeat of the crime by allowing the person to go free without some formal punishment.

UP Statehood Is A Hardy Perennial

Back in 1835 and '36 small bands of Michigan and Ohio militia faced one another across a disputed boundary line near Toledo.

The Wolverines claimed the Northwest Ordinance of 1787 placed the line 6½ miles south from what the Buckeyes had incorporated into their state constitution. Ohio had entered the Union as the 17th state on February 19, 1803.

Toledo in those days was not great thing, but the settlement did control the estuary formed by the Maumee river's entry into Lake Erie.

Had the Michiganders prevailed, our state would have gained an excellent natural port.

Though a few shots were exchanged, the only casualty was reported to be one mule. A deputy sheriff was knifed in the arm while trying to subdue a tavern argument fomented from an overdose of spirits stimulating the debate over territorial integrity.

Before anyone could be hurt in this comic opera confrontation, Congress politicized the dispute by confirming the strip to Ohio and giving Michigan nine counties from the northern reaches of the Wisconsin territory. Michigan came into the Union as the 26th state on January 29, 1837.

Wisconsin joined up as the 30th state 11 years later.

The settlement failed to assuage the fufled feathers of the Wolverines and the Badgers.

The former claimed, through a legislative resolution, its consolation prize to be a sterile wilderness. The latter expectedly charged robbery.

For several years the Lansing declaraton of sterility appeared to be well founded until the discovery of rich copper and iron ore veins in the UP's westerly section. Lumbering emerged in subsequent decades as the extractive resource to replace the dwindling easily processed mineral deposits.

Taking the end of World War I as a handy reference point, the UP's economy has been in a tenuous condition.

The high cost of working low grade ore depositss has held back a resurgence in mining. Tree farming has yet to catch on as a redevelopment for timbering. Agriculture is spotty. The Mackinac Bridge opened to traffic in 1957 has not stimulated a predicted industrialization. Tourism is substantial cash crop but a highly seasonal endeavor.

All told, 300,000 people live in something of a vacuum.

Many prefer it that way. It is a scenic, unhurried way of life free from the complications besetting the metropolitanized atmosphere prevailing south from Lansing.

Others see through a different telescope. For better than a century a strong opinion has held sway that Lansing could care less about the UP; and off and on there has been agitation to separate from Michigan as an independent state.

The purpose of "alternative service" is legitimate dedication to helping the less fortunate as penance for a prior wrong and as a form of rehabilitation. It is not supposed to be a cute excuse for avoiding one's debt to society.

In Ehrlichman's case, even the Indians felt the deal sounded hypocritical and they formally refused his offer to live among them on a New Mexico reservation.

The biggest experiment so far with "alternative service" is President's Ford's amnesty program, which grants draft evaders clemency on the condition they do two years of public service work. The results, however, have not been encouraging.

Roughly 100,000 convicted Vietnam war evaders and deserters are eligible, but as of March 1 only about 10,000 had applied. Many young men trying to comply with the requirement have complained they cannot find the proper public service jobs, because in a time of high unemployment even those low-paying positions are filled and in great demand. There have also been reports that some young men are making no effort to comply, but the program is still too new to confirm such reports.

A judge recently ordered the executives of several milk-producing companies in the Southwest, convicted of price-fixing, to provide free milk for the poor and volunteer their time to community projects for six months, as an alternative to sending them to prison.

So far, "alternative service" is usually debated only in connection with white-collar crimes such as fraud and other financial corruption, because no physical violence has been involved and the wrongdoers are not considered menances to others. A murderer, burglar or rapist may well have a better chance at rehabilitation by working to help others than by going to prison, but not many citizens are willing to risk a repeat of the crime by allowing the person to go free without some formal punishment.

HALVERSON: KEEP PLEA BARGAINING

Junking System 'Folly', Top Trooper Says

The elimination of plea bargaining in the state's criminal justice system would be "pure folly," the director of the Michigan State police said yesterday.

Col. George Halverson told some 75 law enforcement students at Lake Michigan College that plea bargaining was a necessary element of the criminal justice system as it coped with an overwhelming work load.

"It is questionable whether the system could gear up for the number of cases that the elimination of plea bargaining would generate," Halverson said.

Halverson said he recognized that the use of plea bargaining was often frustrating to arresting officers. "Right now, it is something we have to live with," he said.

Earlier this week, Berrien County Prosecuter John A. Smietanka said he was studying the feasibility of entirely doing away with plea bargaining and indicated its demise may come by early summer.

When informed of Smietanka's position at a press conference following the lecture, Halverson said, "I can certainly see why a prosecuter would identify with this problem." Halverson noted that there may be a question of whether justice is served with the use of plea bargaining.

"The certainty and rapidity with which it (justice) is served is a major deterrent to crime," he said. He added that plea bargaining, when administered judiciously, helps accomplish that end.

Halverson also attacked the judicial and correctional process for juvenile offenders. "I think juvenile rehabilitation is a myth; it doesn't really exist," he said.

Halverson said people who committed crimes as juveniles several years ago are now committing crimes as adults. "We have been playing games too long," he said.

Halverson also proposed that convicted criminals be jailed for longer terms. "If we put away 15 per cent of hardened criminals, we would do away with 75 per cent of our crime problem," he said.

"Crime is a community problem, not a police problem," Halverson added. "It has to be dealt with by community resources."

The 23-year state police veteran also noted it was becoming increasingly difficult to enforce the federally-mandated 55-mile-per-hour speed limit because of the recently tightened state budget. He said, however, that state police were continuing the use of unmarked cars, air surveillance and the monitoring of citizen band radios in an attempt to enforce the speed limit on truck drivers and others using interstate highways.

"The reduced speed limit has saved lives and energy," Halverson explained. "Our basic philosophy remains that we should vigorously enforce it." Halverson said the reduced speed limit resulted in 37 per cent more speeding violations issued in 1974 over 1973.

Halverson also discussed the growing number of women in the police force and said over 1,000 women have applied for the new general state police trooper classification of "policewoman." The state police currently have two female detectives and five female troopers, he said.

Oregon's McCall Has Good News, But Mostly Bad

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

Manure to fuel cars, an economy dependent on conservation and the sun, and triple-digit inflation by 1977.

Those were three future possibilities mentioned by former Oregon Gov. Tom McCall last night in a speech before the Economic Club of Southwestern Michigan at the Ramada Inn, Benton township.

McCall covered a wide range of topics from the potential split of the Republican party to the diminishing role of the automobile in national economic growth. Common to all topics was the bluntness with which they were handled.

"If you're looking for good news tonight, I have some. The economy is going to make a mild recovery in the next 18 months," he said.

"Now for the bad news: although I didn't come to spread gloom all over the room, it is my somber view that the present effort for recovery is skewed to our country's long-term disadvantage," McCall said.

McCall noted that Hans Sennholz, a Nobel prizewinner in economics and one of the few who predicted 1974's double-digit inflation, is now saying the projected Federal deficit for the next 18 months will bring triple-digit inflation in this country by 1977.

What answers do we have?

McCall replies, "Tax reform, sensible money management, tax increases on wasteful users of energy (such as the non-returnable container) a change in the direction of economic growth and wage-and-price controls all suggest themselves. And a move toward Federal budget balancing is essential."

McCall, one of the nation's leading environmentalists, spoke on "Civilization's Uneasy Tripod: Food, Energy and Population."

On food and population he said:

"One question constantly asked is whether the world can raise enough food for all the people we know are going to be in it by the year 2040. The answer, barring technological breakthrough, is no."

According to McCall, we should be asking whether we're making the best use of our agricultural produce.

"Feeding grain to cattle is wasteful and will always be wasteful," he said.

He added, "I would prefer that we do all we can to feed the starving of a country, and at the same time export our knowledge and technology to help them feed themselves."

On the energy crisis, he suggested these among other solutions:

—The use of barnyard wastes for the creation of methane gas

Lacy Trial Hears Fingerprint Experts

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

Three specialists from the state police crime laboratory testified yesterday during the George Lacy, Jr., murder trial that Lacy's fingerprints were not found on any guns, cash, or checks confiscated by police.

The specialists also testifed that Lacy's fingerprints were not found inside the Oasis party store in Hagar township, where store owner John Govatos was found shot to death Jan. 4.

The trial for the 22-year-old Lacy went through its third day yesterday in Berrien Circuit Judge Julian E. Hughes' court before a near-capacity crowd of spectators.

Berrien Prosecutor John A. Smietanka called a number of witnesses to the stand yesterday in an effort to establish a chain of circumstantial evidence against Lacy.

Trooper William Cahill, of the Benton Harbor state police post, testified that on Jan. 4 he made a routine building inspection as he drove by the Oasis party store about 10:15 p.m., and that he saw a car parked in Govatos' usual spot. He also said the store was open, and he thought he saw Govatos inside.

He said he again went past the building at 11:05 and noticed the night lights of the store were on and the car was gone.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Roland Gettman told the court that they were northbound on US-33 near the party store about 10:30 when they saw an empty taxi parked off the east side of US-33 near the entrance to the Famous service station, adjacent to the Oasis. They separately testified that one door of the cab was open.

Lacy was a part-time cab driver and foundry worker, according to other sources.

Another witness, Michael Renhack, said he was northbound on US-33 about 10:30 and as he turned into the Oasis parking lot a light-colored car with two men inside swerved in front of his car and headed south on US-33.

Other testimony indicated the Govatos family owned a light-colored car.

Lacy, of 524 Whitcomb court, Benton Harbor, is being held at the county jail without bond on a charge of first-degree murder.

Benton Pastor Fails 'Frisking' At Court In SJ

A Benton township pastor was arrested yesterday on a weapons charge as he attempted to carry a pistol into a packed Berrien circuit courtroom where the George Lacy, Jr., murder trial is being held.

Arrested was the Rev. T.N. Wilkins, 54, of 1229 Columbus avenue, Benton Harbor. At his arraignment before District Judge Leo Cook, Wilkins pleaded guilty to not presenting a pistol for a safety inspection, and was released on $1,000 personal recognizance bond to await sentencing.

He is pastor of Friendship Baptist church in Benton township.

Rev. Wilkins was arrested yesterday morning by sheriff's deputies outside the courtroom of Judge Julian E. Hughes, where a murder trial for Lacy had started its third day.

Officers said they confiscated a .22 caliber pistol Rev. Wilkins was wearing under his coat. Hughes' courtroom is surrounded by tight security, and officers use an electronic device to frisk everyone entering the courtroom. The device emits a "beep" when it detects metal.

Deputies were using the device when Rev. Wilkins attempted to enter the courtroom. Officers noted he did not have a license to carry a concealed weapon.

Judge Hughes said later there is no law he knows of which prohibits carrying a gun into court, but as a rule judges do not allow anyone except a bailiff or police officer to have a weapon.

The judge said he has ordered that no civilian be allowed to bring any type of weapon into the courtroom while the trial is in progress.

Baroda Man Reports $700 Lost

AILING, HE MAY MISS TRIBUTE

They're Rooting For You, John

By JIM SHANAHAN
BH City Editor

They're going to have a day Sunday for John (J.C.) Sams, whose sports career was aborted by illness but who then went on to get hundreds of youngsters involved in athletics.

J.C. may not be there for the tribute. He's in St. Joseph Memorial hospital with a spinal ailment. Friends who organized the event hope he'll be discharged in time to attend.

Sammie Smith, executive director of the Benton Harbor and Benton township housing commissions and an organizer of J.C. Sams Day, said there will be a basketball game at Fairplain junior high followed by a reception at Bachelor 14 club.

Foes in the basketball game at 3 p.m. will be Bachelor 14 and United Bachelors fielding teams of former high school stars. Smith said the reception, 6 to 10 p.m., will be a punch and cookies affair with J.C. hopefully there to receive a plaque. Tickets at $1 cover both events and all proceeds will go to J.C. to help with expenses he and his family have encountered during his illness.

Smith recalled J.C. was a 1948 graduate of Benton Harbor high school and an outstanding basketball player for Coach Bill Perigo. In 1949, Sams starred for Coach Gene Morgan's Benton Harbor Junior college team that won the state championship and finished fourth in the national tournament.

Then illness struck. J.C. was hospitalized for nearly a year with tuberculosis. His playing days were over.

But J.C. "was always a winner, never a loser," said Smith. Sams organized a club called the "Dukes" for social and recreational activities for youth in Benton Harbor and Benton township. His home on Burton street became a community center.

J.C. later did volunteer work at the Branch YMCA. In the mid-1950s, he and Charles Gray organized a youth softball team that reached the state finals two straight years.

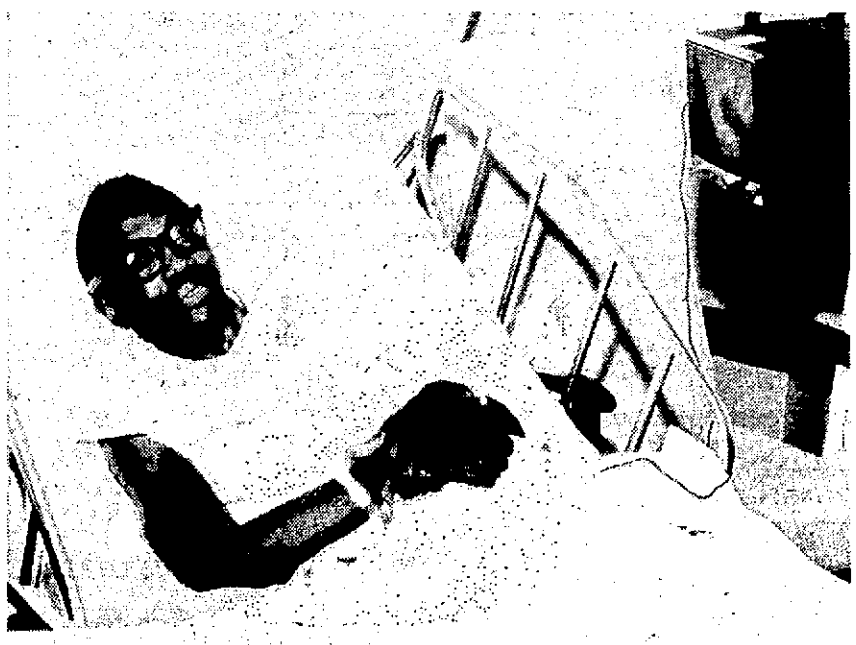
Smith recalled that J.C. then got involved in Little League from pre-season signups to the playoffs. During the winter, he noticed the varsity club at BHHS needed a boost so he helped organize the Benton Harbor Quarterback club to back Tiger sports.

J.C. has worked as an insurance salesman and most recently for the Benton Harbor water department.

But Smith noted: "He is not doing very much community work right now. As fate sometimes repeats, J.C. Sams became ill in September of 1974. He has spent a major part of his time in the hospital."

J.C. and his wife Jo Evelyn are the parents of six children, two of whom are in college and the rest in public schools.

Tickets for J.C. Sams day can be obtained from Wallace Dunn, Coach Earl McKee, Charles Brock, Charles Gray, Smith, members of Bachelor 14 club and United Bachelors and at Fairplain junior high Sunday.



FRIENDS REMEMBER: John (J.C.) Sams, 45, is in St. Joseph Memorial hospital convalescing with a spinal ailment. Friends are staging a day for him Sunday in recognition of many years volunteer work in sports for youths of Benton Harbor and Benton township. (Staff photo)

The youth admitted his plan, Coloma township police said, after officers talked to his friends and recovered the bike.

The youth's mother also told police that the family had no insurance on the bike.

She Remembers Opera House Fire

By ANITA SMITH
Staff Writer

Kathryne Kramer recalls digging for buried treasure at "Devil's Hole," playing on a slide at the St. Joseph beach prior to Silver Beach, and her brother who helped fight one of Benton Harbor's most talked about disaster, the Yore Opera House fire in 1896.

Mrs. Kramer, who will be 99 May 2, has lived all of her life in St. Joseph and is now a patient at Shoreham Terrace Nursing Home.

She is the daughter of the late William and Barbara Freund, St. Joseph pioneer residents. Grandparents on her mother's side settled in the Scottdale area around 1849 coming from Chicago.

With the exception of a trip to Peoria, Ill., to attend a postmasters' convention with her late husband, Otto A.F., Mrs. Kramer has never left this area.

Mrs. Kramer recalls playing by the old oak tree on the St. Joseph bluff where as a youngster she gathered acorns and watched ships such as the City of Chicago, City of Benton Harbor and the Chicora, go in and out of the harbor.

When asked how she liked the newest addition to the bluff, the St. Joseph band shell, she remarked, "It's modern. I guess I'm old-fashioned but it's all right."

Mrs. Kramer attributes her good health and active mind to several things — walking, gardening, good neighbors and "not giving in to every ache and pain."

She said she and her husband, former St. Joseph assistant postmaster, would frequently walk along the beach and thought nothing of walking to Eau Claire and returning home on the interurban.

Walking is something Mrs. Kramer has done all her life she said. As a young girl she and her friends would go to the beach, before Silver Beach was constructed in the 1890's, to play on the slide in the water. She would walk to the docks in Benton Harbor to watch boats being launched. And she would walk to her summer job in the local knitting factory.

The "Devil's Hole" held intrigue to the youngsters in those days, Mrs. Kramer reflected. She spoke of herself and the Wallace boys taking shovels to the "Hole", where Auto Specialties Manufacturing Company now stands, to dig for the illusive buried treasure.

In the summer months, the kids would call the Coast Guard to take them across to the north side of the river but in the winter, despite warnings, they would walk over on the ice.

Mrs. Kramer recalls Sunday, Sept. 6, 1896, when her brother, Will Freund, was called on to fight the disastrous Yore Opera House fire.

She tells of how someone shouted to her brother, who at the time was in training as a fireman, to watch out as one of the walls was beginning to collapse. Because of the warning, Freund was only injured in the tragedy which took 12 lives.

Mrs. Kramer, former kindergarten and second grade teacher in the St. Joseph school system for 29 years, retired 37 years ago. She received her teacher's training at Grand Rapids Kindergarten Training school.

Mrs. Kramer is a member of Trinity Lutheran church, former member of the St. Joseph Civic Improvement Association and is a past president of the Nineteenth Century club. She served on the St. Joseph board of education for a while but later resigned to resume her teaching career.

Mrs. Kramer, who says she misses her home library, enjoys such authors as Scott, Emerson and Cooper and is also interested in books on history and other cities.

The nonagenarian enjoys quilting lap robes and crocheting.

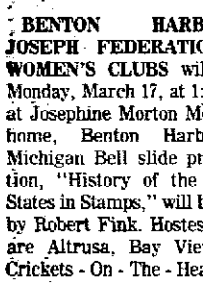
Lenten Meditation



Rev. Lowell F. Walsworth
Trinity United Methodist Church, Brandywine
Today's Scripture: Hebrews 5:8-9

Living demands obedience to Christian discipline. Jesus the Christ was the son of God, yet He was not free to move through life as the wind — blowing here, and going there.

Discipline, when it is based on love is not easy, but it yields great benefits for the people called "Christians." Discipline structures life and gives direction to our hours, days and years.

The disciplined life is a life-plan in action. It brings to man the God-like qualities human life can hold with grace and certainty. We feel better when we know our life has a purpose, and when that purpose is maintained we can know the great gift of happiness.

Happiness is not received just because we desire it. It comes as a result of life-patterns born of Christ, for the sake of Christ, serving man. Happiness is God's reward when we attempt to live the life He created for us.

Salvation is like happiness, a gift not earned, but offered.

These Lenten Meditations are coordinated by the Berrien County Council of Churches.

Sea Life Inspires Designer

Nautical Images

By DOLORES BARCLAY
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Simple, quietly elegant designs inspired by sea life highlight Italian designer Gucci's spring-summer line.

The nautical images were crafted on silk, acrylic and jersey, appearing as dresses, shirts and scarves. A collection of seashells in earthbound colors was interwoven in a fisherman's net on a two-piece beige silk with matching turban.

The same seashell print was worn in a long halter back evening gown, also beige, with a revealing split up the front. Another seashell print shown Tuesday was slightly more alluring in blue silk organza seethrough top.

A ship's helm and buoys were seascape designs on more sporty fashions. The buoy motif was prominent on an acrylic knit blouse worn with a red, white and blue stripe drawstring skirt. It also appeared on a blue and green striped polyester T-shirt worn with white cotton pants.

For landlubbers, Gucci presented soft leather suits, dresses and jackets for town and country wear. A tan leather blazer, pliant and sleek, was worn with an ivory wool pullover and blue silk scarf.

A navy leather coat was belted, worn with Gucci accessories. Brass buttons were on a navy trenchcoat for men. The coat was shown with navy linen trousers and white linen knit pullover.

A group of velour terry wraps and lounging pajamas was introduced in the collection in rich and dramatic colors, such as emerald green, black, wine, brown and beige.

Sea life appliques appeared on some of the long robes.

Handsome Gucci accessories accompanied most of the fashions. A calf moccasin with green and red web trim was worn with a tan velour suede dress. With a beige rayon gabardine pants outfit, Gucci chose beige calf shoes with enamel and metal trim.

Ginger suede totes and pigskin clutch bags were popular, as well as the Gucci signature shoulder bag.

She Remembers Opera House Fire

By ANITA SMITH
Staff Writer

Kathryne Kramer recalls digging for buried treasure at "Devil's Hole," playing on a slide at the St. Joseph beach prior to Silver Beach, and her brother who helped fight one of Benton Harbor's most talked about disaster, the Yore Opera House fire in 1896.

Mrs. Kramer, who will be 99 May 2, has lived all of her life in St. Joseph and is now a patient at Shoreham Terrace Nursing Home.

She is the daughter of the late William and Barbara Freund, St. Joseph pioneer residents. Grandparents on her mother's side settled in the Scottdale area around 1849 coming from Chicago.

KATHRYNE KRAMER
Recalls The Past

With the exception of a trip to Peoria, Ill., to attend a postmasters' convention with her late husband, Otto A.F., Mrs. Kramer has never left this area.

Mrs. Kramer recalls playing by the old oak tree on the St. Joseph bluff where as a youngster she gathered acorns and watched ships such as the City of Chicago, City of Benton Harbor and the Chicora, go in and out of the harbor.

When asked how she liked the newest addition to the bluff, the St. Joseph band shell, she remarked, "It's modern. I guess I'm old-fashioned but it's all right."

Mrs. Kramer attributes her good health and active mind to several things — walking, gardening, good neighbors and "not giving in to every ache and pain."

She said she and her husband, former St. Joseph assistant postmaster, would frequently walk along the beach and thought nothing of walking to Eau Claire and returning home on the interurban.

Walking is something Mrs. Kramer has done all her life she said. As a young girl she and her friends would go to the beach, before Silver Beach was constructed in the 1890's, to play on the slide in the water. She would walk to the docks in Benton Harbor to watch boats being launched. And she would walk to her summer job in the local knitting factory.

The "Devil's Hole" held intrigue to the youngsters in those days, Mrs. Kramer reflected. She spoke of herself and the Wallace boys taking shovels to the "Hole", where Auto Specialties Manufacturing Company now stands, to dig for the illusive buried treasure.

In the summer months, the kids would call the Coast Guard to take them across to the north side of the river but in the winter, despite warnings, they would walk over on the ice.

Mrs. Kramer recalls Sunday, Sept. 6, 1896, when her brother, Will Freund, was called on to fight the disastrous Yore Opera House fire.

She tells of how someone shouted to her brother, who at the time was in training as a fireman, to watch out as one of the walls was beginning to collapse. Because of the warning, Freund was only injured in the tragedy which took 12 lives.

Mrs. Kramer, former kindergarten and second grade teacher in the St. Joseph school system for 29 years, retired 37 years ago. She received her teacher's training at Grand Rapids Kindergarten Training school.

Mrs. Kramer is a member of Trinity Lutheran church, former member of the St. Joseph Civic Improvement Association and is a past president of the Nineteenth Century club. She served on the St. Joseph board of education for a while but later resigned to resume her teaching career.

Mrs. Kramer, who says she misses her home library, enjoys such authors as Scott, Emerson and Cooper and is also interested in books on history and other cities.

The nonagenarian enjoys quilting lap robes and crocheting.

To Attend 'Y' Regional Meeting

Mrs. James Hilliard, president of the board of directors of the St. Joseph-Benton Harbor YWCA, will attend the last of four regional meetings of the Young Women's Christian Association's central region, sponsored by the national board, as a preliminary preparation for the association's 1976 convention.

Approximately 100 leaders have been selected to attend the meeting, representing 46 associations of the central region, March 17-21, in Rosemont, Ill.

"Women Empowered and Acting" is the theme of the regional meetings which also are a part of a new YWCA plan to make best use of human and financial resources. The new national YWCA executive director, Mrs. Sara-Alyce P. Wright, and national president, Mrs. William H. Genne, will present sessions to listen and discuss with member association representatives their concerns and ideas for the YWCA.

As selected leaders, those participating in the regional meetings will become the leaders for a series of cluster meetings nearer their home associations. These meetings are also designed to bring together additional YWCA leaders to face the same concerns presented in the regional meetings.

"This plan," Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Genne point out, "is a part of our concentrated effort to reduce the number of meetings involving expenditures for member associations, and at the same time maintain the strength of the YWCA as a national and international movement. Many issues are facing women in this International Women's Year and we believe that by bringing some of the concerns related to the goals of IWY into these regional and cluster sessions we will be helped as women to see the role we must carry in building an equal partnership with men in helping to meet such concerns as the economic crisis and world peace."

The YWCA leaders will meet as a total group to hear Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Genne and to participate in presentations on "The YWCA Facing a World in Economic Crisis," and "Affirmative Action Policies and Program," the last including introduction of a new manual, "YWCA Affirmative Action Guide to Equal Employment," produced in cooperation with Social Change Advocates.

Smaller group sessions on affirmative action, on the economic crisis, management training for administrative volunteers, and empowering teen women in a rapidly changing world also are on the schedule.

Presiding for the total group sessions will be Mrs. Marjorie McCarthy Robins, St. Louis, Mo., vice president of the national board and chairman of the central region.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

She Has Troubles Enough

Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl 20 and nearly crazy with worry. Please don't give me a sermon or tell me where I went wrong. You couldn't say anything to me that I haven't already said to myself.

I am nearly seven months pregnant and look like I'm ready to deliver any minute. The guy who I think got me pregnant is married. He says if I try to pin this on him, he'll go to court and prove I was promiscuous. Unfortunately, he could do it.

I want to go to a home for unwed mothers, and give the baby up for adoption. My mother wants me to keep the baby. My little sister died ten years ago, and Mom is sure God sent us this child to replace her.

What my mother doesn't know is that the fat er might be black. She is very prejudiced against black people and she'd probably kill me. But it would get her off my back. Should I tell her? — Trapped

Dear T.: NO. Check into a home as soon as possible. Since you've had several lovers and have no way of knowing for sure who fathered this child, don't make additional trouble for yourself. You have plenty.

Generous Granny

dear Ann Landers: My mother-in-law is a lovely person — don't get me wrong. But she has started something I can't seem to stop and it is creating serious problems.

Our two children, four and six years of age, are the stars in Grandma's crown. She adores them. Every time Grandma comes to the house (at least twice a week) she brings gifts for the children.

This has become such a habit that they expect everyone who comes to the house to have gifts for them. Several times recently they have asked friends, business associates and other relatives, "What did you bring us?"

How can I stop my mother-in-law from continuing this practice? I asked her once and she replied, "Please don't deny me this great pleasure." What now? — Sideliner MolDear Mom: Get off the sidelines and into the game where you belong. Tell Grandma that her great pleasure is making "gimme pigs" out of your children and you can no longer allow her to bring gifts except for birthdays, Christmas and perhaps when she returns from an out-of-town trip.

And you can do something else. Instruct your children that they are not to ask anyone, "What did you bring me?" And tell them in a way that they'll know you mean business.

Not Worth It

Dear Ann Landers: You have always been opposed to woman nagging their husbands. Well, what if his life is in danger?

ANN LANDERS

That is the situation in our house and I feel it is my DUTY to nag him.

Gerald is at least 60 pounds overweight, yet he drinks a six-pack of beer every night before he goes to sleep (or passes out, I don't know which). He also smokes three packs of cigarets a day and almost burned the house down twice in the last four years. (Both times he fell asleep in front of the TV with a cigaret in his hand.)

I believe a woman is derelict in her duty if she keeps her mouth shut and lets her husband eat or smoke himself to death. Her nagging could add years to his life. — Pittsburgh Wife

Dear Wife: Who wants more years like that? Nagging a man to quit smoking or eat less has never worked, and it never will. You cannot save people from themselves.

Even it drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers's booklet, "Booze and You—For Teen-Agers Only." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Dox 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Something Simple

Report cards have certainly become sophisticated since the computers took over.

A simple S (for Satisfactory) and U (for Unsatisfactory) has given way to a student identification number, a print-out of the class schedule and attendance record, a grade code, a comment code, and an instant replay of grades by terms and semesters.

"Well, 976553411892," I said to my son, "We have a lot to talk about."

"Just call me 97655," he laughed. (It was to be the last time he laughed all week.)

"I see you got a 3-2 in your Dr. Ed Trg. Crt. What have you got to say about that?"

"What do you want to know?" he shrugged.

"For starters, what's Dr. Ed & Trg. Crt.?"

"It's Driver's Education and if you check the code you'll see that 3 is an average grade."

"What's the 2 for?" I asked.

"According to the comment code, I didn't bring materials necessary for the class."

"You mean you didn't take your textbook with you?"

"No. Brains. Mr. Woods took off because I was going 32 mph in a 30 mile zone."

"That doesn't seem excessive," I said defensively.

"In reverse," he added.

"Good grief. What happened in English. You got a 4 and a code 5. That means you are below average and according to this you could make better use of your time."

"That's not true," he said, "I never goof off in that class. I use every minute."

"To study?"

"To eat my lunch so that when the class is over I can shoot baskets on my lunch hour. You can't budget your time any better than that."

"Well, your history grade is good, but Mrs. Burice indicated you are not working up to your capacity."

"I don't know what my capacity is," he said.

"So, why don't you ask Mrs. Burice."

"I did and she said I didn't know because I've never worked up to it. I said how will I know when I get there and she said when I stop teepeeing the trees on the school lawn."

Sometimes, I wish schools would just lay it on us... in English.

South's jump to four spades was a substantial overbid. In fact most players would have passed the raise to two, but South was one of those players who felt that dame fortune would favor him.

Dame fortune did as a starter. A heart lead and heart return would have cooked his goose, but West led the jack of diamonds.

South won; played three rounds of clubs to get rid of one heart and lead a trump. West won with the jack and led a heart to East's ace. East led the jack of clubs, which permitted East and West to score their ace and king of trumps separately.

Overbiddiers should remember one basic rule: They must play exceptionally well. If South had, he would have made his contract.

The play isn't that difficult. After running the three clubs, South should have led dummy's last club and discarded his last heart on East's good jack of clubs.

This play of a loser on a loser would have made it impossible for the defenders to get in an overruff. In this way South would have lost only two trump tricks instead of three.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

She Has Troubles Enough

Dear Ann Landers: I am a girl 20 and nearly crazy with worry. Please don't give me a sermon or tell me where I went wrong. You couldn't say anything to me that I haven't already said to myself.

I am nearly seven months pregnant and look like I'm ready to deliver any minute. The guy who I think got me pregnant is married. He says if I try to pin this on him, he'll go to court and prove I was promiscuous. Unfortuately, he could do it.

I want to go to a home for unwed mothers, and give the baby up for adoption. My mother wants me to keep the baby. My little sister died ten years ago, and Mom is sure God sent us this child to replace her.

What my mother doesn't know is that the fat er might be black. She is very prejudiced against black people and she'd probably kill me. But it would get her off my back. Should I tell her? — Trapped

Dear T.: NO. Check into a home as soon as possible. Since you've had several lovers and have no way of knowing for sure who fathered this child, don't make additional trouble for yourself. You have plenty.

Generous Granny

dear Ann Landers: My mother-in-law is a lovely person — don't get me wrong. But she has started something I can't seem to stop and it is creating serious problems.

Our two children, four and six years of age, are the stars in Grandma's crown. She adores them. Every time Grandma comes to the house (at least twice a week) she brings gifts for the children.

This has become such a habit that they expect everyone who comes to the house to have gifts for them. Several times recently they have asked friends, business associates and other relatives, "What did you bring us?"

How can I stop my mother-in-law from continuing this practice? I asked her once and she replied, "Please don't deny me this great pleasure." What now? — Sideliner MolDear Mom: Get off the sidelines and into the game where you belong. Tell Grandma that her great pleasure is making "gimme pigs" out of your children and you can no longer allow her to bring gifts except for birthdays, Christmas and perhaps when she returns from an out-of-town trip.

And you can do something else. Instruct your children that they are not to ask anyone, "What did you bring me?" And tell them in a way that they'll know you mean business.

Not Worth It

Dear Ann Landers: You have always been opposed to woman nagging their husbands. Well, what if his life is in danger?

ANN LANDERS

That is the situation in our house and I feel it is my DUTY to nag him.

Gerald is at least 60 pounds overweight, yet he drinks a six-pack of beer every night before he goes to sleep (or passes out, I don't know which). He also smokes three packs of cigarets a day and almost burned the house down twice in the last four years. (Both times he fell asleep in front of the TV with a cigaret in his hand.)

I believe a woman is derelict in her duty if she keeps her mouth shut and lets her husband eat or smoke himself to death. Her nagging could add years to his life. — Pittsburgh Wife

Dear Wife: Who wants more years like that? Nagging a man to quit smoking or eat less has never worked, and it never will. You cannot save people from themselves.

Even it drinking is the "in" thing in your crowd, it needn't crowd you out. Learn the facts from Ann Landers's booklet, "Booze and You—For Teen-Agers Only." Send 50 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Dox 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Something Simple

Report cards have certainly become sophisticated since the computers took over.

A simple S (for Satisfactory) and U (for Unsatisfactory) has given way to a student identification number, a print-out of the class schedule and attendance record, a grade code, a comment code, and an instant replay of grades by terms and semesters.

"Well, 976553411892," I said to my son, "We have a lot to talk about."

"Just call me 97655," he laughed. (It was to be the last time he laughed all week.)

"I see you got a 3-2 in your Dr. Ed Trg. Crt. What have you got to say about that?"

"What do you want to know?" he shrugged.

"For starters, what's Dr. Ed & Trg. Crt.?"

"It's Driver's Education and if you check the code you'll see that 3 is an average grade."

"What's the 2 for?" I asked.

"According to the comment code, I didn't bring materials necessary for the class."

"You mean you didn't take your textbook with you?"

"No. Brains. Mr. Woods took off because I was going 32 mph in a 30 mile zone."

"That doesn't seem excessive," I said defensively.

"In reverse," he added.

"Good grief. What happened in English. You got a 4 and a code 5. That means you are below average and according to this you could make better use of your time."

"That's not true," he said, "I never goof off in that class. I use every minute."

"To study?"

"To eat my lunch so that when the class is over I can shoot baskets on my lunch hour. You can't budget your time any better than that."

"Well, your history grade is good, but Mrs. Burice indicated you are not working up to your capacity."

"I don't know what my capacity is," he said.

"So, why don't you ask Mrs. Burice."

"I did and she said I didn't know because I've never worked up to it. I said how will I know when I get there and she said when I stop teepeeing the trees on the school lawn."

Sometimes, I wish schools would just lay it on us... in English.

South's jump to four spades was a substantial overbid. In fact most players would have passed the raise to two, but South was one of those players who felt that dame fortune would favor him.

Dame fortune did as a starter. A heart lead and heart return would have cooked his goose, but West led the jack of diamonds.

South won; played three rounds of clubs to get rid of one heart and lead a trump. West won with the jack and led a heart to East's ace. East led the jack of clubs, which permitted East and West to score their ace and king of trumps separately.

Overbiddiers should remember one basic rule: They must play exceptionally well. If South had, he would have made his contract.

The play isn't that difficult. After running the three clubs, South should have led dummy's last club and discarded his last heart on East's good jack of clubs.

This play of a loser on a loser would have made it impossible for the defenders to get in an overruff. In this way South would have lost only two trump tricks instead of three.

Watchful Adults Can Put A Halt To Child Poisoning

Accidental poisonings begin in the home . . . and, so does poison prevention.

The Tri-County Pharmaceutical Association of Berrien, Cass and Van Buren counties is engaged in a public alertness program on the need to exercise care in the proper storage and use of potential poisons in the home.

Governor Milliken has proclaimed March 16-22 as Michigan Poison Prevention Week. Michigan Pharmaceutical Association has sponsored this observance for the last 14 years.

Many adults are not aware of the many potential poisons found in the home, according to Richard Chaudoir, chief pharmacist at Berrien General hospital and president of the Tri-County Pharmaceutical Association.

Chaudoir said not all substances which can cause illness or death, when ingested in sufficient quantities, are marked with the word "poison." Examples are prescribed medications in medicine cabinets, non-prescription drugs in linen closets, several varieties of household plants which may be toxic if ingested by children or cleaning solutions stored in an improper container.

About 95 per cent of all accidental poisonings of children happen while an adult is nearby, according to statistics.

Chaudoir pointed out these rules:

—1. Don't store dangerous household cleaning substances in unlocked storage cabinets such as under the sink.

—2. Don't answer the doorbell and leave an ammonia cleaning solution unattended while your child plays nearby.

—3. Don't leave to answer the telephone without placing "out of reach" the prescription medication you are about to take.

Chaudoir listed these as common experiences of how a small child in exploration of his environment can come upon an unfortunate experience ... and with the parent just nearby. He added for every accidental poisoning, there is a responsible (or irresponsible) adult.

The Tri-County Pharmaceutical Association advises adults to practice poison prevention daily in their homes and to ask their pharmacist for tips on poison prevention around the home.

Comics Tell Kids Conservation

Youngsters in several school districts in Berrien county are learning about conservation by reading comic books supplied free of charge by the St. Joseph River Soil Conservation district, according to Peter Palis, district director.

About 6,000 of these educational comic books were purchased by the district from a private conservation society. The booklets, along with 230 teacher's guides, are being passed out to fifth and sixth graders in schools that requested the material.

Beside comics that deal specifically with the land, water, plants and wildlife, other booklets will teach the youngsters how to keep the land beautiful and how to work together for a better earth.

ELECTED: Dowagiac surgeon Dr. M.S. Zaman has been elected president of Cass county Medical society for coming year. Other newly-elected officers are Dr. Kenneth Pierce of Dowagiac, vice president; and Dr. Justo de Varona, of Dowagiac, secretary-treasurer.

Berrien Springs Keeps Lid On School Budget

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Berrien Springs school board last night approved a tentative 1975-76 school budget exactly the same as this year's.

The $2.1 million preliminary budget means that the district can continue to operate at the same property tax rate of 22.776 mills.

Supt. Lee Auble said the budget did not need to be raised in spite of inflation because unusually large capital expenditures being made under the present budget will not be repeated next year.

The preliminary budget is to be submitted to the county tax allocation board.

The board delayed until next month acting to place on the ballot a request for renewal of 8.2 mills of the 22.776 mills which expired with the current tax collection.

In other areas, Board Secretary Bill Robinson said he would not seek re-election this June. He is retiring from the board after eight years.

The position held by Ed Stone is also up for election this June. Stone did not say whether he planned to run again.

Principal Al Berg reported that Berrien Springs students scored well above the state average on the state assessment tests for fourth and seventh grade students.

The test for fourth grade covered 30 areas in mathematics and 19 objectives in reading. The Berrien Springs students scored above the state average on 25 of the mathematics objectives and on all 19 reading objectives.

The test for seventh grade had 40 objectives for mathematics and 19 for reading, and Berrien Springs students scored above the state average on 67 of the 70 objectives.

The board voted to approve the shift of third-grade classes from Mars elementary building to the Sylvester elementary building beginning next fall.

The Sylvester building currently has grades four through six, but the sixth grade will be moving to the new middle school next fall.

This board action will leave kindergarten and the first two grades in the Mars building and grades three through five in the Sylvester building.

Auble reported that no bids were received on the house being built by the building trades class as a result of recent advertisements for bids.

The house is appraised at $43,500, and the minimum bid had been established at $40,000. Auble said he would not recommend selling the house for less than $43,500, because the school had that much in it.

Auble said that state aid for the building program had been cut drastically. The state had given $23,000 to last year's building project, but this year's project received only $9,000.

Board President Peter Rudell appointed Jim Betchik and Auble to serve as the board's negotiating team for contract talks with the teachers, which should begin this month.

The board also approved a project to build four tennis courts across the street from the high school. The project is expected to cost $24,000, with the county paying half and local government units contributing the other half.

Quake Recorded In West Pacific

UPPSALA, Sweden (AP) — The Institute of Seismology reported today that a "relatively powerful" tremor occurred in the Pacific on Thursday, several hours after an earthquake killed two people in Chile.

The institute registered the second tremor at 3:02 p.m. EDT and located it between the New Hebrides and Loyalty Islands in the Western Pacific. It measured 6.9 on the Richter scale, while the quake in Chile at 11:27 a.m. measured 7.1.

Gobles Commissioners Double Their $5-Per-Meeting Salaries

GOBLES — Gobles city commissioners last night voted themselves pay increases.

The mayor will receive $300 yearly plus $10 for each meeting attended with a limit of 12 meetings yearly and each commissioner will receive $10 for each meeting they attend with a limit of 15 meetings yearly.

Both the mayor and commissioners had been receiving $5 for each meeting attended.

In other areas, the commission voted to hire Gove Associates, a Kalamazoo engineering firm, to make a study of major city streets that need repairs. The fee is not to exceed $1,500.

The commission also appointed the Kalamazoo accounting firm of Sidnam and Martens to conduct the village audit; appointed Mrs. Timothy Peters and Mrs. Edward Bargo to the library board; appointed Donald Lipp to the Lake View Community hospital board as the Gobles representative to replace Marvin Spayde; and authorized the village attorney to initiate action to collect $5,345 in delinquent taxes owed the city.

The commission also presented a coffee maker and a gold badge to Glenn Breed who retired from fulltime duty after serving for nine years as a Gobles police officer.

It's Dec. 8 If Draft Resumes

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Young men with birthdates of Dec. 8, 1956 would be the first to be ordered to military duty if a national emergency required a resumption of the draft next year.

TONS OF FISH: A boatload of rough fish, mostly carp and buffalo, is brought in by commercial fishermen at Lake Carlyle in southern Illinois, where netting of fish is being permitted by state under supervision of area biologists. Fish were being netted by 47 fishermen and sold for 25c a pound. (AP Wirephoto)

The draft lottery Wednesday also made the birthdate of June 19 No. 2 while March 22 would be No. 3.

These men are turning 19 this year and they drop into a lower priority for callup each succeeding year after 1976 until they lose their vulnerability to the draft, normally at age 26.

Those who drew lottery numbers last year form this year's first priority group.

Selective Service Director Byron V. Pepitone began the annual two-hour lottery ceremony by saying the draft provides a backup for the all-volunteer armed forces in cases of national emergency.

He noted that the law requires that it still be held and that all young men are required to register between 30 days before and 30 days after their 18th birthday.

The men who drew numbers 1 through 95 Wednesday will be given a higher priority and placed in an "available" class unless they are eligible for deferment or exemption. They will not be required to take physical exams or other tests, as happened when men were actually being drafted, however.

Men with numbers 96 and higher will remain in the "holding" class and get no further attention short of a major callup in the future.

In the lottery, Feb. 4 drew No. 95 and June 16 No. 96.

The highest number, 366, was drawn for men born Feb. 12. The 366 was used because 1956 was a leap year. Feb. 29 drew No. 195.

The numbers were picked in random fashion by two pairs of students taking turns.

One student picked a red capsule from a plastic drum containing draft numbers while the other student picked a blue capsule from another drum containing birthdates.

More Mileage Is Target

WASHINGTON (AP) — An executive of General Motors said Thursday the world's biggest auto manufacturer will make all of its cars smaller and less powerful to increase gasoline mileage 50 per cent by 1980. Meanwhile, however, the president of the United Auto Workers Union told Congress that automakers cannot be trusted to keep such promises voluntarily and should be required by law to improve fuel economy. The General Motors executive, Fred Bowditch, told reporters at a meeting on energy issues that his company planned to improve its "salesweighted" gasoline milgage, a figured based on sales and fuel economy, from 12.2 miles per gallon in 1974 models to about 19 miles per gallon by 1980.

Mobile Homes Target Of Suit

PAW PAW — Hartford township board has filed suit in Van Buren circuit court asking that occupants of two mobile homes in the township either get trailer permits or move the trailers.

Named as defendants were Fred and Steve Williams, Hartford township, and and Victor Friday of Coloma.

The suit claims that two trailers were moved onto land near 68th avenue and 67th street and are being occupied by the Williams without a required township permit.

Friday was named in the suit because he is the land owner of record, according to the suit.

The township is asking the court to either order occupants to obtain a permit or to move the trailers.

The suit was filed in January after an alleged December altercation between Justus Mayhak, township zoning administrator, and Fred Williams.

Williams was subsequently charged with simple assault but was found innocent following a March 6 Seventh District court jury trial in Paw Paw.

Mayhak said the incident occurred when he and his wife, Mrs. Helen Mayhak, the township clerk, and Donald Drake, the township supervisor, went to the where the mobile homes are located to advise the occupants a permit was required.

PSC Eyes Consumers Gas Cutoff Plan

TROY, Mich. (AP) — Hearings are under way on a proposal for shutting off certain Consumers Power Co. customers when natural gas supplies run low, a state official says.

Williams Ralls of the Michigan Public Service Commission said Thursday the emergency curtailment plan proposed by Consumers would set up categories of existing customers whose service would be terminated in case of supply emergencies.

"Recent testimony before the commission indicates that Consumers Power Co.'s current supplies are stretched to the limit, yet proceedings are under way in Washington to reduce Consumers' production of synthetic natural gas at its Marysville plant.

"Such action would be incredible, particularly when our state's economy is already depressed by the auto slowdown," he said.

His remarks were prepared for delivery to the Troy Chamber of Commerce.

"We're now analyzing the problem of what to do if Consumers Power cannot meet its existing customers' needs in the future due to increased pipeline curtailments or other supply problems," Ralls said.

"But an emergency plan is just that, and I believe that it's essential that we start seeking solutions to the real long-term shortage of this essential fuel," he added.

Ralls said Consumers must cope with possible loss of all natural gas permits for new commercial users in its area, possible termination of natural gas supplies for new homes in its territory, the federal proposal to limit the Marysville synthetic natural gas production, deeper cutbacks by Consumers' pipeline suppliers and rising prices for Michigan-produced natural gas.

"Thus far we have been able to protect existing natural gas customers by limiting the types of new customers; however, the next step in many areas of the state is to eliminate all new customers, even residential users," Ralls said.

Encouraging Car Pooling

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Attempting to encourage the use of car pools, a state lawmaker has introduced a bill permitting motorists to collect money from his passengers.

Present law, according to Rep. Sal Rocca, D-Sterling Heights, prohibits the driver from charging his passengers. But with gasoline expensive and potentially scarce, he said, "we should do everything we can to encourage car pools."

To charge a fee, the motorist would have to be carrying passengers to or from their place of employment, carry no more than five at a time, and not advertise or solicit passengers.

Omitted From List

KALAMAZOO — The name of a New Buffalo student at Western Michigan university was omitted from a university list of students named to the dean's list for the fall term and published March 8, according to school officials here. The student, John Raff received straight A's and is the son of Mrs. Patricia Westinghouse, 18709 Parkview drive, New Buffalo.

It's Dec. 8 If Draft Resumes

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Young men with birthdates of Dec. 8, 1956 would be the first to be ordered to military duty if a national emergency required a resumption of the draft next year.

The draft lottery Wednesday also made the birthdate of June 19 No. 2 while March 22 would be No. 3.

These men are turning 19 this year and they drop into a lower priority for callup each succeeding year after 1976 until they lose their vulnerability to the draft, normally at age 26.

Those who drew lottery numbers last year form this year's first priority group.

Selective Service Director Byron V. Pepitone began the annual two-hour lottery ceremony by saying the draft provides a backup for the all-volunteer armed forces in cases of national emergency.

He noted that the law requires that it still be held and that all young men are required to register between 30 days before and 30 days after their 18th birthday.

The men who drew numbers 1 through 95 Wednesday will be given a higher priority and placed in an "available" class unless they are eligible for deferment or exemption. They will not be required to take physical exams or other tests, as happened when men were actually being drafted, however.

Men with numbers 96 and higher will remain in the "holding" class and get no further attention short of a major callup in the future.

In the lottery, Feb. 4 drew No. 95 and June 16 No. 96.

The highest number, 366, was drawn for men born Feb. 12. The 366 was used because 1956 was a leap year. Feb. 29 drew No. 195.

The numbers were picked in random fashion by two pairs of students taking turns.

One student picked a red capsule from a plastic drum containing draft numbers while the other student picked a blue capsule from another drum containing birthdates.

TONS OF FISH: A boatload of rough fish, mostly carp and buffalo, is brought in by commercial fishermen at Lake Carlyle in southern Illinois, where netting of fish is being permitted by state under supervision of area biologists. More Mileage Is Target

WASHINGTON (AP) — An executive of General Motors said Thursday the world's biggest auto manufacturer will make all of its cars smaller and less powerful to increase gasoline mileage 50 per cent by 1980. Meanwhile, however, the president of the United Auto Workers Union told Congress that automakers cannot be trusted to keep such promises voluntarily and should be required by law to improve fuel economy. The General Motors executive, Fred Bowditch, told reporters at a meeting on energy issues that his company planned to improve its "salesweighted" gasoline mileage, a figured based on sales and fuel economy, from 12.2 miles per gallon in 1974 models to about 19 miles per gallon by 1980.

Mobile Homes Target Of Suit

PAW PAW — Hartford township board has filed suit in Van Buren circuit court asking that occupants of two mobile homes in the township either get trailer permits or move the trailers.

Named as defendants were Fred and Steve Williams, Hartford township, and and Victor Friday of Coloma.

The suit claims that two trailers were moved onto land near 68th avenue and 67th street and are being occupied by the Williams without a required township permit.

Friday was named in the suit because he is the land owner of record, according to the suit.

The township is asking the court to either order occupants to obtain a permit or to move the trailers.

The suit was filed in January after an alleged December altercation between Justus Mayhak, township zoning administrator, and Fred Williams.

Williams was subsequently charged with simple assault but was found innocent following a March 6 Seventh District court jury trial in Paw Paw.

Mayhak said the incident occurred when he and his wife, Mrs. Helen Mayhak, the township clerk, and Donald Drake, the township supervisor, went to the where the mobile homes are located to advise the occupants a permit was required.

Most Back Ford

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leaders say 111 of the 144 GOP House members have endorsed a statement pledging support for President Ford and the goal of rebuilding and broadening their party.

PSC Eyes Consumers Gas Cutoff Plan

TROY, Mich. (AP) — Hearings are under way on a proposal for shutting off certain Consumers Power Co. customers when natural gas supplies run low, a state official says.

Williams Ralls of the Michigan Public Service Commission said Thursday the emergency curtailment plan proposed by Consumers would set up categories of existing customers whose service would be terminated in case of supply emergencies.

"Recent testimony before the commission indicates that Consumers Power Co.'s current supplies are stretched to the limit, yet proceedings are under way in Washington to reduce Consumers' production of synthetic natural gas at its Marysville plant.

"Such action would be incredible, particularly when our state's economy is already depressed by the auto slowdown," he said.

His remarks were prepared for delivery to the Troy Chamber of Commerce.

"We're now analyzing the problem of what to do if Consumers Power cannot meet its existing customers' needs in the future due to increased pipeline curtailments or other supply problems," Ralls said.

"But an emergency plan is just that, and I believe that it's essential that we start seeking solutions to the real long-term shortage of this essential fuel," he added.

Ralls said Consumers must cope with possible loss of all natural gas permits for new commercial users in its area, possible termination of natural gas supplies for new homes in its territory, the federal proposal to limit the Marysville synthetic natural gas production, deeper cutbacks by Consumers' pipeline suppliers and rising prices for Michigan-produced natural gas.

"Thus far we have been able to protect existing natural gas customers by limiting the types of new customers; however, the next step in many areas of the state is to eliminate all new customers, even residential users," Ralls said.

Congressperson Bella Abzug (I go along with the fads and now refer to those metal things in the middle of streets as "person-hole covers") is upset because it turns out that the Central Intelligence Agency had been keeping an eye on her, logging her calls and opening her mail for some 20 years. I can't say that I blame her, though I have a distinct suspicion that if word trickled in that some right-wing thugs were out to dispose of her, she would place hurried calls to every undercover agency in town. However, what I personally find amusing in an ironic sort of way is that it was a left-wing thug who started Army Intelligence reading my mail back in 1943.

It is really quite funny in retrospect. I was a militant, anti-Stalinist social democrat shipped off to an Army Air Force base in the South. Most of the guys in the barracks were wholly non-political, but there was another Brooklynite with whom I soon struck up an acquaintance. Inside of half an hour, I knew he was a Stalinist and he knew I was a social democrat. What I didn't know was that he was the barrack's fink. Once a month he sent a letter to a drop in a nearby town informing intelligence of any subversive goings-on in our dank palace.

Shortly thereafter I was summoned to Base Intelligence, marched into the G-2's office, and put through an interrogation. It was initially ominous — I was given the Articles of War equivalent of the 5th Amendment warning that I could not be forced to incriminate myself — and then the farce began. I was handed a list of organizations and asked to check those to which I belonged (one of them was the "Mennonites" — presumably a religious group that had gone into shaving cream). I beonged to none. Undaunted, the Base Intelligence Officer asked me if I subscribed to the Socialist "Call," Dwight Macdonald's "Politics," "The New Leader," "Common Sense" and several other democratic socialist of liberal publications. I said "Yes," but added (politely — as I had visions of that sticky net called "military justice" snatching me like a butterfly), "So what? They're not on any list."

Then came the revelation. The G-2, an AAF captain (a navigator, as I learned from my private sources, who had been grounded for fear of flying), asked me in a deep, Deep Southern accent, "Sergeant, are you a Nazi-Trotskyist wrecker?" (He was reading the lines carefully and mauled the pronunciation of "Trotskyite.") For me the light went on: There was only one man on that base besides myself who knew Leon Trotsky from Benito Juarez, and he was my friendly local Stalinist. I filed that for later use and allowed, politely, as how I didn't know what a "Nazi-Trotskyite wrecker" was. Would he please give me the job specifications? At this point, the interrogation was terminated.

I didn't hear any more out of the grounded navigator. But then it became apparent that they were reading my mail: Everything showed up days late, the resealing was clumsy, and corners had been turned down on the pages of magazines. I immediately took the offensive. Not on moral grounds — I didn't get any mail worth reading except letters from my parents which could have been published in the newspapers — but purely from sadistic motives. I took out three-month introductory subscriptions to every nut magazine in the United States ("special rate for our men in the service") and waited for them to pour in.

Within about a month, the corporal, who was G-2's reader of "subversive mail, was utterly swamped. By coincidence he also lived in the same barracks as me and the fink and, of course, wasn't supposed to know anything about this operation. So I made it a practice to stop him every two or three days and say, "Look, if there is a perfumed letter there from a gal named Cecelia in Forest Hills, will you please read it right away — you can save the other stuff till later." There was no Cecelia, but he had the decency invariably to blush. In this world, that struck me as about the best one could expect. You take your breaks where you find them.

Chicago To Host Major Claude Monet Exhibit

CHICAGO (AP) — The work of Claude Monet, the artist who invented impressionism, will be shown in a major exhibition at the Art Institute of Chicago starting Saturday.

Accepted as one of the most original painters in the history of fine art, Monet painted bright, beautiful canvases which now rarely evoke anything other than awe and admiration.

During his lifetime, 1840-1926, he painted some 6,000 pictures.

The Art Institute's exhibition, displays 120 major examples from this extraordinary output, including the 32 Monets in its own famous collection of impressionists.

Other canvases for this show, continuing through May 11, were loaned by museums and private collections in the United States and Europe.

Such exhibitions as this one are becoming increasingly rare because of the costs of insurance and shipping and the reluctance of owners to loan their pictures.

The Monet pictures are conservatively valued at more than $40 million, and the museum is spending $185,000 — mostly for insurance and transportation — on the show. The cost is lower than usual because so many of the pictures are owned by the museum.

The most recent comparable show at the Art Institute, devoted to Renoir, was mounted in 1973 and drew 337,000 visitors in two months.

Museum officials say attendance at the Monet exhibition is expected to approach or exceed that figure.

The Art Institute's exhibition, displays 120 major examples from this extraordinary output, including the 32 Monets in its own famous collection of impressionists.

Other canvases for this show, continuing through May 11, were loaned by museums and private collections in the United States and Europe.

Such exhibitions as this one are becoming increasingly rare because of the costs of insurance and shipping and the reluctance of owners to loan their pictures.

The Monet pictures are conservatively valued at more than $40 million, and the museum is spending $185,000 — mostly for insurance and transportation — on the show. The cost is lower than usual because so many of the pictures are owned by the museum.

The most recent comparable show at the Art Institute, devoted to Renoir, was mounted in 1973 and drew 337,000 visitors in two months.

Museum officials say attendance at the Monet exhibition is expected to approach or exceed that figure.

Vatican, Marxists, U.S. Blamed For Food Crunch

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Nutrition expert Jean Mayer put part of the blame for the current world food shortage on the Vatican and Marxist nations Thursday and criticized the United States for not taking a larger part in helping starving nations.

Mayer, a professor of nutrition at Harvard, made the remarks in a speech at the University of Michigan during a Food Week observance, sponsored by the Food Action Coalition.

"The Vatican is unconcerned with every conceivable method of birth control that works," Mayer said, adding overpopulation as a cause of food shortages is denied by both the Vatican and Marxist countries.

Mayer said Marxists claim those who believe overpopulation causes the problem is an advocate of "imperialist genocide." One exception, he said, is in populous Communist China, where birth control is widely used.

In general, he blamed a poor crop yield in 1972 and the deepening oil crisis "at a rate the world cannot absorb" for the food shortage. He added "exhaustion of the seas as a source of food" also contributes to the shortage, and he called oil tankers "ecological bombs."

Mayer was critical of the United States for entering the recent World Food Conference in Rome, to which he was a delegate, without a concrete plan. He said the U.S. should have promised more food aid as a lever to pry additional assistance from other nations. Mayer added the U.S. has since sent more food to starving nations than it promised, but blamed Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz for blocking the promise of larger amounts.

Mayer said solutions to the food shortage include increasing world fertilizer production and improving irrigation systems. He also said more land should be devoted to farming, called for more storage silos and urged the formation of cooperative farms.

"It has worked in other countries," he said of the cooperative plan which he said prevents "the rich from becoming richer."

In the U.S., he said, "the situation for the poor is statistically very much better than it was five years ago."

But he said those with low, stable incomes "are reluctant to take advantage of social programs," contributing to what he called the deterioration of the class.

"The problem is one of social work and outreach rather than lack of programs per se," Mayer said.

Mayer also criticized the increased use of packaged and processed foods, saying their contents can contribute to cardiovascular disease and hypertension.

'Costly' Farm Bill Debate Due

WASHINGTON (AP) — A farm price-support bill the Ford administration opposes as costly to consumers is expected to arouse heated debate when it comes to the House floor next week. Administration economists say support increases contained in the bill would translate into retail-price boosts of 8 cents a gallon for milk, 20 cents a pound for butter and 10 cents a pound for cheese. By an 11 to 5 vote Thursday, the House Rules Committee cleared the measure and placed no restrictions on floor amendments.

Auto Shutdowns Idling 13,900

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors and Chrysler Corp., which had no plant shutdowns or temporary layoffs this week, together are shutting four assembly operations Monday and idling 13,900 workers for the week.

However, Chrysler said Thursday that it has recalled 2,200 hourly workers from indefinite layoff this week, reducing its open-ended furloughs to 46,100.

Last Friday, the firm had 48,300 of its 114,000 production workers on indefinite layoff.

American Motors said Thursday it is adding another 355 employes to indefinite layoff this month, raising its openended furloughs to 1,305 of 22,000 hourly workers.

Meanwhile, for the first time since September, auto production in the United States is up this week from year-earlier levels, according to Automotive News.

The industry trade journal reported production is up 23.7 per cent from last week and 4.6 per cent from the same week a year ago.

Car Sales Top Expectations

DETROIT (AP) — The end of most cash rebate plans apparently did not produce a feared nosedive in new car sales, but deliveries in early March still hit a 14-year low for the period.

Sharp declines at Ford Motor Co. and American Motors offset gains by General Motors and Chrysler, as industry sales for the March 1-10 period dipped 3.4 per cent below the depressed year-ago levels.

Some auto analysts had expected an even poorer peformance in the period, the first since the rebate plans ended at all the companies except Chrysler.

Sales for the period, released on Thursday, were 139,616, compared lith 144,465 a year ago, when big car sales dropped as a result of fuel shortages. For the second consecutive year, early March sales were at their lowest level since 1961.

Sales so far this year were 1,138,025, down 10 per cent from 1,262,572 in 1974.

Sales traditionally begin a spring upturn in March as warm weather and income tax refund checks attract shoppers to dealer showrooms.

Some analysts expected sales to be unusually poor this spring, however, because the rebate plans, which ended Feb. 28, attracted buyers who otherwise may have bought in March, April and May.

Psychic Surgery Tours Banned

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Federal Trade Commission official today ordered three West Coast travel agencies to stop promoting tours to the Philippines for miraculous cures through so-called psychic surgery.

"Psychic surgery is pure and unmitigated fakery. More bluntly, the "surgical operations' of 'psychic surgeons, psychic healers, faith healers, spiritual or spirit healers, magnetic healers,' etc., with their bare hands are simply phony," said Administrative Law Judge Daniel H. Hanscom.

Human Ills Can't Be Tied To Chemical

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state health director said Thursday there have been no human illnesses clearly attributed to people consuming food contaminated by a fire-retardant chemical.

Dr. Maurice Reizen said although state studies are incomplete, "assertions of extensive human physical effects attributable to PBB contamination, in food are clearly premature and unwarranted." PBB is polybrominated biphenyl, which has led to the quarantine and destruction of thousands of animals which ate feed contaminated with it.

Reizen's statement followed several reports that farm families which ate meat from contaminated livestock have begun experiencing illnesses such as fatigue and skin rashes. But he did not say there have been no illnesses from the contamination.

Earlier, a chemical investigator for the Veterans Administration Hospital in Ann Arbor said his independent study of PBB suggests it is more dangerous than state officials have acknowledged.

Dr. Thomas Corbett said lab experiments on test animals indicate the chemical might cause widespread birth defects. He said he had no direct evidence about PBB's effect on birth defects in humans.

"Probably 90 per cent of the state's residents ate products at one time or another containing some quantities of PBB, including hamburgers served up by the fast-food chains. We're all part of a huge experiment," Dr. Corbett said.

A state health official said the state compiles statistics on birth defects but that figures for 1974 will not be available until summer.

After receiving a report from Reizen on Thursday, Gov. William Milliken said the state "has found no pattern of human illness...in farm families with a history of highest exposure to milk or meat contaminated by PBB."

Reviewing the disaster, Milliken also said the state:

—Has disposed of about 12,000 cattle, 2,300 swine, 1,200 sheep and 1.5 million chickens.

Indian Says He Spied For FBI

CHICAGO (AP) — The chief security officer of the militant American Indian Movement has admitted he was a paid informer for the FBI.

Douglass Durham, 37, of Des Moines, Iowa, said Thursday he served as an agent for two years, beginning in March, 1973. He said he was an agent during the 71-day siege at Wounded Knee, S.D., and also passed along trial secrets of AIM leaders and their lawyers.

DOUGLASS DURHAM
Paid Informer

Durham made the admission at a press conference called by AIM leaders, and now says his feelings about AIM have changed.

"AIM is a social organization and is not illegal," he said. "They do not do anything wrong."

AIM attorney Kenneth Tilsen said the fact that the FBI apparently had access to strategy planned for several trials will result in numerous legal motions, since the government contended it had no direct access to such information.

Durham said he was a top aide and close confidante to Dennis Banks, co-leader of AIM with Russell Means. Both were tried in Minneapolis for conspiracy, larceny and assault in connection with the 1973 takeover of Wounded Knee. The charges were dismissed last September.

Durham said his cover was broken Friday when AIM leaders confronted him with documents linking him to the FBI. "It bothers the hell out of me," he said of his undercover career.

Durham said he was paid between $1,000 and $1,200 a month to gather information about travel, foreign involvement and fund raising activities of AIM leaders, as well as their defense strategy in trials. At one time, he said, he delivered to the FBI two rolls of film given him by Banks.

A former Marine, Durham said he joined AIM in Des Moines at the suggestion of FBI agents while working undercover for the Law Enforcement Intelligence Unit. He said the unit was a federally funded information service for local law enforcement agencies which also provided undercover agents to local authorities. He said he had contact with FBI agents in several states.

One FBI agent, David Hedgecock of Des Moines pleaded with him Saturday not to divulge his status with the FBI, Durham said.

His future with AIM is uncertain, he noted, and AIM leaders at the press conference did not elaborate.

"I like them; I don't know what they're going to do about me," he said. Asked if he would continue with AIM, he said, "I don't see how I could."

FBI officials in Minneapolis and R.D. Hurd, chief prosecutor of the AIM trial in Minneapolis and the assistant U.S attorney for South Dakota, said they would have no comment.

Watch For Long Lines

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Only two weeks are left to buy your license plates if you don't have them yet, Secretary of State Richard Austin warned Thursday.

"I expect last minute lines to be monumental," Austin said.

The deadline is March 31, and the mail sale which yielded more than 800,000 registrations is over.

As of March 14, about 3.2 million vehicles had been registered. Last year, 5.4 million were registered by the close of the rush period.

Scientist Hails Rubella Vaccine

NEW YORK (AP) — The use of rubella vaccine has apparently prevented both an expected epidemic of German measles and up to 30,000 birth defects among children whose mothers would have been infected during pregnancy, a scientist reports.

"In financial terms alone, this could mean a saving of an estimated $2 billion to care for damaged children of an epidemic to age 20, says Dr. Louis Z. Cooper of Columbia University.

PRESIDENT: E. Glen Moon, of Stevensville, is new president of Fruitbelt Chapter, Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America. Factory Foreman Lottery Winner

WESTLAND, Mich. (AP) — A factory foreman from Detroit took home the $200,000 top prize in today's regular weekly Bureau of the State Lottery Superdrawing.

Curtis T. Harden, 55, a foreman at McNichols Steel Co. in Detroit, was the big winner among eight contestants who split $325,000 in the lottery superdrawing at Westland Center in this Detroit suburb.

Harden and his wife, Ora, have a son and daughter. Mrs. Harden is employed by the Pepsi Cola Bottling Co.

A Detroit bank teller won $50,000. She is Patricia A. Froh, 22, of St. Clair Shores, who works at the Bank of the Commonwealth in Detroit. Mrs. Froh's husband, Harold, is laid off from Cyrus Engineering in Southfield.

The $25,000 winner was Willard Earl Hardy, 43, of Inkster, an unmarried car painter who works at Art Moral Automobile Dealership in Pontiac.

The five $10,000 winners were:

Robert E. Porter, 53, of Dimondale, a truck driver for C&J Driveaway Inc. of Lansing. Porter's wife, Betty, is a telephone operator at a Lansing law firm. The couple has three children.

Gillerno Garcia, 50, of Pontiac, an unemployed surgical technician with three children.

Edna W. Kirby, 70, of Kalamazoo, who, like her husband, George, is a retired teacher. The Kirbys have two children.

Ralph McNeil, 71, of Mio, who is retired from Chrysler Corp. in Detroit. He and his wife have one child and four grandchildren.

Frances L. Brown of Allen Park.

The first of three shopping bonus drawings for 50-cent tickets also was held. A green ticket dated March 13 and matching any two of the three-digit bonus numbers qualified its holder for a $3,000 gift certificate at any store licensed to sell lottery tickets.

HE'S READY: Dave Matthews, 22, bicycles down Santa Monica boulevard in Los Angeles en route from home in Glendale to work in nearby Santa Monica, a trip of some 20 miles. While he only experienced a heavy drizzle, forecasters said he would have a wetter trip home. (AP Wirephoto)

Slaying Suspect Seeks Hearing

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A Kalamazoo woman, one of five people arrested in connection with the stabbing death of Sarah Towne in Porter township March 6, demanded preliminary examination on a charge of first-degree murder when arraigned yesterday in Seventh district court.

Preliminary examination for Sandy K. Strickler, 21, of Kalamazoo, was scheduled for March 18. She was held without bond at the Kalamazoo state hospital where she is undergoing psychiatric testing.

The body of Miss Towne, 28, of Kalamazoo, was found in an open field at CR-652 and 88th avenue last Friday after a woman who had said she witnessed the slaying led police to the site.

Also charged with murder in the case are Marilyn Cook, 17, her brother, Jarius Cook, 15, Carle Cordell Vaughn, 20, and Joseph Lee Cosby, 19, all of Kalamazoo.

In other cases, William McCoy Brigance, 39, route 1, Gobles, demanded preliminary examination of a charge of receiving stolen property. The preliminary examination was scheduled for March 25 and Brigance lodged in the county jail in lieu of $20,000 bond.

The charge stems from the theft of a car March 6 belonging to Wanda Witt of Plainwell.

Travis Meeks, 48, route 4 South Haven, was bound over to circuit court after waiving preliminary examination on charges of driving under the influence of intoxicants, third offense, Oct. 19 in Keeler township, and absconding on a bond. He is accused of absconding on a $15,000 bond while awaiting trial on the drunk driving charge.

Alvin Leo Mann, 20, route 2, Paw Paw, and Michael Middleton, 18, route 2, Decatur, were both bound over to circuit court after waiving preliminary examination on similar charges of breaking and entering. The two were arrested in connection with a Dec. 20 break-in at Hubb's Country Kitchen restaurant, Bangor township, in which $105 was reported stolen.

Jerry Ann Mead, 34, 609 North Center, Hartford, was bound over to circuit court following preliminary examination on a charge of resisting arrest Feb. 28 in Hartford. She allegedly resisted Officer George Keeler of Hartford police after he attempted to take her into custody on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

John Thrasher, 33, route 1, 35th street, Gobles, was bound over to circuit court following preliminary examination on a charge of resisting arrest. Thrasher is accused of assaulting Troopers Dennis Reinsch and John Kenny after they attempted to arrest him on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants March 2 near Paw Paw.

Charles Reck, 19, 703 Elm, Paw Paw pleaded guilty to an amended charge of larceny. He had been charged with larceny in a building in connection with the theft of a stopwatch Feb. 4 from Paw Paw high school.

Jaworski Aide Urges Vigilance

OLIVET, Mich. (AP) — A Watergate-type scandal could happen again, according to a former assistant Watergate prosecutor.

"There is no way of assuring that it won't happen again, William Merrill told a news conference at Olivet College on Thursday. "And as soon as you believe you've set up a system that could prevent it you are in trouble, because then you are lulling yourself into a false sense of security.

"The only way to prevent it is for people to care enough to preserve what we have, to keep the pressure on the elected officials."

Former President Richard Nixon was close to being indicted for his part in the Watergate scandals but was saved by President Ford's pardon, Merrill said.

Nixon's possible future involvement in public life "frightens" him, Merrill added.

He said the scandals were "something more, much more dangerous than the lack of moral leadership: (Watergate) was the presence of a moral and immoral leadership."

"Those things he did not actualy approve or know of in advance...I came to the conclusion he had created the kind of atmosphere that those people working for him were encouraged to conduct such type of activities," Merrill said.

Merrill, who has practiced law in Detroit for some 25 years, was chief assistant U.S. attorney in Detroit in the early 1960s.

If U. S. Sen. Phillip Hart does not seek re-election, Merrill said, he would be tempted to run for public office.

Bill Would Fix Salaries

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The salaries of of township officials could not be reduced during their term in office under a bill the House has passed and sent to the Senate.

The bill was approved 100-0 and given immediate effect.

It also would prohibit townships from raising officials' salaries within 60 days of an election.

The bill was introduced by Rep. Calude Trim, D-Daisburg.

Lake Drill 'Inevitable'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Natural Resources Commission has refused to grant a Canadian firm permission to explore for oil and gas beneath Michigan's Great Lakes waters.

At the same time, however, the seven commissioners and state Natural Resources Director Howard Tanner conceded they believe it is only a matter of time before oil companies start drilling under the Great Lakes.

Kenting Exploration Services Ltd. had asked for permission to conduct seismic studies to chart Michigan waters in Lakes Erie, Michigan and Huron. The firm, which is based in Calgary, Alta., said it would sell the information to oil companies for $1.25 million.

Tanner said that, without objection from the commission, he would turn down the request because of the commission's policy against allowing oil drilling in the state's 40,000 square miles under the lakes.

House Approves Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed by a slim, 11-vote margin a $3.5-billion appropriation bill for foreign aid and related programs, after rejecting pleas for both higher and lower amounts.

One FBI agent, David Hedgecock of Des Moines pleaded with him Saturday not to divulge his status with the FBI, Durham said.

His future with AIM is uncertain, he noted, and AIM leaders at the press conference did not elaborate.

"I like them; I don't know what they're going to do about me," he said. Asked if he would continue with AIM, he said, "I don't see how I could."

FBI officials in Minneapolis and R.D. Hurd, chief prosecutor of the AIM trial in Minneapolis and the assistant U.S attorney for South Dakota, said they would have no comment.

Watch For Long Lines

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Only two weeks are left to buy your license plates if you don't have them yet, Secretary of State Richard Austin warned Thursday.

"I expect last minute lines to be monumental," Austin said.

The deadline is March 31, and the mail sale which yielded more than 800,000 registrations is over.

As of March 14, about 3.2 million vehicles had been registered. Last year, 5.4 million were registered by the close of the rush period.

Scientist Hails Rubella Vaccine

NEW YORK (AP) — The use of rubella vaccine has apparently prevented both an expected epidemic of German measles and up to 30,000 birth defects among children whose mothers would have been infected during pregnancy, a scientist reports.

In financial terms alone, this could mean a saving of an estimated $2 billion to care for damaged children of an epidemic to age 20, says Dr. Louis Z. Cooper of Columbia University.

Slaying Suspect Seeks Hearing

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A Kalamazoo woman, one of five people arrested in connection with the stabbing death of Sarah Towne in Porter township March 6, demanded preliminary examination on a charge of first-degree murder when arraigned yesterday in Seventh district court.

Preliminary examination for Sandy K. Strickler, 21, of Kalamazoo, was scheduled for March 18. She was held without bond at the Kalamazoo state hospital where she is undergoing psychiatric testing.

The body of Miss Towne, 28, of Kalamazoo, was found in an open field at CR-652 and 88th avenue last Friday after a woman who had said she witnessed the slaying led police to the site.

Also charged with murder in the case are Marilyn Cook, 17, her brother, Jarius Cook, 15, Carle Cordell Vaughn, 20, and Joseph Lee Cosby, 19, all of Kalamazoo.

In other cases, William McCoy Brigance, 39, route 1, Gobles, demanded preliminary examination of a charge of receiving stolen property. The preliminary examination was scheduled for March 25 and Brigance lodged in the county jail in lieu of $20,000 bond.

The charge stems from the theft of a car March 6 belonging to Wanda Witt of Plainwell.

Travis Meeks, 48, route 4 South Haven, was bound over to circuit court after waiving preliminary examination on charges of driving under the influence of intoxicants, third offense, Oct. 19 in Keeler township, and absconding on a bond. He is accused of absconding on a $15,000 bond while awaiting trial on the drunk driving charge.

Alvin Leo Mann, 20, route 2, Paw Paw, and Michael Middleton, 18, route 2, Decatur, were both bound over to circuit court after waiving preliminary examination on similar charges of breaking and entering. The two were arrested in connection with a Dec. 20 break-in at Hubb's Country Kitchen restaurant, Bangor township, in which $105 was reported stolen.

Jerry Ann Mead, 34, 609 North Center, Hartford, was bound over to circuit court following preliminary examination on a charge of resisting arrest Feb. 28 in Hartford. She allegedly resisted Officer George Keeler of Hartford police after he attempted to take her into custody on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

John Thrasher, 33, route 1, 35th street, Gobles, was bound over to circuit court following preliminary examination on a charge of resisting arrest. Thrasher is accused of assaulting Troopers Dennis Reinsch and John Kenny after they attempted to arrest him on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants March 2 near Paw Paw.

Charles Reck, 19, 703 Elm, Paw Paw pleaded guilty to an amended charge of larceny. He had been charged with larceny in a building in connection with the theft of a stopwatch Feb. 4 from Paw Paw high school.

Jaworski Aide Urges Vigilance

OLIVET, Mich. (AP) — A Watergate-type scandal could happen again, according to a former assistant Watergate prosecutor.

"There is no way of assuring that it won't happen again, William Merrill told a news conference at Olivet College on Thursday. "And as soon as you believe you've set up a system that could prevent it you are in trouble, because then you are lulling yourself into a false sense of security.

"The only way to prevent it is for people to care enough to preserve what we have, to keep the pressure on the elected officials."

Former President Richard Nixon was close to being indicted for his part in the Watergate scandals but was saved by President Ford's pardon, Merrill said.

Nixon's possible future involvement in public life "frightens" him, Merrill added.

He said the scandals were "something more, much more dangerous than the lack of moral leadership. (Watergate) was the presence of a moral and immoral leadership."

"Those things he did not actualy approve or know of in advance...I came to the conclusion he had created the kind of atmosphere that those people working for him were encouraged to conduct such type of activities," Merrill said.

Merrill, who has practiced law in Detroit for some 25 years, was chief assistant U.S. attorney in Detroit in the early 1960s.

If U. S. Sen. Phillip Hart does not seek re-election, Merrill said, he would be tempted to run for public office.

Lake Drill 'Inevitable'

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Natural Resources Commission has refused to grant a Canadian firm permission to explore for oil and gas beneath Michigan's Great Lakes waters.

At the same time, however, the seven commissioners and state Natural Resources Director Howard Tanner conceded they believe it is only a matter of time before oil companies start drilling under the Great Lakes.

Kenting Exploration Services Ltd. had asked for permission to conduct seismic studies to chart Michigan waters in Lakes Erie, Michigan and Huron. The firm, which is based in Calgary, Alta., said it would sell the information to oil companies for $1.25 million.

Tanner said that, without objection from the commission, he would turn down the request because of the commission's policy against allowing oil drilling in the state's 40,000 square miles under the lakes.

House Approves Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed by a slim, 11-vote margin a $3.5-billion appropriation bill for foreign aid and related programs, after rejecting pleas for both higher and lower amounts.

The measure, for spending during the current fiscal year ending June 30, was sent to the Senate after the 212 to 201 approval Thursday. It is $2.5 billion below what the Ford administration requested and $2.3 billion less than was appropriated last year.

Cass County's 'Farmer Don' Hurt In Crash

CASSOPOLIS — Donald L. Marlin, Cass county commissioner and former professional wrestler, was injured yesterday in a two-car crash three miles west of here in Cass county's LaGrange township.

Marlin, 56, of 2995 Detroit road, Niles, was listed in satisfactory condition this morning at Pawating hospital, Niles. Marlin five years ago underwent surgery twice and had both his legs amputated due to complications from frozen toes.

Last November, he was elected Cass county commissioner from the 5th district on the Democratic ticket.

Marlin, former Howard township supervisor, was well known as a professional wrestler "Farmer Don" for over 25 years, and at one time was professional heavyweight wrestling champion of Michigan.

Cass sheriff's deputies said the accident occurred around 5:15 p.m. when a car attempting to pass another car on M-60 and the Marlin auto took to the same shoulder of the road to avoid a crash, but hit head-on.

According to deputies, the auto attempting to pass was driven by Harold Ferguson, 57, of Portage. Ferguson was treated and released from Pawating hospital. Marlin was driving his own auto. There were no passengers in either auto.

No tickets were issued, according to deputies.

Three Men Plead Guilty In Slaying

DETROIT (AP) — Three men accused of murdering an elderly couple as they called police for help have pleaded guilty to second-degree murder.

Jeffrey Dorsey, 23, Joseph Thomas, 20, and Charles Perkins, 26, face maximum sentences of life in prison and are not eligible for probation. The men originally were charged with first-degree murder but prosecutor Ron Schigur said the charges were reduced because the case against Perkins was weak.

The three were accused of killing Clifton Ledbetter, 58, and his wife Lee, 54, and admitted before Recorder's Court Judge James Del Rio they took part in the Dec. 6 slayings.

Officers said the Ledbetters came home and found their dog killed and their house being ransacked, and called police. A police operator heard the shots that killed the couple, but said she believed they were sounds from a hammering, delaying police response.

Dorsey lived next door to the couple.

How They Faced Up To Music

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Before the House got down to the grueling task of debating and voting on the income tax increase bill they heard some music to sooth their nerves.

Six high school musicians from the greater Lansing area played violins and horns and sang for nearly an hour in a reminder to legislators to continue funding for school music programs.

The Senate was invited to sit in the House and listen. Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, who addressed the House, said jokingly "I'm sure this very soothing and comforting music will assist you during your tax deliberations."

Although most legislators appeared too shy to sing along with the students, some did clap their hands and a few appeared to be singing — softly.

After the concert ended, Rep. James O'Neill, D-Saginaw, associate speaker pro tem, said with a smile, "Now we are ready to face the music."

The House proceeded to debate and then pass, 59-42, the bill raising the personal income tax seven-tenths of one per cent, from 3.9 per cent to 4.6 per cent. The bill goes to the Senate.

Fight Continues Over Tax Hike

point-seven."

Some committee members have criticized any income tax boost. Chairman John Bowman, D-Roseville, says the state should cut corners and tax services instead.

The House vote showed the majority Democrats and minority Republicans produced about their proportionate share of votes for passage. Twenty-two Republicans and 37 Democrats voted for the bill.

Only one of nine major amendments offered as an addition to the bill passed. It deleted a section which would have taken the tax exemption from state employes' retirement pensions. At present, those pensions remain tax-exempt.

"The time has come to find out who has any backbone," shouted Rep. Dominic Jacobetti, chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee which helps oversee state spending, as the vote neared.

"I don't think the seven-tenths is going to be enough money to take care of the problems this state is facing. If we don't have a general upturn in the coming year's economy, you're going to be confronted next year with another tax proposal," the Negaunee Democrat added.

Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, chief sponsor of the bill, repeated Milliken's contention that it is strictly a replacement for revenue lost by voter repeal of the sales tax on food and drugs last November.

"Nobody ever said it was easy to be here," he added. "Even with seven-tenths, every penny that can be taken out of the budget has to be taken out," he said.

House Speaker Bobby Crim, D-Davison, and Minority Leader Dennis Cawthorne, R-Manistee, also gave pep talks for the bill.

"We have to have the seven-tenths to balance the budget and meet human service needs for the state at this time," Crim said.

"Rejection of this bill would mean chaos in our schools and in human services," Cawthorne warned.

Republicans claimed earlier that the income tax is progressive and fair enough as is and they would not support so-called progressivity amendments or increases above seven-tenths.

Many of the unsuccessful amendments offered were designed to do those two things. One would have raised the income tax to 4.9 per cent and increased the personal exemption from $1,500 to $1,750; another would have raised the tax to 5.3 per cent and provide a schedule of tax credits for low and middle-income taxpayers. Various property tax relief amendments were offered and defeated.

"I sat here today and voted against some progressive amendments because I knew that if the amendments were adopted the votes were not here or across the aisle in the Senate to pass the bill," Crim said.

pass the bill," Crim said.

"It is our sincere desire and intention in 1976 to do major surgery to the state structure in this state and give property tax relief and progressivity to the whole structure," he added.

Another amendment that lost would have given voters a chance to reinstate the sales tax on food and drugs and remove the need for an income tax hike.

The tax increase bill is part of Milliken's proposed $3 billion budget for 1975-1976. Approaching legislative action is another bill to replace eight business taxes with one business privilege tax.

offensive to the whole community."

Bruha said the U.S. Supreme court guidelines established in 1973 for regulating obscene material include that taken as a whole, the material must appeal to the purient interest to the local community, be patently offensive, as expressly defined by state law and and lack serious literary, artistic, scientific and political value.

However, this did not solve the problem because cases are continually being heard by the appeals court he added.

Questions arising from the federal court ruling are determining what is a local community and what is its standard.

FBI Questions Basketball Star

with her.

Weiner, who worked as a college student intern in Newsday's sports department, told the newspaper before his grand jury testimony that he had been questioned by the FBI. The newspaper said it also learned that two other writers who had done stories about Walton had been questioned by the FBI.

The paper quoted one of the writers, Phil Shinnick, as saying, "They asked me about my association with Jack. That's as far as it went because I told them I had no comment." Newsday said the other writer, Michael Kaufman, also refused to talk with the FBI.

A story about Walton by Shinnick, a former long-jumper on the U.S. Olympics team, appeared Feb. 26 in the Guardian, a New York weekly. Kaufman's story is scheduled for an upcoming issue of Crawdaddy magazine.

Newsday, which contacted Weiner at his brother's Philadelphia home, quoted him after his testimony Thursday as saying, "I am not a member of the SLA. I've never been a member of the SLA."

Asked about his association with Scott, the paper quoted Weiner as saying, "I'm sorry, but I couldn't tell you."

The grand jury was called in Pennsylvania after reports that Miss Hearst and the Harrises may have hidden out in a farm house in South Canaan. State police said the FBI examined the house Thursday and questioned several residents of the Pocono foothills community.

Henry Kalinowski, sheriff of Wayne County, said he received an FBI flyer in January stating that Miss Hearst and the Harrises were believed to be hiding in the area. He said Miss Hearst, now 21, "was supposed to be pregnant or pretending to be pregnant."

Mrs. Louis Prati, who lives a few miles from the house, said two men and two women stayed in the two-story frame structure about six weeks, "leaving the second or third week of September."

Mrs. Prati, 24, said one of the men told her his name was Allen and that he was from Ohio. She said the man told her "they were here with a writer, a sports writer from Ohio."

After they left, she said she saw a note to the landlord on the door of the house. She said the note was signed "Micki."

Mrs. Prati described the women as a "very pretty" Oriental and a redhead with "freckles all over her."

Published reports in several newspapers have said that Miss Hearst had short blonde hair and freckles at the time she stayed in the area.

The San Francisco Examiner said that Miss Hearst's fingerprints and those of three other persons were found at the farmhouse in October. The newspaper quoted sources as saying Miss Hearst, the Harrises and a fourth person identified as Wendy Misako Yoshimura of Berkeley, Calif., had headed back to the West Coast after leaving Pennsylvania.

Miss Yoshimura is being sought for an investigation of a conspiracy to bomb the Navy ROTC headquarters at the University of California in Berkeley.

Miss Hearst was last heard from June 7, 1974, when she sent a taped message to the news media stating that she had fallen in love with a slain SLA member she called "Cujo," believed to be William L. Wolfe.

Wolfe was one of six SLA members who were killed in a shootout with police at Los Angeles on May 17, 1974.

He was a native of Emmaus, Pa., about 65 miles from South Canaan.

Miss Hearst's father issued a statement from his San Francisco apartment Thursday saying he was aware of the FBI investigation and the grand jury session. But he said he had little hope of locating his daughter through the Pennsylvania farm house connection because authorities were "on a cold trail."

U.S. Attorney John Cottone said in Harrisburg, "I don't expect any arrests in the near future. The FBI still has a lot of investigating to do."

BH Man Is Held In Slaying Of Vietnam Veteran

A Benton Harbor man was arrested Thursday on a charge of manslaughter in the stabbing death of Spencer Sesson during a fight on March 1, Benton township police reported.

Booked and lodged at the county jail was Otis Ray Harris, 20, of Ohio street, Benton Harbor. A warrant had been issued for the arrest of Harris, police said.

Sesson, 23, was stabbed during a fight at 1054 East Main street, Benton township. He had served as a medical corpsman in Vietnam. Sesson formerly lived in Benton township but most recently had lived in Chicago.

Township police Capt. Paul Farris said three other men were being sought on warrants charging manslaughter in the stabbing.

Andrew Novikoff, chief investigator for the Berrien prosecutor's office, recalled that 10 years ago this month Otis Ray Harris was a witness in the disappearance of Diane Carter, 7, a victim in the area's triple murder case.

Diane Carter disappeared March 30, 1965. Her body and bodies of two other females were found April 4, 1965, in a pine grove in Bainbridge township.

Novikoff recalled that Otis Ray Harris, then 10, told police he saw a tall man carry Diane down an alley off Fair avenue on March 30. The triple murders remained unsolved until 1971 when then Prosecutor Ronald J. Taylor closed the books on the case, saying a man imprisoned in Illinois was responsible for the killings here.

Cass County's 'Farmer Don' Hurt In Crash

CASSOPOLIS — Donald L. Marlin, Cass county commissioner and former professional wrestler, was injured yesterday in a two-car crash three miles west of here in Cass county's LaGrange township.

Marlin, 56, of 2995 Detroit road, Niles, was listed in satisfactory condition this morning at Pawating hospital, Niles. Marlin five years ago underwent surgery twice and had both his legs amputated due to complications from frozen toes.

Last November, he was elected Cass county commissioner from the 5th district on the Democratic ticket.

Marlin, former Howard township supervisor, was well known as a professional wrestler "Farmer Don" for over 25 years, and at one time was professional heavyweight wrestling champion of Michigan.

Cass sheriff's deputies said the accident occurred around 5:15 p.m. when a car attempting to pass another car on M-60 and the Marlin auto took to the same shoulder of the road to avoid a crash, but hit head-on.

According to deputies, the auto attempting to pass was driven by Harold Ferguson, 57, of Portage. Ferguson was treated and released from Pawating hospital. Marlin was driving his own auto. There were no passengers in either auto.

No tickets were issued, according to deputies.

Three Men Plead Guilty In Slaying

DETROIT (AP) — Three men accused of murdering an elderly couple as they called police for help have pleaded guilty to second-degree murder.

Jeffrey Dorsey, 23, Joseph Thomas, 20, and Charles Perkins, 26, face maximum sentences of life in prison and are not eligible for probation. The men originally were charged with first-degree murder but prosecutor Ron Schigur said the charges were reduced because the case against Perkins was weak.

The three were accused of killing Clifton Ledbetter, 58, and his wife Lee, 54, and admitted before Recorder's Court Judge James Del Rio they took part in the Dec. 6 slayings.

Officers said the Ledbetters came home and found their dog killed and their house being ransacked, and called police. A police operator heard the shots that killed the couple, but said she believed they were sounds from a hammering, delaying police response.

Dorsey lived next door to the couple.

point-seven."

Some committee members have criticized any income tax boost. Chairman John Bowman, D-Roseville, says the state should cut corners and tax services instead.

The House vote showed the majority Democrats and minority Republicans produced about their proportionate share of votes for passage. Twenty-two Republicans and 37 Democrats voted for the bill.

Only one of nine major amendments offered as an addition to the bill passed. It deleted a section which would have taken the tax exemption from state employes' retirement pensions. At present, those pensions remain tax-exempt.

"The time has come to find out who has any backbone," shouted Rep. Dominic Jacobetti, chairman of the powerful House Appropriations Committee which helps oversee state spending, as the vote neared.

"I don't think the seven-tenths is going to be enough money to take care of the problems this state is facing. If we don't have a general upturn in the coming year's economy, you're going to be confronted next year with another tax proposal," the Negaunee Democrat added.

Rep. Roy Spencer, R-Attica, chief sponsor of the bill, repeated Milliken's contention that it is strictly a replacement for revenue lost by voter repeal of the sales tax on food and drugs last November.

"Nobody ever said it was easy to be here," he added. "Even with seven-tenths, every penny that can be taken out of the budget has to be taken out," he said.

House Speaker Bobby Crim, D-Davison, and Minority Leader Dennis Cawthorne, R-Manistee, also gave pep talks for the bill.

"We have to have the seven-tenths to balance the budget and meet human service needs for the state at this time," Crim said.

"Rejection of this bill would mean chaos in our schools and in human services," Cawthorne warned.

Republicans claimed earlier that the income tax is progressive and fair enough as is and they would not support so-called progressivity amendments or increases above seven-tenths.

Many of the unsuccessful amendments offered were designed to do those two things. One would have raised the income tax to 4.9 per cent and increased the personal exemption from $1,500 to $1,750; another would have raised the tax to 5.3 per cent and provide a schedule of tax credits for low and middle-income taxpayers. Various property tax relief amendments were offered and defeated.

"I sat here today and voted against some progressive amendments because I knew that if the amendments were adopted the votes were not here or across the aisle in the Senate to pass the bill," Crim said.

pass the bill," Crim said.

"It is our sincere desire and intention in 1976 to do major surgery to the state structure in this state and give property tax relief and progressivity to the whole structure," he added.

Another amendment that lost would have given voters a chance to reinstate the sales tax on food and drugs and remove the need for an income tax hike.

The tax increase bill is part of Milliken's proposed $3 billion budget for 1975-1976. Approaching legislative action is another bill to replace eight business taxes with one business privilege tax.

How They Faced Up To Music

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Before the House got down to the grueling task of debating and voting on the income tax increase bill they heard some music to sooth their nerves.

Six high school musicians from the greater Lansing area played violins and horns and sang for nearly an hour in a reminder to legislators to continue funding for school music programs.

The Senate was invited to sit in the House and listen. Senate Majority Leader William Fitzgerald, D-Detroit, who addressed the House, said jokingly "I'm sure this very soothing and comforting music will assist you during your tax deliberations."

Although most legislators appeared too shy to sing along with the students, some did clap their hands and a few appeared to be singing — softly.

After the concert ended, Rep. James O'Neill, D-Saginaw, associate speaker pro tem, said with a smile, "Now we are ready to face the music."

The House proceeded to debate and then pass, 59-42, the bill raising the personal income tax seven-tenths of one per cent, from 3.9 per cent to 4.6 per cent. The bill goes to the Senate.

Bruha said the U.S. Supreme court guidelines established in 1973 for regulating obscene material include that taken as a whole, the material must appeal to the purient interest to the local community, be patently offensive, as expressly defined by state law and and lack serious literary, artistic, scientific and political value.

However, this did not solve the problem because cases are continually being heard by the appeals court he added.

Questions arising from the federal court ruling are determining what is a local community and what is its standard.

Weiner, who worked as a college student intern in Newsday's sports department, told the newspaper before his grand jury testimony that he had been questioned by the FBI. The newspaper said it also learned that two other writers who had done stories about Walton had been questioned by the FBI.

The paper quoted one of the writers, Phil Shinnick, as saying, "They asked me about my association with Jack. That's as far as it went because I told them I had no comment." Newsday said the other writer, Michael Kaufman, also refused to talk with the FBI.

A story about Walton by Shinnick, a former long-jumper on the U.S. Olympics team, appeared Feb. 26 in the Guardian, a New York weekly. Kaufman's story is scheduled for an upcoming issue of Crawdaddy magazine.

Newsday, which contacted Weiner at his brother's Philadelphia home, quoted him after his testimony Thursday as saying, "I am not a member of the SLA. I've never been a member of the SLA."

Asked about his association with Scott, the paper quoted Weiner as saying, "I'm sorry, but I couldn't tell you."

The grand jury was called in Pennsylvania after reports that Miss Hearst and the Harrises may have hidden out in a farm house in South Canaan. State police said the FBI examined the house Thursday and questioned several residents of the Pocono foothills community.

Henry Kalinowski, sheriff of Wayne County, said he received an FBI flyer in January stating that Miss Hearst and the Harrises were believed to be hiding in the area. He said Miss Hearst, now 21, "was supposed to be pregnant or pretending to be pregnant."

Mrs. Louis Prati, who lives a few miles from the house, said two men and two women stayed in the two-story frame strueture about six weeks, "leaving the second or third week of September."

Mrs. Prati, 24, said one of the men told her his name was Allen and that he was from Ohio. She said the man told her "they were here with a writer, a sports writer from Ohio."

MARSHALL — It took the No. 1 team in the state to end an impressive Galien season.

Top-rated Detroit East Catholic and its two tall all-staters knocked a young and courageous band of Gaels out of the tournaments 70-54 in the Class D quarterfinals here Thursday night.

The game was much closer than the score indicates, with Galien battling back from a huge second period deficit behind little guard Dale Luther to trail by just five in the third quarter and by only seven early in the final stanza.

But the likes of 6-7 Greg Guye and 6-5 Mike Walton proved too much for Galien to handle, especially on the boards where the Crusaders picked up numerous second and third shots while posting a decisive 53 to 33 rebounding edge.

East Catholic, now 22-4, also posted a nifty 49 per cent field goal shooting mark while advancing to Saturday afternoon's semifinal game against 10th ranked Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart at the Lansing Civic Center.

Guye, a two-time all-stater, finished with 15 points and 17 rebounds while Walton added 17 tallies on seven for 14 shooting. Gary Robertson — just 5-11 — also proved to be a thorn for Galien by penetrating the lane numerous times while netting a team-high 18 points.

"They're good...you don't see many Class D teams that look like that," admitted Galien coach Mike Heckathorn, "at least I haven't in a number of years."

Galien bowed out at 20-5 on the season with the state's No. 22 ranking as Luther matched Robertson for scoring honors with 18 points, including all of his field goals in the second half on seven for nine shooting.

Don Kooy and Craig Schau, who joined Luther and Mike Kuntz as junior starters, added 13 and 12 points, respectively. But the Gaels shot at just 33 per cent for the game, including a frigid 27 per cent first half mark.

Galien trailed 22-9 after the first quarter on four for 16 shooting and saw the deficit slip to 29-11 early in the second quarter before making a comeback.

The Gaels posted scoring advantages the middle two periods while being outrebounded by just one and trailed 37-26 at halftime and 51-42 entering the last quarter.

"They are the No. 1 team and we were a little tense...I think that was obvious," commented Heckathorn on the early minutes of the game.

"I think we were awed by their size. After that we played competitive basketball, I'm real proud of our effort the last three quarters."

Heckathorn had special praise for Luther — "he got us rolling again" — and second thoughts about not using an effective 2-2-1 zone press earlier.

"Maybe looking back at it we should have gone with it right at the beginning," explained Heckathorn on the defense which played a role in East Catholic's 24 turnovers — Galien had 16.

Luther hit four of five shots in the third quarter and cut the East Catholic lead to 45-40 with 2:21 left in the period. He also hit his first three shots of the final quarter to make the score 55-48 with 5:49 left in the game.

But from that point the Crusaders pulled away by netting 15 of the last 21 points. Their 70-52 lead in the closing seconds matched the biggest advantage of the night. The Gaels never led.

Heckathorn thought part of his Galien's poor shooting was the result of having "one heck of a time getting inside" against Catholic's big people.

The Gaels had two fatal dry spells. They missed seven shots while going scoreless for almost four minutes the first quarter and failed on their first 10 attempts of the second period while not getting a field goal over a span of more than four minutes. And when it didn't make much difference, they got just one field goal in the last 3½ minutes of the game.

East Catholic coach Dave Soules gave Galien credit for "hustle and working hard" but said his team "looked terrible....I thought we stunk."

"We are suffering from not playing any real good 'D' teams since DePorres (rated No. 2)," he continued while noting that except forDePorres, Galien was the only team in the tournament where his reserves haven't played the whole last quarter.

East Catholic compiled its 49 per cent shooting mark by swishing 33 of 68 while Galien got its 33 per cent mark by connecting on only 23 of 69. The Crusaders were four for six in free throws and the Gaels eight of 10.

East Catholic may be No. 1 in the poll but it couldn't compare to Galien in fan support. Gael followers filled one side of the gym while the Crusader contingent on the opposite side probably numbered less than 100.

"I'm very gratified by the support we got from not only Galien fans but also from surrounding communities," concluded Heckathorn.

Cass Cannons Boom In Shootout Victory

Rangers Gain Class C Semifinals, 85-83

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

KENTWOOD — Boom-...boom...boom!

That's the sound the Cassopolis cannon made unloading a salvo of points in the third quarter of the Class C quarterfinal shoot-out here Thursday night.

Cass gunners hauled out the heavy artillery in the third period to outscore Muskegon Christian 28-15 and then held off several late desperate Warrior thrusts to earn a 85-83 win in a furious offensive battle at the East Kentwood gym.

The Rangers, down by four at the half, zapped in their first five shots of the second half, nine of their first 10 and ended with 13 of 18 (72 per cent) to build their decisive margin.

Now it's on to Lansing for the Rangers and their faithful band of followers.

Cass, building a full head of steam with nine wins in a row, will take on Hamtramck St. Florian (21-5) Saturday starting at 7 p.m. at the Lansing Civic Center.

The Rangers (23-3), who have won their last three games by a total of 7 points become the first area team to go as far as the tournament semifinals since 971 when Covert took the Class D state championship.

Maybe St. Florian can quiet the bursting Cass guns-...Muskegon Christian, an experienced tourney team which prides itself on its defense, sure couldn't cool the Rangers' firing Thursday.

Bob Follett's gang, averaging 80.7 points a game, finished with a 51 per cent shooting average, 56 per cent over the last half, while putting all five starters in double figures.

Cass got slower Christian to play its favorite game—run-and-shoot—in the third quarter. The Warriors quickly found that's like playing Russian roulette.

"We just picked up the tempo and got them playing our type of game," smiled Follett while accepting a flock of congratulatory handshakes in the Cass locker room. "We just came out running the third quarter...we didn't do anything different we haven't done all year.

"And Wright (Charles) really did a job coming in for Young (Gary) in that third quarter. He really hit three key buckets. All our starters played great but our subs—Wright, Reggie Scott, Glen Hawkins and George Hawthorne—also played key roles."

Wright, a 6-1 reserve center who hadn't scored a point in limited action in five previous tourney games, didn't do much wrong. He came in for Young (who missed almost 11 minutes with foul woes) and immediately popped in three straight shots. Wright capped the third-quarter surge with the last three Ranger buckets of the period and gave the winners a 66-57 cushion to take into the finale.

"They came out to play ball the second half and we didn't," summed up veteran Warrior coach Elmer Walcott. "We didn't play defense in that third quarter or rebound and we had four big turnovers. But we never quit.

"I thought the kids didn't take Cass seriously enough. I told them Cass would be tough. They (Cass) are tremendous shooters and they hit some big free throws at the end there and kept their cool."

Cass fans are becoming accustomed to seeing the Rangers stave off last-ditch rallies by foes. Thursday was no exception.

Christian cut the margin from nine points with 3:31 left to three points but two clutch baskets by cool sophomore Kevin Loder, a hoop by Young and two free throws each by Bill Dungey and Roger Walters in the final two minutes keep the Rangers on top.

The Muskegon club tallied the last five points of the game in the final 10 seconds but all that fast production left the Warriors still two points short.

"I thought we held our poise well with Young out of there," noted Follett who saw his 6-4 center miss half of the second half with four fouls. "Loder really got two keys buckets there...he's gotten some big baskets for us the whole tournament. He really has respond-

Duerod Guns Down Undefeated Berkley

Highland Park Ace Nets 43

By HARRY ATKINS
Associated Press Writer

Terry Duerod shot the eyes right out of the basket Thursday night and when it was over the Parkers had blown second-ranked Berkley off the floor for an 84-55 Class A quarterfinal victory in the Michigan prep basketball tournament.

There were plenty of other shockers, too, as the 1975 version of "March Madness" continues to be one of the most unpredictable ever.

Two of three Upper Peninsula squads, all underdogs, reached the semifinals; fourth-ranked Lansing Everett was knocked out of Class A by unheralded Dearborn Fordson; and Allendale, a Class D club that has lost eight times, slipped by Frankfort, which had lost only four.

Class A

Duerod, the 6-foot-2 Highland Park senior had 43 points to humiliate Bruce Flowers, Berkley's 6-foot-8 All-Stater. Flowers had 31.

"A blind man could tell Duerod was the difference," said a dejected Coach Steve Rhodes in the Berkley dressing room afterward. "He does such a great job of getting the ball away."

The chilling defeat was the first in 26 games this season for Berkley and only the fourth in 68 games during Flowers' fabulous prep career. Ironically, Flowers never brought the Bears a state title.

"Losing is painful," Rhodes said, "but I think that after a while the kids will reflect upon a great season."

Fordson's John Gajor pumped in 24 points to lead the Tractors to a 58-55 victory over Everett. Ervin Johnson had 24 for the Lansing squad in a losing effort.

Fordson (22-4) and Highland Park (21-3) now meet at Michigan State's Jenison Fieldhouse in Saturday's semifinals.

Plymouth Salem hardly broke a sweat in sweeping to a 70-57 victory over Pontiac Central. Jim Ellinghausen hit for 28 for Salem and Eric Agardy added 24. Salem jumped out to a 22-8 first quarter lead and the outcome was never really in doubt. Pontiac's Jeff Smith had 20 points and Al Bouie had 15.

Flint Northwestern and Muskegon played see-saw basketball for three quarters before Northwestern locked it up, 70-59. Sophomore Edward Simmons led the Flint club with 23 points. Tony Pannell's 24 was high for Muskegon.

Plymouth Salem (23-2) and Flint Northwestern (19-6) meet in the second Class A semifinal Saturday at MSU.

Class B

Third-ranked Jackson Lumen Christi and No. 4 Wyoming Godwin Heights appear headed for a March 22 Class B showdown at Ann Arbor. But first they'll have to get past stubborn semifinal foes Saturday.

Wyoming Godwin Heights blew No. 5 Albion out, 68-54, for an easy quarterfinal victory, while Mount Pleasant had to work for a tough 56-47 victory over Ironwood.

"Ironwood was a lot tougher than we thought they'd be," said Oilers Coach George Noch, "especially on defense. We never felt like we had the game locked up."

But the real story was the Oilers' defense which held Ironwood's top scorer, Bob Bishop, to just three points. Mount Pleasant's Dan Devine led the Oilers with 22 points while John Munari was high for Ironwood with 18.

Lumen Christi had to come from a 27-24 halftime deficit to overhaul Detroit Lutheran West, 55-47. Tom Konopka and Joe Flack each scored eight third-period points to lead the comeback. Konopka finished the game with 20 and Flack tallied 12. Lutheran West's Rich Brauer led all scorers with 22.

Lake Odessa Lakewood outscored Flint Powers 16-4 during the third quarter to win a semifinal berth, 52-42. Greg Colegrove and Al Westendorp were high with 17 and 14 respectively.

Nicklaus Blows Doral Lead

MIAMI (AP) — Jack Nicklaus failed to get it home again.

He had a good round going and couldn't finish it.

Nicklaus, who blew the title in the Jackie Gleason Classic with a collapse over the last seven holes, had it five under par and was two strokes clear of the field when he prepared to hit his second shot on the 18th hole Thursday in the first round of the $150,000 Doral Open Golf Tournament.

He hit it in the lake to the left of the 18th green.

It led to double bogey 6.

"I turned something exceptional into a 69," said Nicklaus. "It's disappointing. I had a chance to get a couple of shots in front and I let it get away."

Instead of a couple of shots in front, his 69 put him one behind co-leaders Gary McCord and Wally Armstrong, who matched four-under-par efforts in the gusty, whipping winds that swept the 7,028-yard Blue Monster course at the Doral Country Club.

Nicklaus was one stroke off the pace and tied with former Doral champion Mike Hill, long-hitting Jim Dent, Bobby Mitchell and Larry Nelson.

Lee Trevino rallied for a 70, just two shots back and in strong contention, after shooting an erratic 39 on his front side.

Johnny Miller struggled to a 72 in winds he said were "the strongest I've seen since the British Open."

Gaels' Courageous Rallies Fall Short, 70-54

East Catholic Ousts Galien

MARSHALL — It took the No. 1 team in the state to end an impressive Galien season.

Top-rated Detroit East Catholic and its two tall all-staters knocked a young and courageous band of Gaels out of the tournaments 70-54 in the Class D quarterfinals here Thursday night.

The game was much closer than the score indicates, with Galien battling back from a huge second period deficit behind little guard Dale Luther to trail by just five in the third quarter and by only seven early in the final stanza.

But the likes of 6-7 Greg Guye and 6-5 Mike Walton proved too much for Galien to handle, especially on the boards where the Crusaders picked up numerous second and third shots while posting a decisive 53 to 33 rebounding edge.

East Catholic, now 22-4, also posted a nifty 49 per cent field goal shooting mark while advancing to Saturday afternoon's semifinal game against 10th ranked Mount Pleasant Sacred Heart at the Lansing Civic Center.

Guye, a two-time all-stater, finished with 15 points and 17 rebounds while Walton added 17 tallies on seven for 14 shooting. Gary Robertson — just 5-11 — also proved to be a thorn for Galien by penetrating the lane numerous times while netting a team-high 18 points.

"They're good...you don't see many Class D teams that look like that," admitted Galien coach Mike Heckathorn, "at least I haven't in a number of years."

Galien bowed out at 20-5 on the season with the state's No. 22 ranking as Luther matched Robertson for scoring honors with 18 points, including all of his field goals in the second half on seven for nine shooting.

Don Kooy and Craig Schau, who joined Luther and Mike Kuntz as junior starters, added 13 and 12 points, respectively. But the Gaels shot at just 33 per cent for the game, including a frigid 27 per cent first half mark.

Galien trailed 22-9 after the first quarter on four for 16 shooting and saw the deficit slip to 29-11 early in the second quarter before making a comeback.

The Gaels posted scoring advantages the middle two periods while being outrebounded by just one and trailed 37-26 at halftime and 51-42 entering the last quarter.

"They are the No. 1 team and we were a little tense...I think that was obvious," commented Heckathorn on the early minutes of the game.

Luther hit four of five shots in the third quarter and cut the East Catholic lead to 45-40 with 2:21 left in the period. He also hit his first three shots of the final quarter to make the score 55-48 with 5:49 left in the game.

But from that point the Crusaders pulled away by netting 15 of the last 21 points. Their 70-52 lead in the closing seconds matched the biggest advantage of the night. The Gaels never led.

Heckathorn thought part of his Galien's poor shooting was the result of having "one heck of a time getting inside" against Catholic's big people.

East Catholic may be No. 1 in the poll but it couldn't compare to Galien in fan support. Gael followers filled one side of the gym while the Crusader contingent on the opposite side probably numbered less than 100.

"I'm very gratified by the support we got from not only Galien fans but also from surrounding communities," concluded Heckathorn.

Plymouth Salem (23-2) and Flint Northwestern (19-6) meet in the second Class A semifinal Saturday at MSU.

Class B

Third-ranked Jackson Lumen Christi and No. 4 Wyoming Godwin Heights appear headed for a March 22 Class B showdown at Ann Arbor. But first they'll have to get past stubborn semifinal foes Saturday.

Wyoming Godwin Heights blew No. 5 Albion out, 68-54, for an easy quarterfinal victory, while Mount Pleasant had to work for a tough 56-47 victory over Ironwood.

"Ironwood was a lot tougher than we thought they'd be," said Oilers Coach George Noch, "especially on defense. We never felt like we had the game locked up."

But the real story was the Oilers' defense which held Ironwood's top scorer, Bob Bishop, to just three points. Mount Pleasant's Dan Devine led the Oilers with 22 points while John Munari was high for Ironwood with 18.

Lumen Christi had to come from a 27-24 halftime deficit to overhaul Detroit Lutheran West, 55-47. Tom Konopka and Joe Flack each scored eight third-period points to lead the comeback. Konopka finished the game with 20 and Flack tallied 12. Lutheran West's Rich Brauer led all scorers with 22.

Lake Odessa Lakewood outscored Flint Powers 16-4 during the third quarter to win a semifinal berth, 52-42. Greg Colegrove and Al Westendorp were high with 17 and 14 respectively.

Nicklaus Blows Doral Lead

MIAMI (AP) — Jack Nicklaus failed to get it home again.

He had a good round going and couldn't finish it.

Nicklaus, who blew the title in the Jackie Gleason Classic with a collapse over the last seven holes, had it five under par and was two strokes clear of the field when he prepared to hit his second shot on the 18th hole Thursday in the first round of the $150,000 Doral Open Golf Tournament.

He hit it in the lake to the left of the 18th green.

It led to double bogey 6.

"I turned something exceptional into a 69," said Nicklaus. "It's disappointing. I had a chance to get a couple of shots in front and I let it get away."

Instead of a couple of shots in front, his 69 put him one behind co-leaders Gary McCord and Wally Armstrong, who matched four -under - par efforts in the gusty, whipping winds that swept the 7,028-yard Blue Monster course at the Doral Country Club.

Nicklaus was one stroke off the pace and tied with former Doral champion Mike Hill, long-hitting Jim Dent, Bobby Mitchell and Larry Nelson.

Lee Trevino rallied for a 70, just two shots back and in strong contention, after shooting an erratic 39 on his front side.

Johnny Miller struggled to a 72 in winds he said were "the strongest I've seen since the British Open."

Thompson, Dantley, May Head All-America Team

NEW YORK (AP) — North Carolina State's David Thompson is an All-America for the third straight year—which shouldn't surprise his fans, his coach or the pro scouts.

Thompson, everybody's darling, was named to The Associated Press 1975 All-America team Friday along with Notre Dame's Adrian Dantley, Dave Meyers of UCLA, Luther "Ticky" Burden of Utah and Indiana's Scott May.

John Lucas, Maryland's distinguished guard, made The AP's Second Team for the second straight season. Along with Lucas on the Second Team, a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters selected Syracuse's Rudy Hackett, Gus Williams of Southern Cal, Alabama's Leon Douglas and Kentucky's Kevin Grevey.

The Third Team included, Clyde Mayes of Furman, Phil Sellers of Rutgers, Richmond's Bob McCurdy, Lionel Hollins of Arizona State and Ron Lee of Oregon.

The 6-foot-4 Thompson was an obvious choice for the first team after a magnificent season which produced 30 points a game and plenty of thrills for Wolfpack fans. An electrifying player with superhuman leaping powers, Thompson's specialty was a home-made "alleyoop" shot where he sailed above the basket to take a teammate's lob for an easy field goal.

His most explosive performance this season was a 57-point, 17-rebound show against Buffalo State. But he had other performances almost as remarkable.

Pro scouts have described Thompson as "the most devastating player in the college game today."

The 6-5 Dantley, a scoring machine for Notre Dame who takes charge of a game when the occasion demands, is praised for his "strength, agility and great body control."

Dantley scored more than 30 points a game this season, rising to the heights against Notre Dame's toughest teams. He scored 60 points in two games against UCLA, 32 against top-ranked Indiana and 29 against Maryland. His biggest game was a 49-point effort against Air Force.

Meyers improved tremendously over last year, when he only averaged 11 points a game. Meyers averaged 19 points this season and was the UCLA stabilizer.

Burden, a 6-2 junior, averaged nearly 30 points a game, including a season-high 44 against the Brazil International team and North Carolina.

The 6-7 May is the No. 1 player on the nation's No. 1 team. The junior played in 27 games before breaking his wrist, averaging about 18 points and 17 rebounds a game. One of the most fluid big men in the nation, May led the powerful Hoosiers in scoring 13 times and rebounding 10 times and was called the key to their spectacular season.

Bruins' Meyers Ailing For NCAA Regionals

Wooden Worried Over U-M Game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Wooden is worried and that means trouble for Michigan in the NCAA basketball playoffs.

Wooden, fearful more of complacency than anything else, put his UCLA basketball players through a strenuous workout Thursday because All-American forward David Meyers is injured, just as UCLA begins a quest for its 10th NCAA title in 12 years.

Meyers, a 6-foot-8 defensive wizard, suffered a charley horse in his right thigh three weeks ago in Seattle when the Bruins lost to Washington by 22 points. He played in three games since then but his rugged duel with Southern Cal junior Bob Trowbridge last weekend hurt the injury.

UCLA was to leave early this morning for Pullman, Wash., for the Saturday night NCAA Western Regional game against the Wolverines, second place club in the Big Ten with a 19-7 record. Montana plays Utah State in the opening game.

UCLA and Michigan met last year in the Bruin Classic at UCLA. The Bruins won 90-70 despite the presence of Campy Russell, who has since graduated.

"But they have four players returning from that team," Wooden said before Thursday's practice, "and any team that makes it into the NCAA tournament is capable of beating any other tourney team on a given night."

Wooden recalled the complacency which apparently set in a year ago in the second overtime of the NCAA semifinal game against North Carolina State.

UCLA held a seven-point lead with three minutes left, then played give-away and lost 80-77, halting the Bruin string of national titles at seven in a row.

The doubleheader at Pullman is one of two scheduled for the NCAA's West Regional playoffs Saturday. Arizona State, 23-3, of the Western Athletic Conference, meets Southeastern Conference representative Alabama, 22-4, and Nevada-Las Vegas, 22-4, of the West Coast Athletic Conference plays San Diego State, 14-11, of the Pacific Coast Athletic Conference at Tempe, Ariz.

The Midwest Regional will feature games at Lubbock, Tex., and Tulsa, Okla. At Lubbock, Texas A&M, 20-6, of the Southwest Conference takes on independent Cincinnati, 21-5, and Maryland, 22-4, of the Atlantic Coast Conference tackles independent Creighton, 20-6. At Tulsa, it's independent Rutgers, 22-6, against Louisville, 24-2, of the Missouri Valley Conference and independent Notre Dame, 18-8, vs. Kansas, 19-7, of the Big Eight Conference.

Kentucky, 22-4, of the Southeastern Conference plays independent Marquette, 22-3, in a Mideast Regional game at Tuscaloosa, Ala. In the other game, it's independent Georgetown, 18-9, against Central Michigan, 20-5, of the Mid-American Conference. In the other Mideast doubleheader at Lexington, Ky., Indiana, 29-0, of the Big Ten takes on Texas-El Paso, 20-5, of the Western Athletic Conference and Oregon State, 18-10, of the Pacific-8 Conference plays Middle Tennessee, 23-4, of the Ohio Valley Conference.

Penn, 23-4, of the Ivy League plays Kansas State, 18-8, of the Big Eight and La Salle, 22-6, meets Syracuse, 20-7, in a battle of independents in an East Regional twin bill at Philadelphia.

In the other East Regional doubleheader at Charlotte, N.C., it's North Carolina, 21-7, of the Atlantic Coast Conference vs. New Mexico State, 20-6, of the Missouri Valley Conference and Furman, 22-6, of the Southern Conference vs. independent Boston College, 20-7.

While the NCAA teams waited to play, the teams in the National Commissioners Invitational Tournament at Louisville, Ky., started play Thursday night. Drake upset 13th-ranked Southern Cal 80-70 behind Larry Haralson's 20 points and Arizona blasted East Carolina 94-78 behind the combined 50 points of Bob Elliott and Al Fleming.

New Orleans and Old Dominion advanced to the finals of the NCAA's College Division II tournament at Evansville, Ind. New Orleans upset Assumption 84-73 and Old Dominion stunned Tennessee State 77-60.

Midwestern, Alcorn State, St. Mary's and Grand Canyon advanced to the semifinals of the NAIA's tournament in Kansas City. Midwestern stopped Fairmount State 85-80; Alcorn State whipped Malone 101-87; St. Mary's defeated Winston-Salem 67-59 and Grand Canyon downed Wisconsin-Parkside 70-54.

Dionne Breaks Gordie's Record

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Diminutive Marcel Dionne can finally look down on Detroit Red Wing great Gordie Howe.

Dionne, captain of the Wings, scored his 40th goal and added an assist Thursday and now has 105 points, breaking Howe's team scoring record of 103, set in the 1968-69 season.

Dionne's efforts, as well as two goals from both Michel Bergeron and Danny Grant helped the Wings earn a 5-5 tie with Los Angeles and kept the Kings from sweeping its series with Detroit this year.

Los Angeles won all five previous meetings and the Kings threatened to complete their first season sweep since they entered the NHL. Los Angeles outscored Detroit 22-7 in the five earlier games.

"We didn't count on them getting five goals tonight. We knew we could score on them," said Terry Harper, a Kings defenseman.

And it might have been an understatement when Los Angeles Kings Coach Bob Pulford called the upcoming weekend the biggest of the year.

As the National Hockey League season enters its final weeks, the Kings are struggling to overcome Montreal and take first place in Division 3. The Wings are locked in fourth place in the Norris Division, 25 points behind Pittsburgh. They play California tonight.

Playing without sparkplug center Butch Goring, who is out with an injury, the Kings find themselves playing the Canadiens in Montreal Saturday night and the defending champion Flyers the following afternoon in Philadelphia.

The Kings lost a two-goal advantage Thursday. They took a 4-2 lead on three second-period goals but Detroit came back to take the tie on Danny Grant's 43rd and 44th goals of the season in the final period.

"We should have beaten Detroit and we didn't. It's the whole team's fault," lamented Pulford.

"It's been a long season fighting with Montral for first place and maybe subconsciously we've let up. I hope not. We'll know this weekend."

The Kings took a 1-0 lead on Whitey Widing's first period breakaway. After Bergeron and Dionne scored in the first period for a 2-1 Detroit lead, the Kings came back in the second period with the three quick goals by Bob Nevin, Harper and Danny Maloney. Mike Murphy's shorthanded goal at 1:05 of the final period gave Los Angeles a 5-3 margin before Grant's pair.

"Losing to a team like Detroit hurts because the points are just as important as if you beat Montreal. We beat Detroit all year and maybe we looked past them tonight," said Harper.

ed to the pressure."

Loder, a smooth as silk shooter outside, paced the Cass sharpshooters by canning eight of 10 shots outcourt, including his last six straight, to end with 16 points.

Walters (eight of 19) slammed in 24 points, 16 in the last half, Dungey 16 (seven of 13) with 12 in opening half, Young 13 (six of 14) and Scott 10 (five of nine).

Dungey also contributed 14 assists while Loder and Scott both hauled in nine rebounds as Cass took the boards 27-21. Young ended with five blocked shots.

Center Mark DeJonge capture game scoring honors with 25 points, 18 in the last half, while hitting 10 of 17 shots afield. His performance overshadowed the play of all-stater Henry DeLeeuw, who flipped in 18 points but shot only eight of 18 from the fieldand only four points the last half, scored

Robert Mattox, Jim Bultema and Larry Joslyn, the rest of the Christian starters, all finished with 14 points with Mattox collecting 12 in the first half.

Christian meshed an excellent 45 per cent of its shots (36 of 80), including 50 per cent the first half when the Warriors outscored Cass 42-38. But 11 of 20 free throw shooting (55 per cent) proved fatal, including four of eight the last quarter.

Cassopolis took eight less shots (72)) but netted one more field goal (37) to end at 51 per cent, one per cent over its average. The Rangers also sizzled at the foul lines where they were 11 of 14 for 79 per cent with Walters a perfect eight-of eight.

Both clubs ended with only 15 turnovers but five last-period floor mistakes hampered the Christian comeback.

The Warriors, who lost in the Class C semifinals last year by two points, conclude their season at 19-7.

"I guess Cassopolis is going a little crazy right now," finished Follett. "WE've really gotten tremendous fan support."

Bills Lose Bednar

OTTAWA (AP) — Raymond Bednar, 22, who played for the Buffalo Bills of the National Football League last year, has signed to play with the Ottawa Rough Riders of the Canadian Football League.

Bill Freehan Way Ahead Of Shaky Tiger Pitchers

LAKELAND, Mich. (AP) — Spring training hitting doesn't mean much—which is unfortunate for Bill Freehan, but fortunate for the Detroit Tiger pitchers.

Freehan has seven hits in five games for Detroit this exhibition baseball season, ripping the ball to all fields in a team-leading .438 average.

But Tiger pitchers have been rapped for 89 hits in just eight games —11 a game—including 18 Thursday by Montreal, which beat Detroit, 6-5, at Marchant Stadium.

Manager Ralph Houk sticks to his routine of refusing to analyze pitching performances until the third outing, so starter Mickey Lolich's nine-hit, four-run performance in four innings wasn't suspect.

He did say that, "Lolich pitched good," and blamed the wind for three solo homeruns off the veteran lefthander.

Vern Ruhle of Coleman, Mich., gave up one earned run and eight hits in four innings while fellow rookie Gary Igasiak of Inkster, Mich., gave up a lone single in the ninth.

Most baseball people slough off exhibition results. But last season's 4.16 team earned-run average can't be ignored. Because of it, the poor pitching in Florida so far has to hurt.

Freehan, meanwhile, isn't concerned with Grapefruit League statistics.

"I'm feeling comfortable, but all this hitting doesn't mean much. The important thing to me is getting in condition."

Houk has said Freehan would be his regular catcher this year, but would be rested more often, mostly because of his throwing arm and the trouble he has throwing out runners.

"My arm feels halfway decent, but I'm not satisfied with it," Freehan said.

About how he'll be used, he said:

"I don't think anybody knows what's going to happen. So many things can happen I don't see concerning myself with things I have no control over."

Jose Morales opened the game with a homer. Pete Mackanin hit another in the second inning and rookie Larry Parrish hit one in the third. Each just cleared the left field wall.

The Expos scored lone runs in the fourth, fifth and eighth.

Detroit, which was to face Philadelphia today in Clearwater, scored once in the second and twice each in the third and ninth. Rookies Tom Veryzer and Art James each drove in a run, while designated hitter Gates Brown, Freehan and Nate Colbert knocked in the others.

Luke Walker and Lerrin LaGrow were scheduled to pitch today against Phillies Roy Thomas and Larry Christenson.

Gobles Gals Win Volleyball Crown

GOBLES — The Gobles girls' volleyball team posted a 10-2 record to win the Southwestern Athletic Conference championship this year.

The 10 victories established a school record for coach Kelly Benya's team, which was led in scoring by Patty Sabeck with 81 points.

Kay McKain and Julie Doll tied for second with 65 points and Tina Miller had 57 points.

The Kings took a 1-0 lead on Whitey Widing's first period breakaway. After Bergeron and Dionne scored in the first period for a 2-1 Detroit lead, the Kings came back in the second period with the three quick goals by Bob Nevin, Harper and Danny Maloney. Mike Murphy's shorthanded goal at 1:05 of the final period gave Los Angeles a 5-3 margin before Grant's pair.

"Losing to a team like Detroit hurts because the points are just as important as if you beat Montreal. We beat Detroit all year and maybe we looked past them tonight," said Harper.

ed to the pressure."

Loder, a smooth as silk shooter outside, paced the Cass sharpshooters by canning eight of 10 shots outcourt, including his last six straight, to end with 16 points.

Walters (eight of 19) slammed in 24 points, 16 in the last half, Dungey 16 (seven of 13) with 12 in opening half, Young 13 (six of 14) and Scott 10 (five of nine).

Dungey also contributed 14 assists while Loder and Scott both hauled in nine rebounds as Cass took the boards 27-21. Young ended with five blocked shots.

Center Mark DeJonge capture game scoring honors with 25 points, 18 in the last half, while hitting 10 of 17 shots afield. His performance overshadowed the play of all-stater Henry DeLeeuw, who flipped in 16 points but shot only eight of 18 from the fieldand only four points the last half, scored

Robert Mattox, Jim Bultema and Larry Joslyn, the rest of the Christian starters, all finished with 14 points with Mattox collecting 12 in the first half.

Christian meshed an excellent 45 per cent of its shots (36 of 80), including 50 per cent the first half when the Warriors outscored Cass 42-38. But 11 of 20 free throw shooting (55 per cent) proved fatal, including four of eight the last quarter.

Cassopolis took eight less shots (72)) but netted one more field goal (37) to end at 51 per cent, one per cent over its average. The Rangers also sizzled at the foul lines where they were 11 of 14 for 79 per cent with Walters a perfect eight-of eight.

Both clubs ended with only 15 turnovers but five last-period floor mistakes hampered the Christian comeback.

The Warriors, who lost in the Class C semifinals last year by two points, conclude their season at 19-7.

"I guess Cassopolis is going a little crazy right now," finished Follett. "WE've really gotten tremendous fan support."

Bill Freehan Way Ahead Of Shaky Tiger Pitchers

LAKELAND, Mich. (AP) — Spring training hitting doesn't mean much—which is unfortunate for Bill Freehan, but fortunate for the Detroit Tiger pitchers.

Freehan has seven hits in five games for Detroit this exhibition baseball season, ripping the ball to all fields in a team-leading .438 average.

But Tiger pitchers have been rapped for 89 hits in just eight games —11 a game—including 18 Thursday by Montreal, which beat Detroit, 6-5, at Marchant Stadium.

Manager Ralph Houk sticks to his routine of refusing to analyze pitching performances until the third outing, so starter Mickey Lolich's nine-hit, four-run performance in four innings wasn't suspect.

He did say that, "Lolich pitched good," and blamed the wind for three solo homeruns off the veteran lefthander.

Vern Ruhle of Coleman, Mich., gave up one earned run and eight hits in four innings while fellow rookie Gary Igasiak of Inkster, Mich., gave up a lone single in the ninth.

Most baseball people slough off exhibition results. But last season's 4.16 team earned-run average can't be ignored. Because of it, the poor pitching in Florida so far has to hurt.

Freehan, meanwhile, isn't concerned with Grapefruit League statistics.

"I'm feeling comfortable, but all this hitting doesn't mean much. The important thing to me is getting in condition."

Houk has said Freehan would be his regular catcher this year, but would be rested more often, mostly because of his throwing arm and the trouble he has throwing out runners.

"My arm feels halfway decent, but I'm not satisfied with it," Freehan said.

About how he'll be used, he said:

"I don't think anybody knows what's going to happen. So many things can happen. I don't see concerning myself with things I have no control over."

Jose Morales opened the game with a homer. Pete Mackanin hit another in the second inning and rookie Larry Parrish hit one in the third. Each just cleared the left field wall.

The Expos scored lone runs in the fourth, fifth and eighth.

Detroit, which was to face Philadelphia today in Clearwater, scored once in the second and twice each in the third and ninth. Rookies Tom Veryzer and Art James each drove in a run, while designated hitter Gates Brown, Freehan and Nate Colbert knocked in the others.

Luke Walker and Lerrin LaGrow were scheduled to pitch today against Phillies Roy Thomas and Larry Christenson.

Gobles Gals Win Volleyball Crown

GOBLES — The Gobles girls' volleyball team posted a 10-2 record to win the Southwestern Athletic Conference championship this year.

The 10 victories established a school record for coach Kelly Benya's team, which was led in scoring by Patty Sabeck with 81 points.

Kay McKain and Julie Doll tied for second with 65 points and Tina Miller had 57 points.

Bucks Gain On Idle Pistons

Hawks Feel Jabbar Wrath

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar took out his wrath against the Atlanta Hawks this time instead of the officials.

The massive Milwaukee center, who had unhesitatingly blasted the officiating after fouling out in the Bucks' previous National Basketball Association game, lashed out at the Hawks with 41 points Thursday night in a 120-104 rout over Atlanta.

"Things went all right this time," said Abdul-Jabbar in reference to the refereeing. "I have no further comment. Once is enough."

The victory lifted Milwaukee within one-half game of idle Detroit in the fight for the "wild card" playoff berth in the Western Conference.

Only one-half game also separates Cleveland and New York, the teams battling for the "wild card" playoff spot in the Eastern Conference. Cleveland maintained the slim advantage, trouncing the Los Angeles Lakers 104-85, while the Knicks beat the Portland Trail Blazers 116-103.

In the other NBA game, the Buffalo Braves riddled the Golden State Warriors 122-103.

Atlanta Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons said, "We weren't that bad, they were just that good. The big guy (Abdul-Jabbar) was awesome."

Milwaukee broke open the game in the third period, outscoring the Hawks 38-25 for a 100-80 advantage after leading only 62-55 at halftime.

Rookie Mike Sojourner topped Atlanta with 23 points.

Fred Foster's 20 points and Bobby Smith's 18 paced a balanced Cleveland offense that carried the Cavaliers past Los Angeles, the team with the worst record in the Western Conference.

A 19-2 spurt during a six-minute span of the second period, which boosted the Cavs from a 33-32 deficit into a 51-35 lead, was decisive. Campy Russell's eight points and Austin Carr's five sparked the spree.

Cazzie Russell topped the Lakers with 23 points.

Earl Monroe had a game high 29 points and Bill Bradley added 25, but it was reserve Mel Davis' 13 points in the fourth quarter that keyed the Knicks' 10th consecutive victory over Portland at Madison Square Garden. Davis got 11 of his points during a 17-4 surge that carried the Knicks from a precarious 93-91 lead into a commanding 110-95 advantage.

Sidney Wicks led Portland with 26 points, two more than Geoff Petrie.

Buffalo's Bob McAdoo, the league's leading scorer, broke lose for 39 points, including 27 in the second half, and grabbed 24 rebounds in propelling the Braves to a record 43rd victory of the season.

McAdoo led Buffalo to a 41-point fourth period which erased an 83-81 Golden State lead after three periods.

The Warriors' Rick Barry, second to McAdoo in the scoring race, led Golden State with 29 points.

Frank Robinson Pleased Despite Loss In Debut

From Associated Press

Frank Robinson was a loser the first time out, but he was still pleased.

"Gaylord and Jim Perry were very good," Cleveland's rookie baseball manager said of his top two pitchers, who blanked San Francisco through the first six innings. "Gaylord wasn't quite as sharp as usual, but he got the job done.

"And Jim just threw the ball in and got them out. He made it look easy."

With the Perry brothers doing their thing, Cleveland jumped out to a 3-0 lead. But the Giants battled back in the late innings and won 6-4 on Ed Goodson's two-out double in the 10th.

In other exhibition games Thursday, the Chicago White Sox blanked St. Louis 5-0, Milwaukee defeated the Chicago Cubs 3-1, Texas powered past Los Angeles 8-4, Boston crushed Pittsburgh 9-2, Montreal nipped Detroit 6-5, Cincinnati edged Minnesota 3-2, the New York Yankees slipped past the New York Mets 7-6, Atlanta squeezed past Houston 3-2 in 16 innings, and Kansas City rolled over Baltimore 7-1.

Henry Aaron, returning to Milwaukee where he started his major league career, knocked in his first run as a Brewer with a sacrifice fly. But it was John Briggs who powered a home run in the first and scored on Aaron's sacrifice fly before catcher Darrell Porter homered to give Milwaukee the victory.

Aaron broke in with the Milwaukee Braves, then moved to Atlanta when the franchise was shifted. He was traded during the off-season to the Brewers.

Tony Perez singled home the winning run in Cincinnati's victory, while Texas exploded for four runs in the eighth inning to snap a 4-4 tie and down the Dodgers.

The Yankees were led by Fred Stanley, whose two singles and a sacrifice fly drove in two runs, including the gamewinner.

Frank White collected four hits, including a homer, and Amos Otis added a roundtripper as Kansas City snapped a 1-1 to easily defeat Baltimore.

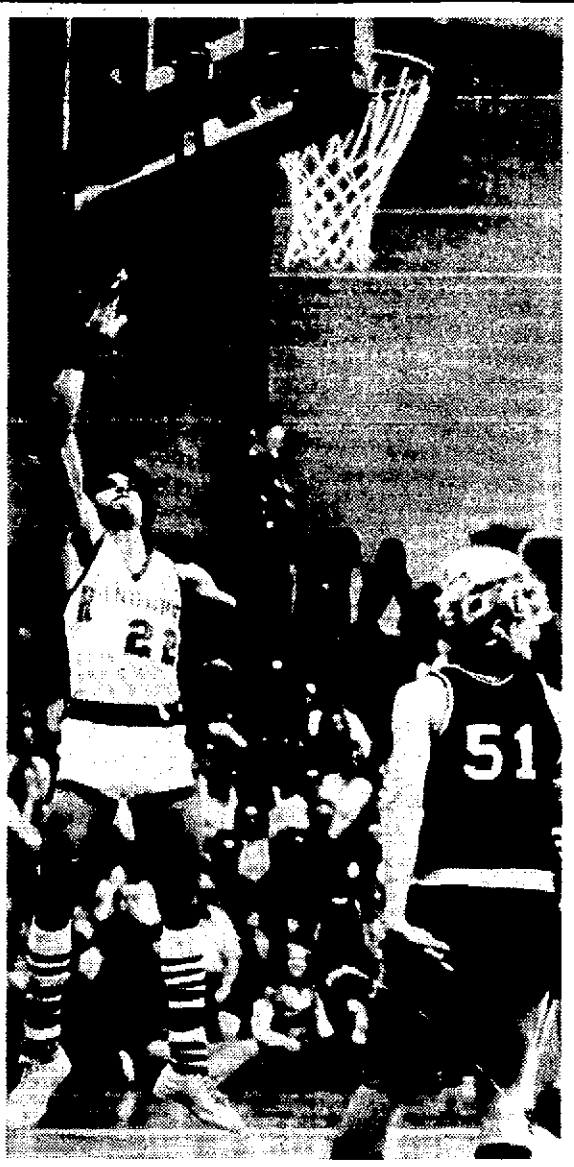
Danny Cater and Juan Beniquez smashed home runs to lead Boston's 14-hit attack that snapped a three-game Red Sox losing streak and swamped the Pirates.

Knuckleballer Wilbur Wood and three other White Sox pitchers limited St. Louis to just two hits while Chicago scored three runs in the first five innings and two more in the final two frames.

Montreal ran its spring record to 5-1 with an 18-hit attack, including homers by Jose Morales, Pete Mackanin and Larry Parrish.

Jack Pierce's single to left-center in the 16th inning scored Biff Pocoroba from first to give Atlanta its victory over Houston.

Vida Blue was shelled for five runs in the first two innings, but Oakland came back to defeat Arizona State 10-8.



DUNGEY DELIVERS: Guard Bill Dungey of Cassopolis hits for a bucket while Muskegon Christian's Mark DeJonge watches. Dungey sank 16 points, including two crucial free throws with 39 seconds to go, and had 14 assists in the Rangers' 85-83 win over Christian in the Class C quarterfinal game Thursday. Bo Starts Search For QB, Linemen

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan football Coach Bo Schembechler begins the task of finding replacements for a group of seniors who led the Wolverines to a three-year 30-21 mark when spring drills open Monday.

"There is no doubt that filling the shoes of some of those players will be extremely difficult," Schembechler said, "but we face that task every season."

His main concern, he said, would be finding a quarterback to replace Dennis Franklin. He also is searching for tight ends, offensive guards and centers.

"We have 20 practice sessions scheduled, and we hope that after our spring windup scrimmage on April 19, our staff will have a good appraisal of just what talent we do have," Schembechler said. "We also hope to know where we're going and with whom."

Michigan lost 20 lettermen, but has a nucleus of 33 returning, including four who were selected on the All-Big Ten first defensive team. They include Dan Jilek, a 240-pound end from Sterling Heights; Jeff Perlinger, 235-pound tackle from Crystal, Minn.; Tim Davis, 212-pound middle guard from Warren, Ohio; and Don Dufek, 195-pound middle linebacker from Ann Arbor.

Michigan's defense led the nation last year, allowing just 6.8 points per game.

Schembechler is looking to tailback Gordon Bell and swift Rob Lytle to carry the offensive load. Bell gained over 1,000 yards in the Wolverine backfield last season. Lytle, who finished fifth in the Big Ten indoor track 60-yard dash last week, gained 802 yards.

"I would like to go into fall practice with a definite idea of who will be playing," Schembechler said, "because we have the toughest nonconference schedule since I've been at Michigan."

The conference co-champions open at Wisconsin, then meet Stanford, Baylor and Missouri on consecutive Saturdays in Michigan Stadium.

Howard MVP

Senior co-captain Mike Howard has been voted Benton Harbor's Most Valuable Player for the 1974-75 basketball season.

Howard, a 6-2½ forward, led the Tigers in both scoring and rebounding and finished the season with an average of 18.7 points per game.

Alfred Sanders, a senior who earned the starting center position in his first year on the team, was voted the Most Improved Player.

Minnesota, Michigan Tech In Hockey Finals

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mike Pollich gave a pep talk. And his University of Minnesota teammates, especially junior Warren Miller, were all ears.

As a result, Minnesota rallied to defeat a tired Harvard team 6-4 Thursday night and kept alive its hopes for a second straight National Collegiate Athletic Association hockey championship.

The Gophers meet Michigan Tech for the Division I championship Saturday night. Tech, which defeated Boston University 9-5 in the other first-round game Thursday, lost to Minnesota in the 1974 NCAA title game.

Minnesota was outskated and outplayed by Harvard in the first two periods Thursday night and found itself on the short end of a 4-2 score. So Pollich, an agressive All-America center, decided it was time for a talk.

"I told them that all year long we've been up for pressure. What are we going to do, play sour grapes because we're down? Are we gonna throw in the towel or play hockey?" Pollich said.

Miller, a right winger, was one who wasted no time in deciding. With less than nine minutes elapsed in the final period, Miller—who had not scored in the team's last 10 games—rained in three goals. And Mark Lambert's tally with five minutes left capped a five-goal Minnesota rally.

Although Miller owned the limelight after his first-ever three-goal performance, Gopher Coach Herb Brooks thinks a goal scored in the previous period was just as significant.

Eight minutes into the middle period, with Harvard in command, 4-1, Minnesota's Pat Phippen stole the puck and drove it past Crimson goalie Brian Petrovek.

"Without that one, I don't know if we could have come back," said Brooks of the goal that kept his team within striking distance.

"I think the fact they came right out and went after us," cost his team the game, said Harvard Bill Cleary. "Our guys didn't take the bull by the horns:...You get in a tight game, you're afraid to make mistakes and you get cautious."

Goals came even more freely in the nightcap—and four of Michigan Tech's nine goals were on the power play. After the game was knotted 2-2 following one period of play, Stu Younger and Peter Roberts started a five-goal second period with unassisted scores off Boston goaltender Brian Durocher.

Michigan Tech led by as many as six goals before the Terriers narrowed the final margin.

Tech Coach John MacInnes would offer no predictions on Saturday's outcome, pointing out that both teams enter the game with plenty of momentum.

Women Golfers Veto Pro Event

HOUSTON (AP) — The Ladies Professional Golfers Association has voted not to play in the $100,000 LPGA tournament scheduled here after hearing a last minute play now, pay later offer from the sponsor.

LPGA Executive Director Bud Erickson broke the unprecedented news late Thursday night after a final meeting with the tournament sponsor, Gulf Coast Golf News.

"Due to the fact that Larry Flood and Gulf Coast Golf News have failed to live up to the contractual obligations concerning the prize purse, the LPGA today (Thursday) announced the decision of its membership not to participate in the Gulf Coast Golf News Open," Erickson said in the statement.

LPGA lawyer Fletcher Etheridge said less than two per cent of the $100,000 purse was on deposit in a bank late Thursday when the LPGA touring pros voted overwhelmingly not to play in the tournament, scheduled to begin today.

"We've had some bad checks, things like that, but never this," LPGA President Carol Mann said. "I think it's an unfortunate situation. We tried every way we could to give the sponsor a chance to produce and still protect our rights and our options as well as we possibly could."

Erickson said Flood planned to finance the tournament by selling sponsorships ranging from $8,500 down to $25.

"Because of sponsor participation and some late withdrawals, it left us a position that we asked for new arrangements that the LPGA felt like it couldn't accept," Flood said. "But we still are willing to meet our obligation even if it has to be paid at a later date.

"It almost boils down into a category of play now and pay later."

A field of 102 golfers had been scheduled to tee off at Westwood Country Club today for the 54-hole event, one of the largest fields on the tour.

Cancellation of the tournament here keeps the touring pros out of action for a second straight week. They had an open date last week.

Bucks Gain On Idle Pistons

Hawks Feel Jabbar Wrath

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar took out his wrath against the Atlanta Hawks this time instead of the officials.

The massive Milwaukee center, who had unhesitatingly blasted the officiating after fouling out in the Bucks' previous National Basketball Association game, lashed out at the Hawks with 41 points Thursday night in a 120-104 rout over Atlanta.

"Things went all right this time," said Abdul-Jabbar in reference to the refereeing. "I have no further comment. Once is enough."

The victory lifted Milwaukee within one-half game of idle Detroit in the fight for the "wild card" playoff berth in the Western Conference.

Only one-half game also separates Cleveland and New York, the teams battling for the "wild card" playoff spot in the Eastern Conference. Cleveland maintained the slim advantage, trouncing the Los Angeles Lakers 104-85, while the Knicks beat the Portland Trail Blazers 116-103.

In the other NBA game, the Buffalo Braves riddled the Golden State Warriors 122-103.

Atlanta Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons said, "We weren't that bad, they were just that good. The big guy (Abdul-Jabbar) was awesome."

Milwaukee broke open the game in the third period, outscoring the Hawks 38-25 for a 100-80 advantage after leading only 62-55 at halftime.

Rookie Mike Sojourner topped Atlanta with 23 points.

Fred Foster's 20 points and Bobby Smith's 18 paced a balanced Cleveland offense that carried the Cavaliers past Los Angeles, the team with the worst record in the Western Conference.

A 19-2 spurt during a six-minute span of the second period, which boosted the Cavs from a 33-32 deficit into a 51-35 lead, was decisive. Campy Russell's eight points and Austin Carr's five sparked the spree.

Cazzie Russell topped the Lakers with 23 points.

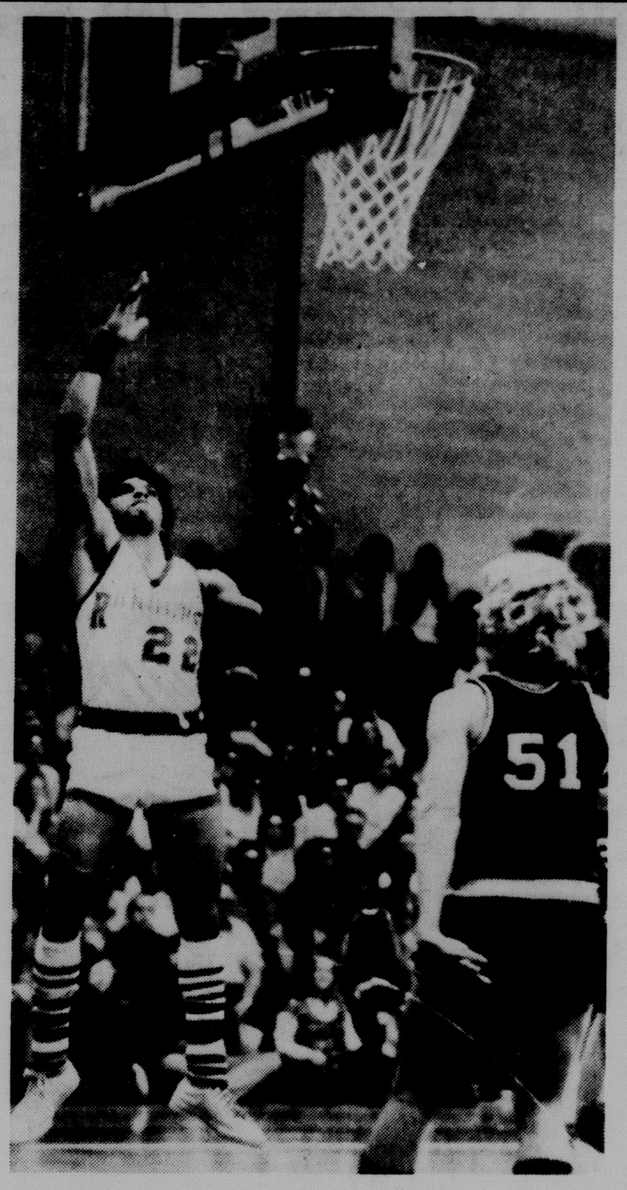
Earl Monroe had a game high 29 points and Bill Bradley added 25, but it was reserve Mel Davis' 13 points in the fourth quarter that keyed the Knicks' 10th consecutive victory over Portland at Madison Square Garden. Davis got 11 of his points during a 17-4 surge that carried the Knicks from a precarious 93-91 lead into a commanding 110-95 advantage.

Sidney Wicks led Portland with 26 points, two more than Geoff Petrie.

Buffalo's Bob McAdoo, the league's leading scorer, broke lose for 39 points, including 27 in the second half, and grabbed 24 rebounds in propelling the Braves to a record 43rd victory of the season.

McAdoo led Buffalo to a 41-point fourth period which erased an 83-81 Golden State lead after three periods.

The Warriors' Rick Barry, second to McAdoo in the scoring race, led Golden State with 29 points.



DUNGEY DELIVERS: Guard Bill Dungey of Cassopolis hits for a bucket while Muskegon Christian's Mark DeJonge watches. Dungey sank 16 points, including two crucial free throws with 39 seconds to go, and had 14 assists in the Rangers' 85-83 win over Christian in the Class C quarterfinal game Thursday. Bo Starts Search For QB, Linemen

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan football Coach Bo Schembechler begins the task of finding replacements for a group of seniors who led the Wolverines to a three-year 30-21 mark when spring drills open Monday.

"There is no doubt that filling the shoes of some of those players will be extremely difficult," Schembechler said, "but we face that task every season."

His main concern, he said, would be finding a quarterback to replace Dennis Franklin. He also is searching for tight ends, offensive guards and centers.

"We have 20 practice sessions scheduled, and we hope that after our spring windup scrimmage on April 19, our staff will have a good appraisal of just what talent we do have," Schembechler said. "We also hope to know where we're going and with whom."

Michigan lost 20 lettermen, but has a nucleus of 33 returning, including four who were selected on the All-Big Ten first defensive team. They include Dan Jilek, a 210-pound end from Sterling Heights; Jeff Perlinger, 235-pound tackle from Crystal, Minn.; Tim Davis, 212-pound middle guard from Warren, Ohio; and Don Dufek, 195-pound middle linebacker from Ann Arbor.

Michigan's defense led the nation last year, allowing just 6.8 points per game.

Schembechler is looking to tailback Gordon Bell and swift Rob Lytle to carry the offensive load. Bell gained over 1,000 yards in the Wolverine backfield last season. Lytle, who finished fifth in the Big Ten Indoor track 60-yard dash last week, gained 802 yards.

"I would like to go into fall practice with a definite idea of who will be playing," Schembechler said, "because we have the toughest nonconference schedule since I've been at Michigan."

The conference co-champions open at Wisconsin, then meet Stanford, Baylor and Missouri on consecutive Saturdays in Michigan Stadium.

Howard MVP

Senior co-captain Mike Howard has been voted Benton Harbor's Most Valuable Player for the 1974-75 basketball season.

Howard, a 6-2½ forward, led the Tigers in both scoring and rebounding and finished the season with an average of 18.7 points per game.

Alfred Sanders, a senior who earned the starting center position in his first year on the team, was voted the Most Improved Player.

Frank Robinson Pleased Despite Loss In Debut

From Associated Press

Frank Robinson was a loser the first time out, but he was still pleased.

"Gaylord and Jim Perry were very good," Cleveland's rookie baseball manager said of his top two pitchers, who blanked San Francisco through the first six innings. "Gaylord wasn't quite as sharp as usual, but he got the job done.

"And Jim just threw the ball in and got them out. He made it look easy."

With the Perry brothers doing their thing, Cleveland jumped out to a 3-0 lead. But the Giants battled back in the late innings and won 6-4 on Ed Goodson's two-out double in the 10th.

In other exhibition games Thursday, the Chicago White Sox blanked St. Louis 5-0, Milwaukee defeated the Chicago Cubs 3-1, Texas powered past Los Angeles 8-4, Boston crushed Pittsburgh 9-2, Montreal nipped Detroit 6-5, Cincinnati edged Minnesota 3-2, the New York Yankees slipped past the New York Mets 7-6, Atlanta squeezed past Houston 3-2 in 16 innings, and Kansas City rolled over Baltimore 7-1.

Henry Aaron, returning to Milwaukee where he started his major league career, knocked in his first run as a Brewer with a sacrifice fly. But it was John Briggs who powered a home run in the first and scored on Aaron's sacrifice fly before catcher Darrell Porter homered to give Milwaukee the victory.

Aaron broke in with the Milwaukee Braves, then moved to Atlanta when the franchise was shifted. He was traded during the off-season to the Brewers.

Tony Perez singled home the winning run in Cincinnati's victory, while Texas exploded for four runs in the eighth inning to snap a 4-4 tie and down the Dodgers.

The Yankees were led by Fred Stanley, whose two singles and a sacrifice fly drove in two runs, including the gamewinner.

Frank White collected four hits, including a homer, and Amos Otis added a roundtripper as Kansas City snapped a 1-1 to easily defeat Baltimore.

Danny Cater and Juan Beniquez smashed home runs to lead Boston's 14-hit attack that snapped a three-game Red Sox losing streak and swamped the Pirates.

Knuckleballer Wilbur Wood and three other White Sox pitchers limited St. Louis to just two hits while Chicago scored three runs in the first five innings and two more in the final two frames.

Montreal ran its spring record to 5-1 with an 18-hit attack, including homers by Jose Morales, Pete Mackanin and Larry Parrish.

Jack Pierce's single to left-center in the 16th inning scored Biff Pocoroba from first to give Atlanta its victory over Houston.

Vida Blue was shelled for five runs in the first two innings, but Oakland came back to defeat Arizona State 10-8.

Minnesota, Michigan Tech In Hockey Finals

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mike Pollich gave a pep talk. And his University of Minnesota teammates, especially junior Warren Miller, were all ears.

As a result, Minnesota rallied to defeat a tired Harvard team 6-4 Thursday night and kept alive its hopes for a second straight National Collegiate Athletic Association hockey championship.

The Gophers meet Michigan Tech for the Division I championship Saturday night. Tech, which defeated Boston University 9-5 in the other first-round game Thursday, lost to Minnesota in the 1974 NCAA title game.

Minnesota was outskated and outplayed by Harvard in the first two periods Thursday night and found itself on the short end of a 4-2 score. So Pollich, an agressive All-America center, decided it was time for a talk.

"I told them that all year long we've been up for pressure. What are we going to do, play sour grapes because we're down? Are we gonna throw in the towel or play hockey?" Pollich said.

Miller, a right winger, was one who wasted no time in deciding. With less than nine minutes elapsed in the final period, Miller—who had not scored in the team's last 10 games—rained in three goals. And Mark Lambert's tally with five minutes left capped a five-goal Minnesota rally.

Although Miller owned the limelight after his first-ever three-goal performance, Gopher Coach Herb Brooks thinks a goal scored in the previous period was just as significant.

Eight minutes into the middle period, with Harvard in command, 4-1, Minnesota's Pat Phippen stole the puck and drove it past Crimson goalie Brian Petrovek.

"Without that one, I don't know if we could have come back," said Brooks of the goal that kept his team within striking distance.

"I think the fact they came right out and went after us," cost his team the game, said Harvard Bill Cleary. "Our guys didn't take the bull by the horns...You get in a tight game, you're afraid to make mistakes and you get cautious."

Goals came even more freely in the nightcap—and four of Michigan Tech's nine goals were on the power play. After the game was knotted 2-2 following one period of play, Stu Younger and Peter Roberts started a five-goal second period with unassisted scores off Boston goaltender Brian Durocher.

Michigan Tech led by as many as six goals before the Terriers narrowed the final margin.

Tech Coach John MacInnes would offer no predictions on Saturday's outcome, pointing out that both teams enter the game with plenty of momentum.

Women Golfers Veto Pro Event

HOUSTON (AP) — The Ladies Professional Golfers Association has voted not to play in the $100,000 LPGA tournament scheduled here after hearing a last minute play now, pay later offer from the sponsor.

LPGA Executive Director Bud Erickson broke the unprecedented news late Thursday night after a final meeting with the tournament sponsor, Gulf Coast Golf News.

"Due to the fact that Larry Flood and Gulf Coast Golf News have failed to live up to the contractual obligations concerning the prize purse, the LPGA today (Thursday) announced the decision of its membership not to participate in the Gulf Coast Golf News Open," Erickson said in the statement.

LPGA lawyer Fletcher Etheridge said less than two per cent of the $100,000 purse was on deposit in a bank late Thursday when the LPGA touring pros voted overwhelmingly not to play in the tournament, scheduled to begin today.

"We've had some bad checks, things like that, but never this," LPGA President Carol Mann said. "I think it's an unfortunate situation. We tried every way we could to give the sponsor a chance to produce and still protect our rights and our options as well as we possibly could."

Erickson said Flood planned to finance the tournament by selling sponsorships ranging from $8,500 down to $25.

"Because of sponsor participation and some late withdrawals, it left us a position that we asked for new arrangements that the LPGA felt like it couldn't accept," Flood said. "But we still are willing to meet our obligation even if it has to be paid at a later date.

"It almost boils down into a category of play now and pay later."

A field of 102 golfers had been scheduled to tee off at Westwood Country Club today for the 54-hole event, one of the largest fields on the tour.

Cancellation of the tournament here keeps the touring pros out of action for a second straight week. They had an open date last week.

Southpaw Still After First 700 Series

Mummaw Just Misses Second 300

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

Bud Mummaw's effort to double his 300 pleasure just came up "high" Tuesday night.

Mummaw, who tossed a perfect game in 1967, smashed 10 strikes in a row but then left the 2-4-7 in the 11th to settle for a 287.

Another 300 would have made Mummaw the first southwestern Michigan bowler to achieve two sanctioned league perfect games.

Mummaw, who notched his 300 on a Tuesday night in the City league at Gersonde's, was bowling in the same league Tuesday although on different alleys.

"I was hoping for another 300...it certainly was on my mind," offers Mummaw, a southpaw. "But I guess it just wasn't meant to be.

"I could tell right away that my ball was too high in the 11th. I pulled my ball and it came high on the head pin."

Mummaw, who carries averages of 180 and 186, was more frustrated at not getting his first 700 series in 28 years of bowling than missing the 300. An opening 165 game just before the 287 ruined his 700 chances as he finished with 660.

"I changed my line after the first game and then everything seemed to work out okay," adds Mummaw. "I sure would like a 700. But that 165 messed that up.

"I got a new fingertip ball to start the season and I got off to a slow start. But I seem to be coming around now."

The 287 just keeps Mummaw out of the men's high games standings by a single pin.

Sharon Kline, Rose Black and Carol Nisi all hit 600 series this week.

Sharon rifled her first 600 of the season with 202-203-207—612. She notched the series in the Thursday Night Ladies league at Theo's.

Rose flung 213-207-188—608 Sunday night in the New Comers Mixed league at Lakes Bowl. The 608 was her first 600 series since 1968.

Carol, bowling in the Tuesday Night Ladies league at Theo's, fashioned her fifth 600 of the season with 203-225-172—600. She sparked Buffalo Drugs to a big 2573 team series.

The Southwestern Michigan Women's Association City tournament starts Monday night with the team event at Gersonde's. Team bowling will continue on designated Monday, Thursday and Friday nights until April 11. The singles and doubles are slated for April 15, 16 and 17 at Blossom Lanes.

Lake Michigan College men took six out of a possible eight points Tuesday in a league bowling match at Blossom Lanes. LMC grabbed all four points against Delta and split with Oakland, the league leader at 50-6. Jim Morris paced LMC, now 32-24 and third in the eight-team league, with a 565 series (207 high game) while George Fulton followed with 562 (215). The final league meet will be March 26 at Mott.

The LMC women closed out their season with a final 9½-30½ mark and last place in the four-team girls' league. Oakland took the title. Cindy Wilder with a 461 series (208) sparked the LMC girls to two points Tuesday.

It'll be the Hoge brothers against the Heyn sisters Sunday starting at 1:30 p.m. at Lakeshore Lanes. The family acts will meet in a "fun" challenge match. There will be three games of scratch bowling. The Hoge team consists of Chuck, Ray, Skeeter, Bill and Ken. The Heyn team is made up of Tootie Blosser, Millie Farris, Ginny Essig, Charlotte Waaso and Lorraine Waaso.

The Won's team from Gersonde's has the third top junior boys' team series in the nation, according to Junior Bowler magazine. The squad shot a 3043 handicap series earlier this season to take the high placing. A 1035 game also is good for ninth in the high team game rankings. Members of the team are Norm Klug, Mike Companion, Chuck Ogata, Dale Rupley and Mike Locey.

Split conversions this week included the 6-7-10 by Mary Ann Whiteside, Terri Pallas, Jane Kroening, Gloria Weir, Rose Lynch, Darlene Gleffe, Barbara Bean, Dorris Deig, Ken Burger and Horace Pilgrim; the 6-7 by Irma Gelesko, Rose Kelly, V. Griffis, Jim Keller, Don Ridge, Kay Newell and Harry Keltner; the 4-7-10 by P. Byrns, Joan Meek, Frank Price, Genny Hartman, Craig Niephaus, Dorothy Nesbitt and Betty Vergon; the 4-10 by Dorothy Ehrenberg, Velma Irvin, and Jan Lester; the 4-6-8-10 by Bob Krizinski; the 5-7-10 by Alice Wilk; the 8-10 by Jackie Moore and the 4-7-9-10 by Michelle Patrick.

Southpaw Still After First 700 Series

Mummaw Just Misses Second 300

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

Bud Mummaw's effort to double his 300 pleasure just came up "high" Tuesday night.

Mummaw, who tossed a perfect game in 1967, smashed 10 strikes in a row but then left the 2-4-7 in the 11th to settle for a 287.

Another 300 would have made Mummaw the first southwestern Michigan bowler to achieve two sanctioned league perfect games.

Mummaw, who notched his 300 on a Tuesday night in the City league at Gersonde's, was bowling in the same league Tuesday although on different alleys.

"I was hoping for another 300...it certainly was on my mind," offers Mummaw, a southpaw. "But I guess it just wasn't meant to be.

"I could tell right away that my ball was too high in the 11th. I pulled my ball and it came high on the head pin."

Mummaw, who carries averages of 180 and 186, was more frustrated at not getting his first 700 series in 28 years of bowling than missing the 300. An opening 165 game just before the 287 ruined his 700 chances as he finished with 660.

"I changed my line after the first game and then everything seemed to work out okay," adds Mummaw. "I sure would like a 700. But that 165 messed that up.

"I got a new fingertip ball to start the season and I got off to a slow start. But I seem to be coming around now."

The 287 just keeps Mummaw out of the men's high games standings by a single pin.

Sharon Kline, Rose Black and Carol Nisi all hit 600 series this week.

Sharon rifled her first 600 of the season with 202-203-207—612. She notched the series in the Thursday Night Ladies league at Theo's.

Rose flung 213-207-188—608 Sunday night in the New Comers Mixed league at Lakes Bowl. The 608 was her first 600 series since 1968.

Carol, bowling in the Tuesday Night Ladies league at Theo's, fashioned her fifth 600 of the season with 203-225-172—600. She sparked Buffalo Drugs to a big 2573 team series.

The Southwestern Michigan Women's Association City tournament starts Monday night with the team event at Gersonde's. Team bowling will continue on designated Monday, Thursday and Friday nights until April 11. The singles and doubles are slated for April 15, 16 and 17 at Blossom Lanes.

Lake Michigan College men took six out of a possible eight points Tuesday in a league bowling match at Blossom Lanes. LMC grabbed all four points against Delta and split with Oakland, the league leader at 50-6. Jim Morris paced LMC, now 32-24 and third in the eight-team league, with a 565 series (207 high game) while George Fulton followed with 562 (215). The final league meet will be March 26 at Mott.

The LMC women closed out their season with a final 9½-30½ mark and last place in the four-team girls' league. Oakland took the title. Cindy Wilder with a 461 series (208) sparked the LMC girls to two points Tuesday.

It'll be the Hoge brothers against the Heyn sisters Sunday starting at 1:30 p.m. at Lakeshore Lanes. The family acts will meet in a "fun" challenge match. There will be three games of scratch bowling. The Hoge team consists of Chuck, Ray, Skeeter, Bill and Ken. The Heyn team is made up of Tootie Blosser, Millie Farris, Ginny Essig, Charlotte Waaso and Lorraine Waaso.

The Won's team from Gersonde's has the third top junior boys' team series in the nation, according to Junior Bowler magazine. The squad shot a 3043 handicap series earlier this season to take the high placing. A 1035 game also is good for ninth in the high team game rankings. Members of the team are Norm Klug, Mike Companion, Chuck Ogata, Dale Rupley and Mike Locey.

Split conversions this week included the 6-7-10 by Mary Ann Whiteside, Terri Pallas, Jane Kroening, Gloria Weir, Rose Lynch, Darlene Gleffe, Barbara Bean, Dorris Deig, Ken Burger and Horace Pilgrim; the 6-7 by Irma Gelesko, Rose Kelly, V. Griffis, Jim Keller, Don Ridge, Kay Newell and Harry Keltner; the 4-7-10 by P. Byrns, Joan Meek, Frank Price, Genny Hartman, Craig Niephaus, Dorothy Nesbitt and Betty Vergon; the 4-10 by Dorothy Ehrenberg, Velma Irvin, and Jan Lester; the 4-6-8-10 by Bob Krizinski; the 5-7-10 by Alice Wilk; the 8-10 by Jackie Moore and the 4-7-9-10 by Michelle Patrick.

A Candid Talk With Emmy Cosell

"Howard's not the kind of person who like me to be away. It's the childish side of his nature. He can't find things. He gets headaches. I try to laugh about it, but it doesn't make for a very relaxed vacation if you know your husband is in New York being unhappy and disorganized."

What's it like being married to a controversial public figure? This week FAMILY WEEKLY talks with Emmy Cosell, wife of America's most talked about sportscaster, Howard Cosell. You'll learn how Emmy dealt with the unhappiness that often accompanies success, what compromises she has been forced to make and how their children have reacted to their father's critics. It's an uncommonly frank interview with a woman who, like her husband, doesn't mince any words!

Read this outstanding report on the family life of the Cosells in Saturday Family Weekly, a regular feature of this newspaper.

'Today' Is Losing Last Of Show's Original Cast

NEW YORK (AP) — Newscaster Frank Blair, the last original cast member of NBC's "Today" leaves the program for good today after more than 23 years of predawn reveilles to prepare for the daily show.

A sober-faced South Carolinian who became an American institution by virtue of his record "Today" tour, he says he isn't quitting broadcasting, but does plan to loaf a few weeks in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Then, he says, he'll concentrate on commercials, lectures, a documentary or two and "be able to do it at my own pace. I won't have the confinement I've had for 23 years."

He says he regrets leaving the show, "but I wanted to get away from the compulsion of the five-day routine which wears a little thin after all those years of getting up at 4 in the morning."

Blair, 59, broke into broadcasting 40 years ago, joined NBC in 1950 and started on "Today" with anchorman Dave Garroway and announcer Jack Lescoulie when the two-hour show premiered on Jan. 14, 1952.

In the first nine months, he said, he was based in Washington, D.C., and did on-air interviews with various worthies as correspondent Bill Monroe currently does in the modern version of "Today."

The show's producers later moved him to New York permanently for newscasting duties. He's been here ever since, though he now rarely conducts interviews and his newscasts are composed by staff writers.

In the first shaky years of "Today," J. Fred Muggs, a now-famous chimpanzee was added to the cast for reasons which still elude Blair. (Irony note: Muggs was to appear today on ABC's new "AM America" show, which was on against a two-hour Blair salute on "Today.")

"I think J. Fred was brought in to interest young people in watching 'Today,' Blair said of the old days. "But I never could really fathom the chimp being on a news program, even though 'Today' was more than just a news program in the Garroway years.

"It was a little bit of everything, but we're more news-oriented today than we've ever been since I've been on the show."

Oddly enough, newscaster Blair might now be known as Capt. Blair of American Airlines, had he stuck with aviation after three wartime years of teaching flying and piloting a seaplane patrol bomber.

In late 1945, he said, he flew for American as a copilot on DC3s for six months. But the low salary, a growing family — he has eight children — and his wife persuaded him to rejoin the broadcast world.

Looking back on it, would he rather have stayed in the wild blue?

"Oh, hell yes," laughed Blair, who said he still has a commercial pilot's license. Then he backed off a bit. "Well, I guess I wouldn't be that emphatic about it. But I still love flying."

Blair is being replaced on "Today" by Lew Wood, 46, a veteran broadcast newsman who for the last three years has done only commercials, not news, on television.

The dean of "Today" emphasized that "NBC has been damned good to me, but I've just got to leave.

HARVEST OF AWARDS: Members of St. Joseph Coast Guard auxiliary display state and division citations received for outstanding performance last summer. Cmdr. Bruce Karnes (center) holds shields signifying state leadership in safety patrols and assist missions. The unit also received a division award for high performance in over-all program and vessel examinations. Lee Hornack (left), past commander, and Jim Davis, a division staff officer, hold citations for themselves and Royce Leary for individual accomplishments. U.S. Car Purchase Bill Accelerated WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a bill speeding up government purchase of 121,000 U.S.-built cars for $443 million in an effort to aid the struggling auto industry.

The accelerated car purchase provision is contained in the massive $5.9 billion emergency employment act passed by the House on Wednesday.

The bill, designed to create 900,000 new jobs, was adopted by a vote of 313-311.

Some $3.675 billion in the bill is intended to stimulate employment in the private economy, largely through public works and speeded up government contracts.

The $443 million appropriated for autos also provides for the purchase of other motor vehicles for government agencies.

What It's Like To Be Married To Howard Cosell

Howard and Emmy Cosell and their grandson Jamie, 5

A Candid Talk With Emmy Cosell

"Howard's not the kind of person who like me to be away. It's the childish side of his nature. He can't find things. He gets headaches. I try to laugh about it, but it doesn't make for a very relaxed vacation if you know your husband is in New York being unhappy and disorganized."

What's it like being married to a controversial public figure? This week FAMILY WEEKLY talks with Emmy Cosell, wife of America's most talked about sportscaster, Howard Cosell. You'll learn how Emmy dealt with the unhappiness that often accompanies success, what compromises she has been forced to make and how their children have reacted to their father's critics. It's an uncommonly frank interview with a woman who, like her husband, doesn't mince any words!

'Today' Is Losing Last Of Show's Original Cast

NEW YORK (AP) — Newscaster Frank Blair, the last original cast member of NBC's "Today" leaves the program for good today after more than 23 years of predawn reveilles to prepare for the daily show.

A sober-faced South Carolinian who became an American institution by virtue of his record "Today" tour, he says he isn't quitting broadcasting, but does plan to loaf a few weeks in West Palm Beach, Fla.

Then, he says, he'll concentrate on commercials, lectures, a documentary or two and "be able to do it at my own pace. I won't have the confinement I've had for 23 years."

He says he regrets leaving the show, "but I wanted to get away from the compulsion of the five-day routine which wears a little thin after all those years of getting up at 4 in the morning."

Blair, 59, broke into broadcasting 40 years ago, joined NBC in 1950 and started on "Today" with anchorman Dave Garroway and announcer Jack Lescoulie when the two-hour show premiered on Jan. 14, 1952.

In the first nine months, he said, he was based in Washington, D.C., and did on-air interviews with various worthies as correspondent Bill Monroe currently does in the modern version of "Today."

The show's producers later moved him to New York permanently for newscasting duties. He's been here ever since, though he now rarely conducts interviews and his newscasts are composed by staff writers.

In the first shaky years of "Today," J. Fred Muggs, a now-famous chimpanzee was added to the cast for reasons which still elude Blair. (Irony note: Muggs was to appear today on ABC's new "AM America" show, which was on against a two-hour Blair salute on "Today.")

"I think J. Fred was brought in to interest young people in watching 'Today,' Blair said of the old days. "But I never could really fathom the chimp being on a news program, even though 'Today' was more than just a news program in the Garroway years.

"It was a little bit of everything, but we're more news-oriented today than we've ever been since I've been on the show."

Oddly enough, newscaster Blair might now be known as Capt. Blair of American Airlines, had he stuck with aviation after three wartime years of teaching flying and piloting a seaplane patrol bomber.

In late 1945, he said, he flew for American as a copilot on DC3s for six months. But the low salary, a growing family — he has eight children — and his wife persuaded him to rejoin the broadcast world.

Looking back on it, would he rather have stayed in the wild blue?

"Oh, hell yes," laughed Blair, who said he still has a commercial pilot's license. Then he backed off a bit. "Well, I guess I wouldn't be that emphatic about it. But I still love flying."

Blair is being replaced on "Today" by Lew Wood, 46, a veteran broadcast newsman who for the last three years has done only commercials, not news, on television.

The dean of "Today" emphasized that "NBC has been damned good to me, but I've just got to leave.

Crew Leader Registration Act Amended

Growers Liable For Promises Made To Migrants

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Growers who hire crew leaders to recruit migrant workers are liable to be taken to court if promises made to the migrants during recruitment are not met, according to Richard Feferman, director of the Michigan Migrant Legal Assistance project (MMLA).

ATTY. FEFERMAN
Explains Law

During an interview this week at MMLA's Berrien Springs office Feferman explained some recent amendments to the federal Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act, often called the Crew Leader Registration Act.

Due to the amendments, which were passed in December of 1974, "this law now is the most important law concerning migrant farm labor," Feferman said.

These amendments are in force now. Major changes, the attorney explained, are:

— Farmers may deal only with crew leaders registered with the U.S. Department of Labor. A $1,000 fine can be imposed for dealing with an unregistered man.

— When recruiting migrants, the crew leader must tell prospective workers, in written language in which the worker is fluent, the following facts: crops to be picked, wages to be paid, transportation, housing and insurance to be provided, period of employment, any charges imposed by the crew leader and the state of labor problems at the farm where the migrant is being recruited to labor.

— Any farmer furnished workers from a crew leader must maintain all records required to be kept by the contractor under federal law.

— Any worker who feels terms of the act were not met (if, for instance, he claims he was paid less than was offered when he recruited) has the right to sue both crew leader and farmer for damages in federal district court. The court may also appoint an attorney to represent the worker and award damages up to $500 for each violation of the act.

— Before a farmer hires a migrant who was recruited by the farmer's crew leader (farmers who recruit themselves are exempt from the act), that farmer must receive all the information that was provided to the migrant by the crew leader.

According to the act, crew leaders are prohibited from hiring illegal aliens, Feferman said.

According to a report prepared by the U.S. Senate Committee on Labor and Public Welfare, crew leaders have often in the past "exploited" both farmers and migrants by making false promises. In 1963 the Crew Leader Registration Act was passed to stop the abuse.

That act required that crew leaders be registered, but the report stated that of some 6,000 crew leaders operating across state lines, fewer than 2,000 were registered. Although that act provided for criminal prosecution of unregistered crew leaders, only one has ever been convicted and sentenced.

This act includes workers recruited for planting, picking, packing, processing, freezing or grading agricultural commodities, Feferman added.

ASCS Cuts Interest Rate 3¼ Per Cent

A 3¼ per cent decrease in the interest rate for price support commodity loans and storage facility and drying equipment loans will take effect April 1, according to Dorn Diehl, state director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

On April 1 the interest rate will drop from 9.375 per cent to 6.125 per cent. The decrease reflects a similar drop to the Commodity Credit Corporation in the cost of money that it borrows for the loans.

The lower rate will also apply to outstanding loans for which applications were received by Oct. 1, 1974.

Piece Rates Due To Increase April 1

The piece rates paid to laborers for picking Michigan fruits and vegetables will be out-of-date on April 1, when the state's minimum wage jumps from $1.60 an hour to $2 an hour.

Allen E. Shapley, farm labor specialist at Michigan State university's Center for Rural Manpower and Public Affairs, said the Michigan Department of Labor has not yet announced how the increased minimum wage will affect piece rates.

However, he speculated that since the minimum wage is increasing 25 per cent the piece rates will probably follow that increase.

Of course there is always a possibility that some group may request a higher or lower increase, in which case hearings on the question could be called, Shapley said.

On Jan. 1, 1976, Michigan's minimum wage will again increase, this time to $2.20 an hour, he said.

The federal minimum wage, currently $1.80 an hour, will be stepped up to $2 on Jan. 1, 1976, he added.

Apple For U-Pick Or Home Growers Released

Release of a high quality, bright yellow apple that is almost completely russet free was announced during the annual meeting of the Indiana Horticultural Society recently in Indianapolis.

Named "Sir Prize," it is the fourth apple variety developed under a breeding program by researchers at Purdue University, Rutgers and the University of Illinois.

Shaped like (but much more tender fleshed) its parent, Golden Delicious, the new variety also has a new flavor. The flesh has a rich, sub-acid taste with a distinct aroma.

The tree has good branching and is easy to train. It is completely immune to scab and moderately resistant to cedar-apple rust, mildew and fireblight. In the home garden it could do reasonably well with few, if any, fungicide sprays.

Because of its extreme ease of bruising, the cultivar is suggested primarily for home fruit growers, or, in small volume, for the commercial grower who has a "pick your own" market trade.

Peach Handbook Available

Suggestions on how to grow peaches commercially or for the home are given in a new handbook by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Selection of nursery trees, planting, pruning and soil management are reviewed. More than 25 diseases of peach are discussed, together with major species of insect pests. Charts compare 63 commercial peach varieties and 60 promising new ones for ripening dates, bacterial spot resistance, fruit size, attractiveness, color and canning qualities.

Copies of Agriculture Handbook number 463, "Peach Production," may be purchased for $1.35 each by writing: Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., 20402.

SUPER TRYKE: Max Nitz, Baroda township grower, and his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Skinner, demonstrate one use for the three-wheeled super tryke built from a kit distributed by Heald Inc., Benton Harbor. Nitz has owned a one passenger model of the tryke for over a year and has ordered newly designed two passenger tryke, which was loaned him for this picture by Don Rupley, vice president of marketing and engineering for Heald. Nitz uses the light weight machine to check his orchards this time of year, when the ground is too muddy for a pick up truck, he says. He and his daughter are shown pruning and tying grapes. Rupley estimates that he has sold about 100 of the vehicles to local farmers in the last two years. Kits are sold all over the country, he added. (Staff photo)

Sociologists, Agricultural Economists, More, March 17-21 At Farmer's Week

Sociologists, microbiologists, anthropologists, agricultural economists and horticulturists will entertain and enlighten the state's residents when the nation's oldest continuous farm oriented observance comes to Michigan March 17-21.

The event is Michigan State university's Farmer's Week. The event will occur in East Lansing.

The week-long program is planned with the urban dweller in mind as much as the state's largest agricultural producer, says Byron Good, Farmer's Week chairman. This year's theme, "Spartan Science — Spanning a Century," marks the 100th year of the nation's agricultural experiment stations and the 60th of Farmer's Week.

More than 100 educational sessions are planned for the week. A few expected highlights follow:

— Honey producers will meet, talk and receive honey bee swarm control guidelines.

— Dairy farmers will meet to discuss breeds and herd management.

— Horticulturists will discuss vegetable gardening and home wine making.

— Farm economy under pressures of inflation and recession will be explained.

— The health, management, economics and future of Michigan's game bird program will be examined.

— The increase in number of corporate farms and decline in family farms, which is said to have severe social and economic consequences for rural people, will be explained by MSU sociologists.

Growers Should Book Bees Soon

One reason why Michigan beekeepers appreciate early booking from growers is because of the permit required by the state's department of agriculture to move bees for pollination.

Another reason is that the beekeeper can then have the time to be certain his hives are ready to be moved. This includes checking the colonies to see if they are strong enough and banding the hives for travel.

It is against state law to move bees on comb into Michigan. The Department of Agriculture can destroy the combs of any beekeeper caught doing this. This law aims at avoiding the possibility that a disease known as American Foul Brood, if present, will spread between colonies.

When a colony is found to have foul brood, the bees and frames within the hives are burned and the rest of the equipment scorched.

Red Meat Production Up In 1974

Commercial red meat production in Michigan totaled a little over 1 billion pounds in 1974, the state Crop Reporting Service states.

Last year's production was three per cent higher than the 969 million pounds of meat produced in the state in 1973. During the final quarter of 1974 meat production was six per cent above fourth quarter 1973 output.

The service reports there were 628,000 head of Michigan cattle slaughtered in 1974, up eight per cent from the 582,000 killed in 1973. Calf slaughter in 1974 was up 14 per cent at a total of 70,000 head, sheep and lamb slaughter dropped four per cent and hogs killed totaled nearly 4 million, up four per cent.

Turkey Output In For Sharp Drop

Michigan's turkey production is in for a sharp drop this year, according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service.

Breeder hens on Michigan farms as of Dec. 1, 1974, totaled 30,000, down 54 per cent from a year earlier. The Dec. 1, 1974 value of breeder hens totaled $300,000, compared with $585,000 on Dec. 1, 1973 and $455,000 for 1972. The average value per bird increased to $10 from an average value of $9 in 1973 and $6.50 in 1972.

Michigan growers raised 971,000 turkeys during 1974, down 11 per cent from both the 1,088,000 raised in 1973 and the 1,089,000 raised in 1972.

Nationwide, turkey growers in 20 states intend to raise six per cent fewer turkeys in 1975 than they raised in either 1974 or 1973.

State Cattle Count Up

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan farms had three per cent more head of cattle and calves at the beginning of this year than at the same time in 1974. The Michigan Crop Reporting Service said Friday there were approximately 1.6 million head of cattle and calves on state farms Jan. 1.

A spokesman said the number of milk cows increased less than one per cent to 421,000 head. The number of cattle farms increased five per cent to 40,000 while the number of milk cow farms decreased five per cent to 14,000, the spokesman said.

SOY OIL FUEL?

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The nation's farmers may be running their tractors on soybean oil. That's the word from "Wallaces Farmer," a rural publication. It says a bushel of soybeans contains about 1½ gallons of soybean oil that could be used for fuel. At current prices, soybean oil would be expensive but if fuel prices increase enough, soybean oil may become a reasonable source for fuel. The price of diesel fuel would have to be about $4 per gallon before it would be economical to convert to soybean oil-fueled engines. But the future may soon bring a blend of petroleum oil and plant oil as fuels.

SUPER TRYKE: Max Nitz, Baroda township grower, and his daughter, Mrs. Ruth Skinner, demonstrate one use for the three-wheeled super tryke built from a kit distributed by Heald Inc., Benton Harbor. Nitz has owned a one passenger model of the tryke for over a year and has ordered newly designed two passenger tryke, which was loaned him for this picture by Don Rupley, vice president of marketing and engineering for Heald. Nitz uses the light weight machine to check his orchards this time of year, when the ground is too muddy for a pick up truck, he says. He and his daughter are shown pruning and tying grapes. Rupley estimates that he has sold about 100 of the vehicles to local farmers in the last two years. Kits are sold all over the country, he added. (Staff photo)

Sociologists, Agricultural Economists, More, March 17-21 At Farmer's Week

Sociologists, microbiologists, anthropologists, agricultural economists and horticulturists will entertain and enlighten the state's residents when the nation's oldest continuous farm oriented observance comes to Michigan March 17-21.

The event is Michigan State university's Farmer's Week. The event will occur in East Lansing.

The week-long program is planned with the urban dweller in mind as much as the state's largest agricultural producer, says Byron Good, Farmer's Week chairman. This year's theme, "Spartan Science — Spanning a Century," marks the 100th year of the nation's agricultural experiment stations and the 60th of Farmer's Week.

More than 100 educational sessions are planned for the week. A few expected highlights follow:

— Honey producers will meet, talk and receive honey bee swarm control guidelines.

— Dairy farmers will meet to discuss breeds and herd management.

— Horticulturists will discuss vegetable gardening and home wine making.

— Farm economy under pressures of inflation and recession will be explained.

— The health, management, economics and future of Michigan's game bird program will be examined.

— The increase in number of corporate farms and decline in family farms, which is said to have severe social and economic consequences for rural people, will be explained by MSU sociologists.

Growers Should Book Bees Soon

One reason why Michigan beekeepers appreciate early booking from growers is because of the permit required by the state's department of agriculture to move bees for pollination.

Another reason is that the beekeeper can then have the time to be certain his hives are ready to be moved. This includes checking the colonies to see if they are strong enough and banding the hives for travel.

It is against state law to move bees on comb into Michigan. The Department of Agriculture can destroy the combs of any beekeeper caught doing this. This law aims at avoiding the possibility that a disease known as American Foul Brood, if present, will spread between colonies.

When a colony is found to have foul brood, the bees and frames within the hives are burned and the rest of the equipment scorched.

British Medics Going Private

LONDON (AP) — The Labor government's efforts to stop private practice in state hospitals has triggered a drive for more private hospital space in England.

About 100 representatives of private hospitals, insurance groups and doctors met Thursday to form the Independent Hospital Group, which will seek to build hospitals with 2,500 private beds.

British Medics Going Private

LONDON (AP) — The Labor government's efforts to stop private practice in state hospitals has triggered a drive for more private hospital space in England.

About 100 representatives of private hospitals, insurance groups and doctors met Thursday to form the Independent Hospital Group, which will seek to build hospitals with 2,500 private beds.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Turns Upward

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned upward today, supported by further signs of easing in credit conditions.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up about a point, and gainers took a 2 to 1 lead over losers at the New York Stock Exchange.

After Thursday's close, the Federal Reserve reported that business loans at major New York banks took a $424 million drop in the week ending Wednesday.

Such evidence of sagging loan demand raised the prospect of further declines in the bank prime lending rate.

This morning New York's First National City Bank and Pittsburgh's Mellon Bank cut their basic rates on corporate loans to 7¾ per cent. A few other large banks had gone to that level earlier in the week.

Today's prices included IU International, down ¼ at 12¼; Jefferson-Pilot, up ⅜ at 33⅜; A.H. Robins, down ⅛ at 14½, and Eastman Kodak, unchanged at 91.

In Thursday's mixed market the Dow Jones industrial average posted a token decline of .79 to 762.98.

Declines barely nosed out advances on the Big Board, but the exchange's composite index rose .09 to 44.31.

NYSE volume came to 18.62 million shares, the lightest total in nearly two weeks.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index advanced .59 to 78.50.

Panel Opposes Benton Gas Sales

A spokesman for a special committee of the Benton txplanning commission last night recommended denial of a used car dealer's request to sell gasoline because "there are gas stations boarded up all over the township."

The request for a special permit to sell gas was made by Marvin Wolter who said he wanted to install gas pumps at his used car business at 1358 Territorial. Wolter said he already had gas tanks installed for his own use and would install the pumps to sell to the public.

The planning commission postponed a vote on the matter because two commissioners on the special committee, Chester Jollay and Earl Patterson, were absent.

Commissioner Charles Duncan, the only member of the special committee present, said there are already too many gas stations closed down in the township. He added that Wolter's lot is not a good location since there already is a gas station right next to it and one a quarter-mile down the road which is boarded up and used for rummage sales.

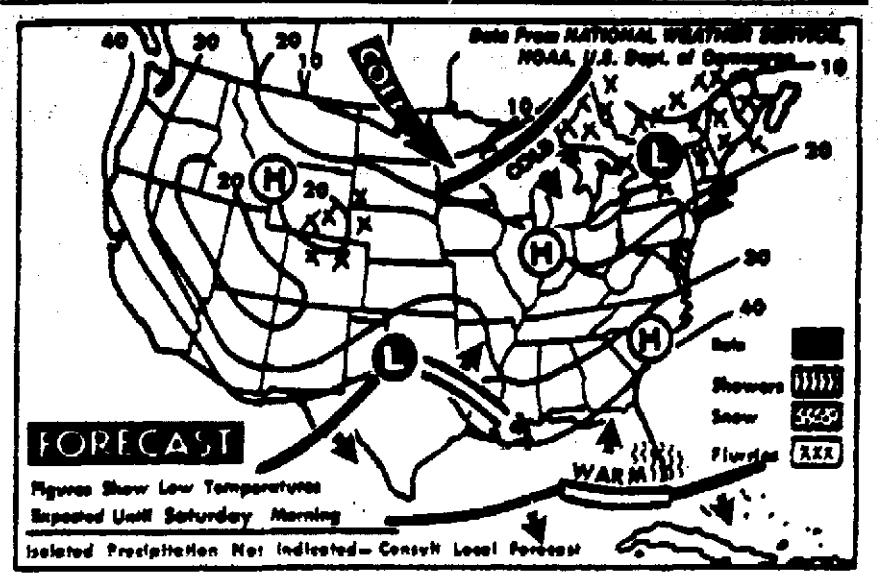
Wolter said he was aware that there is a large number of closed stations in the township and said he had earlier closed a station he owned in the township. Wolter said he would like the request to go before a public hearing because none of the neighbors surronding the proposed business had indicated they objected to it.

All requests for special permits can go before a public hearing. The township board of trustees, however, makes a final decision on a request.

In other action, the commission:

— Postponed a vote on a request by Richard Brogan for rezoning of a single-family dwelling to a two-family dwelling. Brogan said he wanted to make two apartments out of his house at 990 South Crystal.

— Sent to committee a request by Al Lieberman, 5968 Clearbrook drive, Stevensville, for a scrap yard at 1325 Paw Paw avenue. Lieberman said he wanted to store used steel at the site and sell it as scrap metal.



TODAY'S WEATHER MAP: The National Weather Service forecasts a dry day generally across the country today aside from a few snow flurries in the Rockies and the Northeast and showers in Florida. (AP Wirephoto)

Only The Sugar Was Missing

DETROIT (AP) — A $22,000 inventory which took four months to complete has turned up 50 pounds of missing sugar and some dried up ballpoint pens.

The probe was started last year when a union official told the Board of Education that textbooks and other supplies were being taken from a school warehouse.

But the accounting firm of Arthur Anderson and Co., hired to do the inventory, said $2.5 million in supplies — except for two 25 pound sacks of sugar — remain where they should be.

The acountants also said 6,000 ballpoint pens no longer are usable because the ink has dried up.

Dow Plans Expansion In Brazil

MIDLAND, Mich. (AP) — Dow Chemical Co. has informed the Brazilian government it plans a $500 million expansion at its Aratu petrochemical complex in northeast Brazil.

The expansion includes an ethylene plant utilizing naphtha feedstock that will produce 400,000 tons per year, according to Dave Schornstein, president of Dow's Latin American area.

The expansion, over the next 10 years, also includes nearby plants to produce chemical, plastics and agricultural products.

The Aratu complex is near the city of Salvador, about 750 miles northeast of Rio de Janeiro, where Dow currently is constructing five plants valued at about $190 million.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Exiled Cambodian leader Prince Norodom Sihanouk has told actress Jane Fonda and her husband, Tom Hayden, that a "peaceful transfer of power in Phnom Penh" is possible if the United States flies the Lon Nol government out of Cambodia.

Sidewalk Report Is Corrected

BUCHANAN — A spokesman for a Bridgman firm named in a story published by this newspaper Tuesday regarding a Buchanan city sidewalk project said the reported installation figures for his firm should have been 80 cents a square foot or $3.20 a lineal foot.

The statement was made by Tom Baldwin, owner of Dual Builders.

The figures were mentioned in connection with city plans to have sidewalks installed on parts of Chippewa and Fourth streets near the new middle school.

City Manager Robert Faulhaber said the cost figures had not been submitted to the city as indicated in the article, but had been made to private citizens.

Faulhaber also said creation of a special assessment district to finance sidewalk installation was not acted upon, as reported. It was reviewed, he said, for adoption later once it is known how many people install sidewalks on an individual basis.

FOR MEETING

Ross Field Men Going To Lansing

By DICK DERRICK
SJ City Editor

Twin Cities Airport board yesterday decided to send a committee of four to Lansing next Tuesday to discuss airport expansion.

The committee will be board Chairman John Banyon, Secretary-treasurer Joe Carver and board members E. A. Larson and Clinton Raines. They will meet with members of the Michigan Aeronautics Commission and with the board's engineer, Robert Peckham.

The airport board met earlier this month with three representatives of the aeronautics commission and heard that the Federal Aviation Agency will most likely demand an updating of the Ross field master plan before the FAA will enter into any future programs for improvements at Ross field.

The FAA has considerable money earmarked for planning but the amount of state matching funds is limited, so much of the burden for extensive professional planning would have to be borne locally.

The FAA will pay for two-thirds of the cost of updating the master plan. The state will allot a maximum of $5,000. Updating a plan for a facility the size of Ross field is expected to cost $100,000. Thus the airport board would have to come up with approximately $30,000.

Banyon said the committee will discuss with the aeronautics commission how soon the planning work will have to begin.

The airport board several months ago received a plan from Peckham for runway expansion to accomodate jet planes, but this was not a master plan as required by the FAA.

St. Joseph City Attorney Arthur G. Preston, who now serves as the airport's legal adviser, gave a report on condemnation proceedings currently underway. The airport board is attempting to remove any obstacles to ground level east of the main runway so that a recently installed instrument landing system can operate effectively. Four parcels are involved. One parcel must be purchased to remove buildings. On the other three only the trees must be removed.

A&P May Close A Third Of Stores

NEW YORK (AP) — Operators of the A&P food chain say they may close more than 1,200 of their 3,300 stores during the next 12 months.

J.L. Scott, the new chairman of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., said, "Phasing out these mostly small, obsolete stores is an essential first step to an accelerated program of rebuilding and updating our facilities."

Scott said it was not yet possible to determine how many of the A&P's 100,000 employes would be affected or which stores, offices and distribution plants would be shut down because lease and labor union negotiations that bear on the anticipated closings have not been completed.

A few weeks ago, Scott announced several hundred stores would be shut, but Thursday he revised that estimate upward. He said the closings "will enable us to relate more effectively to the expectations of today's consumers."

Founded 159 years ago, the A&P is America's largest food chain and has traditionally led the nation's supermarkets in sales volume. Company spokesmen say preliminary computations show a loss in the fourth quarter of last year.

SOUTH HAVEN

Commission To Seek U.S. Housing Funds

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — South Haven Housing commission during a special meeting last night approved applying for $160,989 in federal funds to undertake a modernization program at its low-income family housing project.

The application is subject to approval by the city council.

The South Haven public housing program has been given a priority rating by the U.S. Deparment of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) under its modernization program.

A majority of the funds would be used to correct construction deficiencies when the 50 single family dwellings were built in 1969.

Nearly half of the funds ($78,780) would be used to correct a drainage problem that has left standing water under many of the homes and created quagmires in most yards.

Other anticipated projects include extending and widening of driveways ($11,340), installation of all-weather doors (front and back) at each home ($20,800), and construction of storage sheds for articles such as bikes, lawnmowers, etc. ($40,800). Included in the grant application is $10,069 for engineering fees.

HUD officials visited South Haven earlier this month and reported that the city's chances of receiving the modernization funds are excellent. The housing commission has been seeking the funds for nearly four years.

If approved by HUD, the money would become available by July 1, allowing work to begin this summer.

B&W Tube Production To Halt

ALBION, Mich. (AP)—The Corning Glass Co. plant is phasing out production of black and white television tubes because demand is so low company officials contend the tubes cannot be made profitably in this country.

Henry Frailey, general manager of Corning's Television Products Division, made the announcement citing the lack of profitablility due to low domestic demand for such tubes. The Albion plant also makes tubes for color sets.

Company officials said the phaseout should be complete by year's end. They refused to say what the change will do to employment at the plant which already has seen its workforce cut from nearly 900 to about 300 in less than a year.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Turns Upward

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market turned upward today, supported by further signs of easing in credit conditions.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up about a point, and gainers took a 2 to 1 lead over losers at the New York Stock Exchange.

After Thursday's close, the Federal Reserve reported that business loans at major New York banks took a $424 million drop in the week ending Wednesday.

Such evidence of sagging loan demand raised the prospect of further declines in the bank prime lending rate.

This morning New York's First National City Bank and Pittsburgh's Mellon Bank cut their basic rates on corporate loans to 7¾ per cent. A few other large banks had gone to that level earlier in the week.

Today's prices included IU International, down ¼ at 12¼; Jefferson-Pilot, up ⅜ at 33⅜; A.H. Robins, down ⅛ at 14½, and Eastman Kodak, unchanged at 91.

In Thursday's mixed market the Dow Jones industrial average posted a token decline of .79 to 762.98.

Declines barely nosed out advances on the Big Board, but the exchange's composite index rose .09 to 44.31.

NYSE volume came to 18.62 million shares, the lightest total in nearly two weeks.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index advanced .59 to 78.50.

Panel Opposes Benton Gas Sales

A spokesman for a special committee of the Benton txplanning commission last night recommended denial of a used car dealer's request to sell gasoline because "there are gas stations boarded up all over the township."

The request for a special permit to sell gas was made by Marvin Wolter who said he wanted to install gas pumps at his used car business at 1358 Territorial. Wolter said he already had gas tanks installed for his own use and would install the pumps to sell to the public.

The planning commission postponed a vote on the matter because two commissioners on the special committee, Chester Jollay and Earl Patterson, were absent.

Commissioner Charles Duncan, the only member of the special committee present, said there are already too many gas stations closed down in the township. He added that Wolter's lot is not a good location since there already is a gas station right next to it and one a quarter-mile down the road which is boarded up and used for rummage sales.

Wolter said he was aware that there is a large number of closed stations in the township and said he had earlier closed a station he owned in the township. Wolter said he would like the request to go before a public hearing because none of the neighbors surronding the proposed business had indicated they objected to it.

All requests for special permits can go before a public hearing. The township board of trustees, however, makes a final decision on a request.

In other action, the commission:

— Postponed a vote on a request by Richard Brogan for rezoning of a single-family dwelling to a two-family dwelling. Brogan said he wanted to make two apartments out of his house at 990 South Crystal.

— Sent to committee a request by Al Lieberman, 5968 Clearbrook drive, Stevensville, for a scrap yard at 1325 Paw Paw avenue. Lieberman said he wanted to store used steel at the site and sell it as scrap metal.

Only The Sugar Was Missing

DETROIT (AP) — A $22,000 inventory which took four months to complete has turned up 50 pounds of missing sugar and some dried up ballpoint pens.

The probe was started last year when a union official told the Board of Education that textbooks and other supplies were being taken from a school warehouse.

But the accounting firm of Arthur Anderson and Co., hired to do the inventory, said $2.5 million in supplies — except for two 25 pound sacks of sugar — remain where they should be.

The acountants also said 6,000 ballpoint pens no longer are usable because the ink has dried up.

The expansion, over the next 10 years, also includes nearby plants to produce chemical, plastics and agricultural products.

The Aratu complex is near the city of Salvador, about 750 miles northeast of Rio de Janeiro, where Dow currently is constructing five plants valued at about $190 million.

Sidewalk Report Is Corrected

BUCHANAN — A spokesman for a Bridgman firm named in a story published by this newspaper Tuesday regarding a Buchanan city sidewalk project said the reported installation figures for his firm should have been 80 cents a square foot or $3.20 a lineal foot.

The statement was made by Tom Baldwin, owner of Dual Builders.

The figures were mentioned in connection with city plans to have sidewalks installed on parts of Chippewa and Fourth streets near the new middle school.

City Manager Robert Faulhaber said the cost figures had not been submitted to the city as indicated in the article, but had been made to private citizens.

Faulhaber also said creation of a special assessment district to finance sidewalk installation was not acted upon, as reported. It was reviewed, he said, for adoption later once it is known how many people install sidewalks on an individual basis.

FOR MEETING

Ross Field Men Going To Lansing

By DICK DERRICK
SJ City Editor

Twin Cities Airport board yesterday decided to send a committee of four to Lansing next Tuesday to discuss airport expansion.

The committee will be board Chairman John Banyon, Secretary-treasurer Joe Carver and board members E. A. Larson and Clinton Raines. They will meet with members of the Michigan Aeronautics Commission and with the board's engineer, Robert Peckham.

The airport board met earlier this month with three representatives of the aeronautics commission and heard that the Federal Aviation Agency will most likely demand an updating of the Ross field master plan before the FAA will enter into any future programs for improvements at Ross field.

The FAA has considerable money earmarked for planning but the amount of state matching funds is limited, so much of the burden for extensive professional planning would have to be borne locally.

The FAA will pay for two-thirds of the cost of updating the master plan. The state will allot a maximum of $5,000. Updating a plan for a facility the size of Ross field is expected to cost $100,000. Thus the airport board would have to come up with approximately $30,000.

Banyon said the committee will discuss with the aeronautics commission how soon the planning work will have to begin.

The airport board several months ago received a plan from Peckham for runway expansion to accomodate jet planes, but this was not a master plan as required by the FAA.

St. Joseph City Attorney Arthur G. Preston, who now serves as the airport's legal adviser, gave a report on condemnation proceedings currently underway. The airport board is attempting to remove any obstacles to ground level east of the main runway so that a recently installed instrument landing system can operate effectively. Four parcels are involved. One parcel must be purchased to remove buildings. On the other three only the trees must be removed.

B&W Tube Production To Halt

ALBION, Mich. (AP)—The Corning Glass Co. plant is phasing out production of black and white television tubes because demand is so low company officials contend the tubes cannot be made profitably in this country.

Henry Frailey, general manager of Corning's Television Products Division, made the announcement citing the lack of profitablility due to low domestic demand for such tubes. The Albion plant also makes tubes for color sets.

Company officials said the phaseout should be complete by year's end. They refused to say what the change will do to employment at the plant which already has seen its workforce cut from nearly 900 to about 300 in less than a year.

A&P May Close A Third Of Stores

NEW YORK (AP) — Operators of the A&P food chain say they may close more than 1,200 of their 3,500 stores during the next 12 months.

J.L. Scott, the new chairman of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., said, "Phasing out these mostly small, obsolete stores is an essential first step to an accelerated program of rebuilding and updating our facilities."

Scott said it was not yet possible to determine how many of the A&P's 100,000 employes would be affected or which stores, offices and distribution plants would be shut down because lease and labor union negotiations that bear on the anticipated closings have not been completed.

A few weeks ago, Scott announced several hundred stores would be shut, but Thursday he revised that estimate upward. He said the closings "will enable us to relate more effectively to the expectations of today's consumers."

Founded 159 years ago, the A&P is America's largest food chain and has traditionally led the nation's supermarkets in sales volume. Company spokesmen say preliminary computations show a loss in the fourth quarter of last year.

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong claimed today that Communist-led forces had captured Ban Me Thuot after five days of bitter fighting for control of the provincial capital in South Vietnam's central highlands.

South Vietnamese officials and Western military analysts acknowledged that North Vietnamese forces controlled large parts of the city, but said that government troops were still in and around it.

One military analyst said, "I don't think the situation is good inside the city."

The fate of nine Americans trapped in the city was not known. Radio contact has been lost with them for two days. Earlier, misunderstood reports said radio contact had again been made with the nine — a U.S. Embassy official and eight missionaries.

Meanwhile, a new threat arose to Tay Ninh City, 55 miles northwest of Saigon.

In Cambodia, the U.S. airlift to Phnom Penh, suspended at noon Thursday when a Khmer Rouge shell exploded an ammunition dump, resumed despite more bombardment.

Diplomatic sources said Australia was closing its embassy in the Cambodian capital Saturday, and the French Embassy announced an airlift to evacuate French, Swiss, Swedish and West German citizens.

The Saigon command said North Vietnamese infantrymen and tanks overran two outposts near the Cambodian border less than 10 miles southwest of Tay Ninh City.

The government claimed three North Vietnamese tanks were destroyed at one of the posts. But field reports said a South Vietnamese A37 jet bomber and a small observation plane were shot down, killing the three fliers.

North Vietnamese or Viet Cong gunners also fired 29 rockets into Hieu Thien, a district town 10 miles south of Tay Ninh City, killing one civilian and wounding five, the Saigon command reported. Another district town east of the provincial capital, Tri Tam, was captured by the North Vietnamese two days ago.

Tay Ninh City, 55 miles northwest of Saigon, has been under heavy pressure since the fall of Phuoc Long province, to the east of it, on Jan. 7. The North Vietnamese may plan to try to take it soon to expand their territorial holdings north of Saigon, which include all of Phuoc Long, all of Binh Long province except An Loc, the provincial capital, and the northern half of Tay Ninh province.

At Ban Me Thuot, the capital of Darlac province in the Central Highlands, the government said fighting continued for the fifth day, but much of it was said to be outside the city. However, a spokesman reported that many areas were under North Vietnamese control.

Officers in Saigon said both the North and South Vietnamese forces, numbering 5,000 or more men each, were regrouping for what could be the decisive battle for control of the city.

Vinson, who was on federal probation in the robbery of a bank in June while he was on crutches, fired shots through the front door of his home as police arrived in response to a call from Mrs. Vinson. Police had tried to talk Vinson out of the house and his wife was next door attempting to reach him by telephone at the time he took his life. (AP Wirephoto)

HE OPPOSES ST. JOE SCHOOL TAX PROPOSAL

Editor,

The School District of the City of St. Joseph is asking its voters, at a special election to be held March 18, 1975, to extend their present rate of 23.09 mills for operation and in addition, to grant an increase of 1.91 mills for operating expense.

I would call to the attention of the St. Joseph District voters that at a special election held on August 19, 1974, they authorized the School District an increased operating millage totaling 3.79 mills.

This School District, within a 7 month period, has received and/or requested a total additional operating millage of 5.70 mills. Doesn't it appear to you that the district has developed spending habits which, at the very least, should be scrutinized?

It would also appear, that the St. Joseph School Board and its administration are not aware that these are no longer boom times and that we are, in fact, in a recession? The purpose of the school administration should be to educate children at a reasonable cost, even in a time of decreasing enrollment in our schools. Would you say that the quality of education has improved with these increases in the millage rate?

If our superintendent and his administration are unable to open our schools in September, as has been repeatedly stated on the generous amount of money that St. Joseph citizens have sacrificed to give them, then I would suggest that the superintendent tender his resignation and let us find someone who is able to educate our children for a price we can afford. We do not pay his salary to hear him say "I cannot." We expect performance, not a report of failure with the usual "give us more so we can fail better."

FEELS VOTERS NOT GETTING FULL FACTS

Editor,

We are all here!

Spring is here, another school tax election is here and so am I.

As usual my complaint remains that I feel we voters are not receiving full information concerning the up-coming March 18 school tax election.

Upon examining the tax proposals I find that the 1.53 mills we voted for last year to pay off a school debt has now expired and said debt has been paid. Now it should follow that this 1.53 mill tax should now be eliminated. This is not the case however as this amount has been incorporated as part of the 23.09 mill request on the ballot this year together with a request for an additional 1.91 mill increase.

If my figures are right then we are actually asking for an increase of 3.44 mills instead of 1.91 mills. Why aren't these facts published so the voter knows what these requests really amount to?

Now I'm not so naive as to not realize our schools costs are up the same as our own are, and we will either have to cut costs or dig up more money, and that is what we must decide in line with what we can afford and what we feel the schools can do.

I must say at this point that I checked the above figures with St. Joe Schools business manager Mr. Dennis Percy who was very courteous and helpful and I was pleased to find he was aware of the voters problems as well as the schools.

Now you may be wondering how I'll vote so I'll tell you. Last year I fought hard against school tax increase as I had all the taxes I could afford but after three elections, one by paper ballot, I decided there was too much St. Joeitus. By that I mean I think many of us in St. Joe have been told so much and so often that more and more taxes are essential to maintain our imagined status as a community that we have become believers to a point we don't look to our own needs or to any alteratives which might alleviate a high tax situation.

Because of these facts I have decided to vote Yes for more taxes in the hope that it will hasten the day our taxes will get high enough and unbearable enough that those of us with St. Joeitus will seek a cure for some of our excessive taxation.

OKAY PACT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trans World Airlines mechanics and ramp servicemen have approved a new contract raising their salary more than $1 an hour and giving them $21.7 million in back pay, the International Association of Machinists said today.

Deputies Arrest Hoosier

GALIEN — Kenneth Lloyd, 23, Mishawaka, Ind., was arrested by Berrien sheriff's deputies from the Galien substation yesterday on a charge of possessing a police radio monitor in a vehicle.

The arrest was made after officers stopped a car that had crossed over the center line on California road in Weesaw township, deputies said.

Officers said they found in the car a portable radio that could monitor Berrien county and South Bend police broadcasts.

Lloyd was to be arraigned today in Niles Fifth District court on the high misdemeanor charge which carries a maximum penalty of up to one year in prison upon conviction.

LAWRENCE

State School Aid Sliced By $5,611

LAWRENCE — Supt. Wesley Harding reported to the Lawrence school board last night that state aid for the school district has been cut by $5,611 due to the repeal of the state sales tax on food and drugs.

The school district was to receive approximately $530,000 in state aid for the 1974-75 school year.

In other areas, Harding reported that a state allocation for a reading and math program would be $17,268 for this year.

He also reported that $500 has been received from the Tigers booster club, repaying an advance made by the board for the purchase of a roster board for the athletic field, and gross revenue for 10 home basketball games was $4,218.

The board named Eckhart Sell, Ronald Schoonmaker and James Sanborn, with Robert Carpp as an alternate to its negotiating team with the Lawrence Education association.

The first bargaining session for a new teacher contract has been scheduled for April 17.

The board instructed the superintendent to establish a special education program for the coming year.

Harding announced that the school facilities will be used from June 11 through Aug. 8 for the Van Buren intermediate school district's migrant program. The board had approved the use of the facilities earlier, but no dates had been established.

The superintendent also announced that Mrs. Robert Curtiss, the high school principal, has been elected secretary of the Michigan association of secondary school principals.

NEW BUFFALO TOWNSHIP

Drain Commissioner Urges Project Delay

NEW BUFFALO — Harry Nye, Berrien county drain commissioner, last night advised the New Buffalo township board to defer work on the drainage problem in the Oak Hills Springs subdivision, until an adequate water system is installed.

Nye said the drainage system would have an adverse effect on individual wells in the area. Joseph Maccooni, engineer with Barger Engineering, St. Joseph, reported that surveys and soil borings of the subdivision area, indicate total cost for proper drainage in the area would be $115,000. Residents directly effected with the drainage system would pay 70 per cent of its cost, the township 10 per cent, the county 15 per cent and state five per cent.

The board took no action on the matter last night.

In other areas, the township board received a letter from the Michigan Department of Public Health advising the township board to cooperate with Chikaming township in the installation of a water main. The letter stated restrictions imposed by New Buffalo township in allowing the water transmission line to run through the township were not in the best interest of the public.

The letter urged New Buffalo township to allow the water transmission line to run along Riviera road to enable New Buffalo township residents use of the water, too.

The New Buffalo township board instructed its clerk, Edward Ohime, to write to Chikaming officials advising them that if their board will reconsider a tri-party water system that would include New Buffalo township, then New Buffalo township would allow the transmission line to run along Riviera road. Otherwise, New Buffalo township will grant an easement to Chikaming to run the water line along Red Arrow highway, as previously approved.

The township board tabled action on joining a county tax conversion computer program.

It was announced that Thomas Qualls will replace Jerry Glickauf on the township board of review, and that annual settlement day in the township is March 25 at 8 p.m. The annual township meeting is April 5, at 2 p.m. Both meetings will be at the township hall.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Second Man Is Held In Robbery Attempt

A second man was arrested Thursday in connection with an attempted armed robbery at Ron's Party Store last Friday, Benton Harbor police said.

Booked at the county jail on a charge of assault with intent to commit armed robbery was Jimmy Doss, 19, of 333 Lincoln avenue, Benton Harbor. A warrant had been issued for Doss, police said.

Ollie Hornes, 18, of 704 Thresher avenue, Benton Harbor, was arrested Wednesday after a warrant had been issued on the same charge. Police said Hornes sustained a gunshot wound about the same time as the robbery attempt.

Police reported that shots were fired when two bandits entered the party store, located at 990 Pipestone street. Nothing was taken.

Two 17-year-old Fairplain boys were arrested last night after Berrien Metro Crime Unit officers found one-half pound of alleged marijuana in a car.

Booked at the county jail on charges of possession of marijuana were Jeffery Charles Dase, of 522 Cayuga road, and Dan Robert Gerren, of 223 Jamesway.

Officers reported they were investigating a suspicious vehicle and followed a car to 223 Jamesway. One of the people in the car was allegedly seen putting something under the car seat, officers said.

St. Joseph township police assisted Metro officers.

Booked and lodged at the county jail was Henry Sanders, 50, of 421 Washington street, Benton Harbor.

Troopers arrested Sanders at 1:05 a.m. at Martin Luther King highway at Highland avenue. A .22 caliber revolver was seized, troopers said.

City police also said a television valued at $450 was stolen from a car owned by Elliot Burton, 4290 Red Arrow highway, Stevensville, while parked at Territorial road and Fourth street, Benton Harbor.

State police of the Benton Harbor post reported a boat motor, motor accessories and tools, valued at $570, were stolen from a garage at the home of Robert DeMorrow, Route 3, Box 95, North County Line road, Coloma township.

Covert police said the charge was filed after two people complained they had been shot at while in a car Feb. 21.

In other cases, Joseph Tillman, 35, M-140, Covert was bound over to Van Buren circuit court on a charge of felonious assault. He was arrested by Covert police in connection with a Feb. 23 incident in which Edward Caldwell of Covert contends a hitchhiker pulled a gun on him.

Terry McClurg, 19, and Joe Lee Pittman, 19, both of 300 Erie street, South Haven and John Jaco, 17, of Breedsville each were bound over to Van Buren circuit court after waiving preliminary examination on charges of breaking and entering. BH Officers Turn Into Firemen

Benton Harbor police officers yesterday doused a fire in a garage at 374 High street.

Patrolmen Greg Platts and Greg Duerr said they saw a large amount of smoke coming from the garage, then found debris on the garage floor burning. Police said the fire appeared to have been set deliberately.

Benton Harbor firemen were called by police to hose down the debris after the fire was put out with an extinguisher from a squad car.

CLAIM TOWN'S CAPTURE

Reds Cite Advances In Asia

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong claimed today that Communist-led forces had captured Ban Me Thuot after five days of bitter fighting for control of the provincial capital in South Vietnam's central highlands.

South Vietnamese officials and Western military analysts acknowledged that North Vietnamese forces controlled large parts of the city, but said that government troops were still in and around it.

One military analyst said, "I don't think the situation is good inside the city."

The fate of nine Americans trapped in the city was not known. Radio contact has been lost with them for two days. Earlier, misunderstood reports said radio contact had again been made with the nine — a U.S. Embassy official and eight missionaries.

Meanwhile, a new threat arose to Tay Ninh City, 55 miles northwest of Saigon.

In Cambodia, the U.S. airlift to Phnom Penh, suspended at noon Thursday when a Khmer Rouge shell exploded an ammunition dump, resumed despite more bombardment.

Diplomatic sources said Australia was closing its embassy in the Cambodian capital Saturday, and the French Embassy announced an airlift to evacuate French, Swiss, Swedish and West German citizens.

The Saigon command said North Vietnamese infantrymen and tanks overran two outposts near the Cambodian border less than 10 miles southwest of Tay Ninh City.

The government claimed three North Vietnamese tanks were destroyed at one of the posts. But field reports said a South Vietnamese A37 jet bomber and a small observation plane were shot down, killing the three fliers.

North Vietnamese or Viet Cong gunners also fired 29 rockets into Hieu Thien, a district town 10 miles south of Tay Ninh City, killing one civilian and wounding five, the Saigon command reported. Another district town east of the provincial capital, Tri Tam, was captured by the North Vietnamese two days ago.

Tay Ninh City, 55 miles northwest of Saigon, has been under heavy pressure since the fall of Phuoc Long province, to the east of it, on Jan. 7. The North Vietnamese may plan to try to take it soon to expand their territorial holdings north of Saigon, which include all of Phuoc Long, all of Binh Long province except An Loc, the provincial capital, and the northern half of Tay Ninh province.

At Ban Me Thuot, the capital of Darlac province in the Central Highlands, the government said fighting continued for the fifth day, but much of it was said to be outside the city. However, a spokesman reported that many areas were under North Vietnamese control.

Officers in Saigon said both the North and South Vietnamese forces, numbering 5,000 or more men each, were regrouping for what could be the decisive battle for control of the city.

HE OPPOSES ST. JOE SCHOOL TAX PROPOSAL

Editor,

The School District of the City of St. Joseph is asking its voters, at a special election to be held March 18, 1975, to extend their present rate of 23.09 mills for operation and in addition, to grant an increase of 1.91 mills for operating expense.

I would call to the attention of the St. Joseph District voters that at a special election held on August 19, 1974, they authorized the School District an increased operating millage totaling 3.79 mills.

This School District, within a 7 month period, has received and/or requested a total additional operating millage of 5.70 mills. Doesn't it appear to you that the district has developed spending habits which, at the very least, should be scrutinized?

It would also appear, that the St. Joseph School Board and its administration are not aware that these are no longer boom times and that we are, in fact, in a recession? The purpose of the school administration should be to educate children at a reasonable cost, even in a time of decreasing enrollment in our schools. Would you say that the quality of education has improved with these increases in the millage rate?

If our superintendent and his administration are unable to open our schools in September, as has been repeatedly stated on the generous amount of money that St. Joseph citizens have sacrificed to give them, then I would suggest that the superintendent tender his resignation and let us find someone who is able to educate our children for a price we can afford. We do not pay his salary to hear him say "I cannot." We expect performance, not a report of failure with the usual "give us more so we can fail better."

FEELS VOTERS NOT GETTING FULL FACTS

Editor,

We are all here!

Spring is here, another school tax election is here and so am I.

As usual my complaint remains that I feel we voters are not receiving full information concerning the up-coming March 18 school tax election.

Upon examining the tax proposals I find that the 1.53 mills we voted for last year to pay off a school debt has now expired and said debt has been paid. Now it should follow that this 1.53 mill tax should now be eliminated. This is not the case however as this amount has been incorporated as part of the 23.09 mill request on the ballot this year together with a request for an additional 1.91 mill increase.

If my figures are right then we are actually asking for an increase of 3.44 mills instead of 1.91 mills. Why aren't these facts published so the voter knows what these requests really amount to?

Now I'm not so naive as to not realize our schools costs are up the same as our own are, and we will either have to cut costs or dig up more money, and that is what we must decide in line with what we can afford and what we feel the schools can do.

I must say at this point that I checked the above figures with St. Joe Schools business manager Mr. Dennis Percy who was very courteous and helpful and I was pleased to find he was aware of the voters problems as well as the schools.

Now you may be wondering how I'll vote so I'll tell you. Last year I fought hard against school tax increase as I had all the taxes I could afford but after three elections, one by paper ballot, I decided there was too much St. Joeitus. By that I mean I think many of us in St. Joe have been told so much and so often that more and more taxes are essential to maintain our imagined status as a community that we have become believers to a point we don't look to our own needs or to any alteratives which might alleviate a high tax situation.

Because of these facts I have decided to vote Yes for more taxes in the hope that it will hasten the day our taxes will get high enough and unbearable enough that those of us with St. Joeitus will seek a cure for some of our excessive taxation.

Officers said they found in the car a portable radio that could monitor Berrien county and South Bend police broadcasts.

Lloyd was to be arraigned today in Niles Fifth District court on the high misdemeanor charge which carries a maximum penalty of up to one year in prison upon conviction.

BH Officers Turn Into Firemen

Benton Harbor police officers yesterday doused a fire in a garage at 374 High street.

Patrolmen Greg Platts and Greg Duerr said they saw a large amount of smoke coming from the garage, then found debris on the garage floor burning. Police said the fire appeared to have been set deliberately.

Benton Harbor firemen were called by police to hose down the debris after the fire was put out with an extinguisher from a squad car.

LAWRENCE

State School Aid Sliced By $5,611

LAWRENCE — Supt. Wesley Harding reported to the Lawrence school board last night that state aid for the school district has been cut by $5,611 due to the repeal of the state sales tax on food and drugs.

The school district was to receive approximately $530,000 in state aid for the 1974-75 school year.

In other areas, Harding reported that a state allocation for a reading and math program would be $17,268 for this year.

He also reported that $500 has been received from the Tigers booster club, repaying an advance made by the board for the purchase of a roster board for the athletic field, and gross revenue for 10 home basketball games was $4,238.

The board named Eckhart Sell, Ronald Schoonmaker and James Sanborn, with Robert Carpp as an alternate to its negotiating team with the Lawrence Education association.

The first bargaining session for a new teacher contract has been scheduled for April 17.

The board instructed the superintendent to establish a special education program for the coming year.

Harding announced that the school facilities will be used from June 11 through Aug. 8 for the Van Buren intermediate school district's migrant program. The board had approved the use of the facilities earlier, but no dates had been established.

The superintendent also announced that Mrs. Robert Curtiss, the high school principal, has been elected secretary of the Michigan association of secondary school principals.

NEW BUFFALO TOWNSHIP

Drain Commissioner Urges Project Delay

NEW BUFFALO — Harry Nye, Berrien county drain commissioner, last night advised the New Buffalo township board to defer work on the drainage problem in the Oak Hills Springs subdivision, until an adequate water system is installed.

Nye said the drainage system would have an adverse effect on individual wells in the area. Joseph Maccooni, engineer with Barger Engineering, St. Joseph, reported that surveys and soil borings of the subdivision area, indicate total cost for proper drainage in the area would be $115,000. Residents directly effected with the drainage system would pay 70 per cent of its cost, the township 10 per cent, the county 15 per cent and state five per cent.

The board took no action on the matter last night.

In other areas, the township board received a letter from the Michigan Department of Public Health advising the township board to cooperate with Chikaming township in the installation of a water main. The letter stated restrictions imposed by New Buffalo township in allowing the water transmission line to run through the township were not in the best interest of the public.

The letter urged New Buffalo township to allow the water transmission line to run along Riviera road to enable New Buffalo township residents use of the water, too.

The New Buffalo township board instructed its clerk, Edward Ohime, to write to Chikaming officials advising them that if their board will reconsider a tri-party water system that would include New Buffalo township, then New Buffalo township would allow the transmission line to run along Riviera road. Otherwise, New Buffalo township will grant an easement to Chikaming to run the water line along Red Arrow highway, as previously approved.

The township board tabled action on joining a county tax conversion computer program.

It was announced that Thomas Qualls will replace Jerry Glickauf on the township board of review, and that annual settlement day in the township is March 25 at 8 p.m. The annual township meeting is April 5, at 2 p.m. Both meetings will be at the township hall.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Second Man Is Held In Robbery Attempt

A second man was arrested Thursday in connection with an attempted armed robbery at Ron's Party Store last Friday, Benton Harbor police said.

Booked at the county jail on a charge of assault with intent to commit armed robbery was Jimmy Doss, 19, of 333 Lincoln avenue, Benton Harbor. A warrant had been issued for Doss, police said.

Ollie Hornes, 18, of 704 Thresher avenue, Benton Harbor, was arrested Wednesday after a warrant had been issued on the same charge. Police said Hornes sustained a gunshot wound about the same time as the robbery attempt.

Police reported that shots were fired when two bandits entered the party store, located at 990 Pipestone street. Nothing was taken.

Two 17-year-old Fairplain boys were arrested last night after Berrien Metro Crime Unit officers found one-half pound of alleged marijuana in a car.

Booked at the county jail on charges of possession of marijuana were Jeffery Charles Dase, of 522 Cayuga road, and Dan Robert Gerren, of 223 Jamesway.

Officers reported they were investigating a suspicious vehicle and followed a car to 223 Jamesway. One of the people in the car was allegedly seen putting something under the car seat, officers said.

St. Joseph township police assisted Metro officers.

State police of the Benton Harbor post arrested a man early this morning on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon after stopping a car with defective equipment.

Booked and lodged at the county jail was Henry Sanders, 50, of 421 Washington street, Benton Harbor.

Troopers arrested Sanders at 1:05 a.m. at Martin Luther King highway at Highland avenue. A .22 caliber revolver was seized, troopers said.

Benton Harbor police said a television and a stereo valued at a total of $500 were stolen from the home of Willie Mooney, 412 Lincoln avenue, Benton Harbor.

City police also said a television valued at $450 was stolen from a car owned by Elliot Burton, 4290 Red Arrow highway, Stevensville, while parked at Territorial road and Fourth street, Benton Harbor.

State police of the Benton bharbor post reported a boat motor, motor accessories and tools, valued at $570, were stolen from a garage at the home of Robert DeMorrow, Route 3, Box 95, North County Line road, Coloma township.

BERRIEN Real Estate Service
983-1585 MLS

You'd like to buy a house — you're not quite sure how much you can afford to spend...and, of course, the amount of the monthly payment is important. Using the Home Loan Payment Calculator below, prepared by the United States League of Savings Associations, you can easily compute your monthly principal and interest payments for any amount at a range of interest rates...and over 20, 25 or 30 years.

Do It Yourself Mortage Calculator and Home Buyer Convincer

HOME LOAN PAYMENT CALCULATOR

Length of Mortgage

Interest Rate	20 Years	25 Years	30 Years
7.5%	$8.06	$7.39	$7.00
7.75	8.21	7.59	7.17
8	8.37	7.72	7.34
8.25	8.52	7.89	7.51
8.5	8.68	8.06	7.68
8.75	8.84	8.23	7.87
9	9.00	8.40	8.05
9.25	9.16	8.57	8.23
9.5	9.33	8.74	8.41

The table shows the monthly principal plus interest payments for each $1,000 of mortgage. To find your monthly payment, multiply the appropriate number in the table by the number of thousands to be borrowed.

For example, if you are looking at a $50,000 home and can put 20 percent down ($10,000), you are left with a $40,000 mortgage. If you use an interest rate of 8½ percent on a 30-year mortgage, your key number in the table is $7.68. Multiply this times 40 (thousands to be borrowed) and you'll find that your monthly mortgage payments will be $307.20.

This table can also show you something about the market. Take your same 30-year, $40,000 mortgage, and multiply it by the key number at 7¾ interest rate. The result is $286.80. Comparing these two interest rates, you'll find that the higher rate results in a difference of only $244.80 per year.

But, when you think that a home in the $40 to $50,000 price range is appreciating at a rate sometimes in excess of $4,000 a year, you can see that the interest rate difference is insignificant to what you would lose if you continue to wait.

Inflation, energy shortages, population growth, and sewer moratoriums will continue to push the price of homes up. Now is the time to buy, before they get any higher. Once you've bought, the appreciation will be to your advantage.

So, establish the price range you can afford. Calculate your monthly payments from the table. (A general rule is, you can afford to pay 25 percent of your monthly earnings for your housing). Keep in mind, when you buy, you will be improving your tax standing...so you'll be getting some of that monthly payment back next year.

And, don't worry, financing is available. Ask your real estate agent about it.

Now, you're ready to shop Herald-Palladium real estate ads.

Interest Rate	25 Years	30 Years	40 Years
7.5%	$8.06	$7.39	$7.00
7.75	8.21	7.56	7.17
8	8.37	7.72	7.34
8.25	8.52	7.89	7.51
8.5	8.68	8.06	7.69
8.75	8.84	8.23	7.87
9	9.00	8.40	8.05
9.25	9.16	8.57	8.23
9.5	9.33	8.74	8.41

The table shows the monthly principal plus interest payments for each $1,000 of mortgage. To find your monthly payment, multiply the appropriate number in the table by the number of thousands to be borrowed.

For example, if you are looking at a $50,000 home and can put 20 percent down ($10,000), you are left with a $40,000 mortgage. If you use an interest rate of 8½ percent on a 30-year mortgage, your key number in the table is $7.68. Multiply this times 40 (thousands to be borrowed) and you'll find that your monthly mortgage payments will be $307.20.

This table can also show you something about the market. Take your same 30-year, $40,000 mortgage, and multiply it by the key number at 7¾ interest rate. The result is $286.80. Comparing these two interest rates, you'll find that the higher rate results in a difference of only $244.80 per year.

But, when you think that a home in the $40 to $50,000 price range is appreciating at a rate sometimes in excess of $4,000 a year, you can see that the interest rate difference is insignificant to what you would lose if you continue to wait.

Inflation, energy shortages, population growth, and sewer moratoriums will continue to push the price of homes up. Now is the time to buy, before they get any higher. Once you've bought, the appreciation will be to your advantage.

So, establish the price range you can afford. Calculate your monthly payments from the table. (A general rule is, you can afford to pay 25 percent of your monthly earnings for your housing). Keep in mind, when you buy, you will be improving your tax standing...so you'll be getting some of that monthly payment back next year.

And, don't worry, financing is available. Ask your real estate agent about it.

Now, you're ready to shop Herald-Palladium real estate ads.
